Button Up; It'll Be Clammy Winter

By BETTY FORRESTER
Staff Writer

Start thinking in terms of fleecy lined boots, big fur coats and extra blankets, 'cause it's going to be a cold, cold winter.

It's in the clams.

Restaurant owner Corrado Barsella (Corrado's Restaurant, 310 W. Rand Road, Arlington Heights) has brought a weather predicting method from his home town of Lucca, Italy, to the northwest suburbs.

BARSELLA SAID the tighter the clams are, the colder the winter will be. "The clams," he said, "close up tighter to keep out the cold currents."

His prediction? A cold winter.

He laughed a little after having, with some effort, forced open a reticent clam.

The story behind predicting weather by clams is a long one, he said.

"I come from Europe," he said, "and both my grandfathers were fishermen. As kids we used to watch the men bring the fish in and get the clams and all."

Lucca, he explained, is only 12 miles from the seashore, and prediction of winter weather by the clam shells is popular there.

PREDICTING weather by the clams is not a national Italian custom. "Each region has its own tradition," he said.

In Italy, he said, they also base predictions on how deep the clams burrow into the sand. Sometimes the clams stay near the surface, but when it's going to be a cold winter, they go much deeper, he said.

Barsella, who came to the United States in 1950, first entered the restaurant business in Chicago with his Club Corrado. He came to Arlington Heights just two years ago.

"It was kind of a coincidence," he said. "I'd never been this far out this way, but I had a customer from Arlington Heights who told me about this location, and I came out to see it."

CLAMS ARE good not only for predicting weather but are excellent eating too, he maintains. He said he has had a number of customers who first tasted clams at his restaurant and went away admitting they were delicious.

The restaurant, with all Italian-born cooks, fixes clams anyway the customer wants them—fried, boiled, even in spaghetti sauce.

Barsella's clam-based weather predictions were first publicized on the Howard Miller radio show. Before then, Barsella had been using the clam method but had said very little about it.

Another suburban weather-forecaster, Mathon Kyritsis, a Greek-born restaurant owner from Waukegan, may soon meet Barsella over the air on the Miller show to discuss their different piscatorial predicting methods.

And the Kyritsis method? Prediction determined by the depth of the perch in Lake Michigan!

Museum Fund Push Planned

With close to $7,500 in the till and another $2,500 to raise before Nov. 15, the Friends of a Museum for Arlington Heights held an "Operation Pay Up" meeting last night.

All groups and persons who have worked on the museum fund drive were invited to hear a progress report on the project that was begun last summer.

Commenting on the fund drive before the meeting, museum chairman Virgil Horath said, "We have to raise the $10,000 to finance this project or we're just not going to have a museum."

THE MAIN PUSH for funds will be between Nov. 1 and Nov. 15. Horath said he did not want the museum fund drive to interfere with the United Fund's campaign.

He pointed out that there has been a recent spurt in contributions and that over $1,000 in cash came in within the past week or so with an additional $500 in pledges.

"If every family in Arlington Heights would only send us a five dollar bill we'd have more than enough money for the project," he mused.

"There's one thing a lot of people don't realize and that is that this museum is not just for the historical society. It's for the children of Arlington Heights, present and future. We're going to have a separate lecture room so that they can come to the museum from the schools with their teachers and have lectures," he said.

HORATH SAID THE large room over the garage would be the lecture room. Some rooms will have different exhibits each month.

Talking further about the museum itself, Horath said that he and his wife and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, president of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. Z. R. Rogozin-

Miss L. Jamison told police someone took a baritone ukulele, wrist watch, and some currency from her North School classroom.

Total value of items missing was estimated at $50.

Park Plans Squelched

by Betty Forrester
Staff Writer

Arlington Heights Park District hopes to develop an 18-hole golf course on the present Nike base site were squelched Tuesday when the district learned that the U.S. Navy has indicated an interest in the land.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton said he had called Congressman Donald Rumsfeld's office Tuesday afternoon and learned that the Navy was preparing a report on the land. He said he had no information as to what type of installation the Navy had in mind.

Thornton said, "We were told it would be sifted through the various agencies and that the report hasn't been completed yet."

Mrs. Barbara Ludden, land acquisition expert from Rumsfeld's office, confirmed the report Wednesday and said that the Navy's interest in the land would stop all action to dispose of the land.

AFTER THE Navy has filed its report, which may be as long as two to three months from now, the General Services Administration will have to decide on whether or not the Navy request is a good use for the land.

"I was not even apprised of the nature of the use of the land when I contacted the Pentagon," she said.

The park district had been interested in acquiring the land for about three years. During that time the government-owned land changed status several times but was finally declared surplus last December.

At that time Park Commissioner Charles Cronin said this would be the last large piece of land the district could acquire in Arlington Heights at a price it could afford.

Early in 1965 the park district had thought the land would be available and included its purchase in the original plans for the 1965 land acquisition referendum. However, the land was not declared surplus and the proposed park was removed from the acquisition program.

The Navy bid for the land pre-empted any local request for the land. At one time both Harper Junior College and the park district were interested in the site. However, the junior college decided against pursuing acquisition of the site.

HAD THE PARK district been able to acquire the approximate 100-acre surplus on the site, the price of the land would have been only half the market price.

Park commissioners had few comments to make on the Navy's request but said they wondered why the Navy wanted the site.

Navy Wants Nike Site For Housing

W. E. Hummerland, director of the Navy's midwest real estate division, Wednesday confirmed the report that the Navy will take over a portion of the vacated land. He reports that the Navy wants to erect some 200 units on the property for families of Glenview Naval Air Station personnel.

"Real good for the economy of Arlington Heights," said Hummerland. "Navy people buy a lot of groceries."

He explained that land in the Glenview area was priced too high to permit government purchase of property in that area. The high rental rate in the area puts a strain on the pocketbook of the senior NCO's with families, he said, and these are the reasons for the Navy's decision to use space available at the Nike site.

HUMMERLAND said that the Army does not intend to vacate the entire base, and the Navy will likely use only about 30 acres of the site.

Village Trustee John Walsh said he could give no reaction to the proposal without first knowing the exact plans the Navy had for the site.

Walsh said that relations with the site have always been good. But he added that if any objectionable actions were taken by the Navy in their use of the land, that he might suggest they do their building on the 18-hole golf course at the Glenview Naval Air Station.

United Fund Plans October 24 Appeal

The Arlington Heights United Fund hopes to muster more than 1,000 volunteers to collect in the village the night of Oct. 24. The local goal is $57,500.

The drive in Arlington is part of the Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy, and is coordinated with the Chicago campaign. The Metropolitan drive collects from people at their place of employment in the Chicago area. The Arlington Heights United Fund collects at home. Fund spokesmen say the aim is not to solicit more than once from the same person or family.

The Arlington Heights resident may contribute to the local United Fund solicitor at home or to the Metro drive at his place of work in the Chicago area. Those who give in Chicago will be provided with a pin and a decal, to be displayed at the home, proclaiming that they gave at work.

UNITED FUND vice president Norval Stephens said that the Metro agency guarantees the community its goal of $57,500. He explained that the more the community is able to raise locally, the more the Metro crusade could be expected to guarantee the following year.

This year's United Fund Drive will be finished in one night, where last year it ran from mid-October to Thanksgiving. The campaign organization has developed an IBM listing of all homes, and each worker will call on no more than 12 families.

In addition to the Participating Metro Crusade Agencies, donors in the Arlington Heights area may specify that their donations go to other agencies.

Since some of these agencies do not choose to participate in United Fund drives, money will be raised in the name of the disease and contributed in the name of the people of the village.

Should the money be refused, a board of local doctors will select a research facility prominent in the given field and send it the funds in the name of the people of Arlington Heights.

JOHN GILLEN, local Fund president, expressed confidence that most of the agencies will join in accepting funds from the drive.

New appeals this year are Heart, Cancer, Cystic Fibrosis, Cerebral Palsy, Multiple Sclerosis, Leukemia and Muscular Dystrophy.

As these appeals are not supported by gifts made at work, residents will be asked to consider a small contribution in the door to door campaign.

Another new appeal is the Hospital Free Bed Fund, added to help support the many penniless patients who are brought to the Northwest Community Hospital.

DONORS MAY specify that all or part of their contributions go to certain charities. A minimum contribution of $2 has been established in order to hold down administrative costs.

Fund spokesmen say that both direct contributions and pledges will be accepted. Follow-up remainders will be mailed at intervals to be decided by the donor.

The accounting and banking for the Arlington Heights United Fund is donated by The Bank of Arlington Heights, 900 E. Kensington Road.

Volunteers Are Needed for Fund

The Arlington Heights United Fund needs volunteers for its one night drive Oct. 24.

Three hundred more workers are needed in addition to the 800 who have already signed up. Those who do solicit for the fund will be required to call on 10-12 neighbors and attend one training session (Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. or Oct. 22 at 10:30 p.m.).

Those interested in volunteering should call United Fund Headquarters at 259-2007.

Union Hikes Wage Demands

Status of Garbage Contract Negotiations 'Up in Air'

Contract negotiations for garbage collection in Arlington Heights are still up in the air—not in the can.

Here is the current situation:

Last Wednesday the finance committee of the village board met with the Laseke Disposal Company — current collectors of garbage in the village — and offered to raise the collection rate by 25 cents per residence per month. This would put the total monthly rate at $2.75.

The 25 cent figure resulted from lengthy study of financial projections and budget estimates provided to the village by Laseke.

THE BOARD determined that a 25 cent increase would allow the company a six per cent profit on its business operations, based on the firm's own financial projections.

Henry Laseke Sr. informed the committee that the projections were made on the basis of a 10 cent per hour per man wage hike for his garbage collecting personnel. The Teamster's union, said Laseke, has already rejected this increase and is demanding substantially more.

Laseke said that he didn't know how much the union would demand, but that it could be more than twice as high as the rejected 10 cent increase. He said he could not tell the board what financial position this would put him in.

There was no direct rejection of the 25 cent increase, but it was set aside for the time.

At the Wednesday meeting, the finance committee, represented by trustees, John Walsh and Roy Bressler, told Laseke and his business representatives that $9,000 of his budgeted expenses had been disallowed. This included $5,800 for advertising and public relations, $2,000 for professional expenses and $1,200 for contributions.

BOTH LASEKE'S attorney Paul Knott and his accountant Edward Urbanski challenged the cuts but the committee stood firm.

"Advertising expenses are not necessary to the people of Arlington Heights," said Walsh. "Good will is gotten by means of good service, not through advertising," he added.

"And I don't think calendars and pens keep it," chimed in Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

"How are presidents made," shot back attorney Knott.

The final outcome of the session was an agreement that the Laseke Company would come up with a new set of figures, based on union demands for wage hikes. Yesterday morning Laseke was informed that the union would hold out for a 35 cent per hour increase.

FURTHER complicating the picture is a tentative proposal advanced by the finance committee which would provide for purchase and ownership of refuse collection equipment by the village.

Under such a provision, the village would buy trucks, gas them and own them, while the Laseke Company would operate the vehicles for garbage collection services.

Laseke seemed to like the idea when it was first presented and his accountant, Urbanski said, "We feel that Mr. Hanson's idea has real merit."

It is the opinion of the Laseke Company that city ownership of the equipment would not restrict the firm any more than it is at the present.

While wishing to retain independence, said Urbanski, "If we can save the residents some money, we are willing to go along with the village."

BOTH URBANSKI and Hanson pointed to the savings that would result if the village bought and owned the vehicles. These would come in the form of lower interest rates and elimination of certain taxes through municipal ownership.

The company is expected to give its answer to this proposal shortly.

Another consideration that has been advanced is a sliding clause that would provide for renegotiation of contract terms in the case of higher operating expenses or wage increases to the company or a saving to the company through use of a village-owned sanitary land fill.

This would insure the Laseke Company against unanticipated increased costs of operation and make certain that the village—not the company—would benefit

Hungry Pupils Are Challenge To Four School Cafeterias

By NANCY BENCO
Staff Writer

Hundreds of hungry youngsters make a beeline to school cafeterias and hot lunches each day in four Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 schools.

They come in four waves of eating shifts. During the lulls, cooks restock their bins with vegetables, meats, ice cream, and milk, and refill dish and tray carts for the next hungry onslaught.

Some 1,200 hot lunches are served daily in the four district school cafeterias, according to Mrs. Ella O'Donnell, director of food services.

"On rainy, hamburger days, we've gone as high as 1,700," she quipped.

HOT LUNCHES are sold for 35 cents in the three junior high schools — South, Miner, and Thomas — and in North elementary school. Mrs. O'Donnell estimated that 60 per cent of the youngsters ate hot lunches, while the others brought bag lunches or walked home.

Half-pint cartons of milk are sold in all District 25's schools for three cents.

The lunches prepared by the 21 cooks on the cafeteria staff are all "type A lunches," she said. These meals, she explained, contain one-third of a child's daily nutrient requirements.

She added that the state reimburses the school district about five cents for every meal served in the "type A lunch" program.

"But we operate financially on a break-even basis," explained Leslie G. Shadel, assistant business manager and charge of District 25's lunch program.

"We charge youngsters as little as possible," he said, and pointed out that many meals served would cost as high as $1.50 in restaurants.

Menu planning begins a month in advance, Mrs. O'Donnell said. Head cooks at each of the cafeterias submit orders to her. After compiling these, Mrs. O'Donnell orders the food. She explained much of the fresh meats and vegetables come from grocers in Arlington Heights.

COMMODITIES, which can be stocked — are bought from Chicago and suburban wholesalers. She added that many commodities are supplied by the federal government.

Food preparation begins each morning at about 8 a.m. The cooks, many of whom have been with the school system for ten years or more, take turns baking, cooking, or cleaning up.

Mrs. O'Donnell said the women work about five hours a day during school hours. This, she added, makes it convenient for mothers to take on this part-time job.

"The work has many interesting points," said the food supervisor. "We have a chance to work in the school, with both students and teachers."

SHE EXPLAINED that it was a challenge to combine foods into tasty, attractive, and nutritional meals.

And to keep up the variety, she said the cooks add at least one new food to the menu each month. New food ideas come from food magazines, government file supplements — and even from the consumers themselves. A student council committee brings suggestions for meals to her. (A

Planners 'Dampen' Zoning Ordinances

A "tippling amendment" has dampened some dry sections of the village's zoning ordinances.

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday amended the zoning to allow taverns as permitted uses in the general business (B-2) and central business (B-5) districts.

Though taverns presently exist in the village's business districts, they had not been included in the zoning ordinances as revised in 1965.

THE COMMISSION also amended the ordinances to allow libraries, art galleries and museums in any residential (R) district.

At the meeting, the planners also held a hearing to legalize the existing use of certain areas which have been annexed to the village.

The areas involved are located primarily on the village's south side between Algonquin Road and the Northern Illinois Toll Highway. Properties were zoned to limited manufacturing (M-1), general service, wholesale and motor vehicle (B-3), and multiple-family (R-5) districts. (A

Street, Traffic Ordinances OKd

The following ordinances dealing with street and traffic problems were passed by the village board.

1. An ordinance vacating a portion of Evergreen Street adjacent to St. James Parochial School.

2. An ordinance calling for Prindle Avenue to stop for Miner Street; Olive Street to stop for Dunton Avenue; east-bound Grove Street to stop for Belmont Avenue.

3. An ordinance establishing a 20 mile-per-hour speed limit on Banbury Road from Fairview Street to Lincoln Lane. Village Manager L. A. Hanson said that many people take the Banbury cutoff between Lincoln and Grove Street, and that measures are needed to hold down the speed of the motorists using the route.

Heller Home Doors Open for Final Tour by Public Sunday

READY FOR SUNDAY'S "Olden Days in Illinois" tour, two guides from Arlington Heights Girl Scout Troop 50 sit on the stairs of the 95-year-old Heller home, 514 N. Dunton Ave. Gwen Stoner, 10, 526 S. Yale Ave., and Barbara Hey, 10, 441 S. Highland Ave., will work with 13 other Girl Scouts from their troop to make the event a success. Boy Scouts, historical society members and members of both the woman's club and the junior woman's club will also work as guides. (Staff Photo

Arlington Heights residents can watch history repeat itself Sunday at the "Olden Days in Illinois" tour of the 95-year-old Heller home, 514 N. Dunton Ave., from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The historical society plans to turn the clock back to the 1870's and simulate an old-time atmosphere with antiques, penny candy, aged photographs and historical exhibits.

MRS. JOHN Shubeck, 626 N. Douglas Ave., is chairman of the tour.

Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, garden club, junior woman's club, Salt Creek Questors, Dunton Questors and Friends of a Museum for Arlington Heights will all work on the fund-raising affair. Proceeds from the tour will go toward the local museum fund.

The tour will be the kick-off event of Heritage Week. In celebration of the week, one of the larger rooms in the Heller home will be called the Founders' Room. It will contain exhibits honoring the village founders and founders of many local organizations, institutions and businesses.

One of the special displays in this room will be an exhibit of the hand-etched silver bugles, won as trophies by the volunteer fire department of 1911. There will also be an original front page from the Cook County Herald of 1899, the year H. C. Paddock bought the paper.

AMONG EXHIBITS to be displayed in the old home are an 1870's harvest time dining room setting to be put up by the Arlington Heights Garden Club; a collection of 100-year-old eye glasses and lorgnettes owned by society member S. P. Mulley; a D.A.R. flag exhibit; small antiques and glassware supplied by the two questors groups; microfilmed copies of olden days Paddock Publications newspapers to be shown on a scanner. A fireplace setting featuring a picture by Mary Dunton Bray, daughter of one of the village founders.

There will also be stamp, coin and rock collections as well as a display of 30 rifles and pistols dating back as far as 1862 and owned by Melvin Kurtz, society treasurer. Civil War mementos, personal items of the Duntons and a large display of pictures of old-time events will also be shown. Old toys owned by Mrs. John Allen, Michael Hoggay and Mrs. Virgil Horath will also be exhibited.

THE OLD home's pantry will be filled with the same types of foods as might have been found in an 1871 pantry.

The Arlingtones Barbershop Chorus will perform from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

The 10-room house itself is a sturdy veteran of early Arlington Heights life. Built by J. N. Olmsted, postmaster of the village appointed during the Lincoln administration, the home has had very few changes made in it.

OLMSTED AND his family stayed in the house until 1894 when they moved to the west coast and Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Volz, now of 6 E. Hawthorne St., moved into the house temporarily.

Late in 1895 Anthony Kates bought the home and moved his family there. The house was purchased by the three Heller sisters, Elizabeth, Mary and Rose in 1924. They sold the property to the Arlington Heights Memorial Library in 1966.

The home is now for sale by the village. Sealed bids on the home (which must be moved from the Dunton location by the purchaser by Nov. 14) or any part of the home or its garage are now being accepted by the Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson.

Annual Open House Set for Arlington

Parents of Arlington High School students will visit their children's classrooms to meet teachers and learn about the students' academic programs at the school's first Teacher Parent Council (TPC) meetings tonight and next Thursday.

Parents of freshmen and sophomore students will attend the annual open house at 8 p.m. this evening, with junior and senior parents scheduled to visit the school at 8 p.m. Thursday Oct. 27. Two nights are necessary to accommodate the number of parents attending.

PARENTS WILL MEET at 8 p.m. in the school's Boys' Gym for a brief program featuring student entertainment after words of welcome by Raymond Erickson, president of the TPC, and Principal Bruno Waara.

After the program, parents will attend each of their child's classes for a nine-minute period. Students will be asked to prepare a copy of their daily schedule listing class, room number and teacher's name so their parents may follow this.

Classroom visits will begin at 8:15 p.m. and end at 9:38 p.m. after which refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria.

Waara encourages all parents to attend open house to become acquainted with teachers and Arlington's academic programs.

Village 'Cautious' On Annexation Bid

The Arlington Heights Board of Trustees decided Monday night that it would look before it leaped into one of the largest annexations in village history.

This annexation is being requested by the Chesterfield Builders for 345 acres of land on the north side of town. The property is located east of Arlington Heights Road, and west of Buffalo Grove Road, with the bulk north of Hintz road.

The Plan Commission is still studying the pre-annexation agreement and has assigned a committee to work on the matter with the developers. The village board was considering the proposal as a concept only.

TRUSTEE JOHN White said that the annexation of such a large property was a very serious undertaking and proposed that the matter be referred to the board, meeting as a committee of the whole.

After some discussion it was decided that the board would meet as a committee of the whole to discuss both the Chesterfield proposal and the pre-annexation zoning request of Green Brothers for 40 acres of property located at the southwest corner of Hintz Road and Buffalo Grove Road.

The Green property was included in the study at the suggestion of White because it is contiguous with the land owned by the Chesterfield group.

The board was unanimous in referring both requests to a committee of the whole meeting, with board president John Woods serving as president of the committee and another trustee to be appointed secretary.

IN ANOTHER move, the Jewel Tea Company mustered just enough votes among the five board members present to instruct city attorney Jack Siegel to draw up an ordinance rezoning property at the intersection of Arlington Heights Road and Golf Road.

Three of the five trustees-John Walsh, Thomas Hanlon, and Francois Palmatier—voted in favor of rezoning the Jewel property from R-1 single family to B-2 general business.

Trustees White and Roy Bressler voted against the measure. In order to pass as an ordinance, the proposal would need the support of at least four trustees.

White said he was concerned because Jewel was planning to put up a food market right next door to a proposed Kroger food store, with no apparent plans to either coordinate or effectively separate their properties.

BOTH WHITE AND Bressler voiced concern over the possibly adverse impact of the two developments on the surrounding area particularly with regard to the traffic pattern. Both suggested that the two firms coordinate planning.

Clifford R. Johnson, vice president for real estate for Jewel Tea, told the board, "We are not in a position to talk to another food chain as to how they intend to lay out their property or construct their store."

And if we do, "continued Johnson we might be in serious trouble. We do not conspire or meet or otherwise discuss with our competitors how they might intend to operate."

Village attorney Siegel told Johnson that the zoning had been approved and it was now a matter of passing an ordinance, which required the affirmative vote of one more member of the board. Johnson remained unsoothed. (A

O'Hare East-West Road Studied Need Re-Assessment of Problems

The State of Illinois is exploring the possibility of building an east-west road through O'Hare Airport for better access to Kennedy Expressway.

The roadway would extend from an existing road on the west side of the airport and head east, perhaps to Mannheim or River Roads on the east side of the airport.

Hiring of a consulting firm to study the feasibility of such a project was triggered this week by State Rep. William Redmond (D-Bensenville).

Francis Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, said Tuesday that Redmond had put the whole problem of traffic congestion in the area before him in a conference last week.

THIS WEEK IT was decided to hire a consulting firm to make a complete study of traffic problems to the west and north of the airport.

At Redmond's request, a study also will be made of establishing a western portal to air terminals from York Road.

Lorenz said he doesn't know for sure, but guesses the roadway through the airport could be by "open cut" — or hollowed out to extend under runways, where necessary.

Runways on bridge structures are not new to O'Hare. Such a project is under way now, to keep airplanes from having to taxi around large building complexes, Lorenz said.

"Because of the rapidly developing industrial areas on the west and north sides of the airfield," Lorenz explained, "traffic congestion was getting to be a terrible burden.

"People wanting to go to Chicago and to the airport added to the congestion.

"We think the whole thing is an exciting idea," he said.

ACCORDING TO Lorenz, Redmond triggered the idea by announcing in the conference last week that the Klefstad Industrial Park in Bensenville already had a $1-million-to-$2-million plant slated.

Redmond told state officials that traffic was going to become more cumbersome as the northwest area developed industrially.

The O'Hare roadway idea crystallized as they concluded that even the widening of Irving Park Road would not alleviate the situation appreciably.

Bids for widening of Irving Park in Bensenville were to have been let next week.

Lorenz does not know yet which east-west road would be the one from which the airport roadway would extend.

The answer to this is in the hands of the consultants.

He suggested it could be Irving Park, Thorndale or Devon, or even, perhaps, a lesser thoroughfare.

LORENZ SAID he feels "we have the opportunity now to acquire the necessary right-of-way."

He believes he knows the area like the "back of his hand," because 15 to 20 years ago he was in charge of land acquisition for O'Hare.

"But, what we talked about then no longer seems feasible." He noted it all was farmland, then.

"I'm aware of what the problems are," he added.

Redmond said Tuesday the airport roadway could be a tunnel or open cut to connect with the existing Thorndale Road.

He has asked that the survey include the advisability of establishing a western portal to the airport at York Road.

He said Verden Staff, chief state highway engineer had been in on the conference, and agreed that the study should be made.

Redmond noted that a substantial part of the westbound Kennedy Expressway traffic turns south on Mannheim, then continues west along Irving Park Road to the western suburbs.

"Eastbound traffic also must use Irving, and skirt O'Hare to proceed to Chicago via Kennedy," he added.

"THIS REROUTING throws tremendous traffic volume on highways unable to accommodate it.

"The traffic jam around O'Hare during the rush hours is one of the worst in the Chicago area.

"I believe as much time is lost by motorists fighting their way through traffic to get past O'Hare as is gained by passengers flying out of the airport."

He noted that "the traffic on Irving Park Road, York Road and Route 83 in the Bensenville and Elk Grove area is stop-and-go and bumper-to-bumper at present."

He asked Lorenz to include in the survey a study of the three roads in relation to increasing industrial development.

Builder Gets Okay For 468 Apartments

Chicago developer Joseph Bernstein said "Yes" to all demands of the Arlington Heights village board, and received approval to build 468 apartments on 39 acres southwest of Central and Wilke Roads.

Bernstein finally yielded to the village order that he guarantee the paving of Wilke road through his property if Cook County fails to take action. To meet this commitment, Bernstein agreed to deposit a letter of credit worth $48,000.

This is the sum which it will cost to pave the street, based on engineering estimates. If the street is not paved within the next three years, Arlington Heights can withdraw the amount and pave the street. If the county meets its paving obligation, the village will simply turn the funds back over to Bernstein.

THE PEPPERY developer also agreed to submit detailed plans for the filling station he proposes to erect in the development.

The board voted that once the letter of credit had been deposited, Bernstein could proceed with the planned development of the property. It also voted to grant a special use permit for construction of the gas station, pending Bernstein's presenting the board with detailed plans of the station.

In another move, the board voted to adopt a change in the zoning ordinance to redesignate the northeast corner of Salem Lane and Eastman Street R-5 multiple family. The area had been zoned M-1 manufacturing.

This will allow Bernstein to build 16 two-bedroom and 32 one-bedroom apartments on the land.

Bernstein thanked the board for its action and remarked, "I hope I'll be as patient when it comes to finding renters."

Bowling Alley Bar Ruling Set Tonight

Acting local liquor commissioner Francois Palmatier ordered the bar of the Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes Inc., 8 N. Vail Ave., closed until tonight.

His primary verdict came after nine witnesses testified in a 4½ hour liquor hearing Tuesday night.

Palmatier said the evidence presented showed that Thomas Kouros, 38, of 440 Creekwood Drive, Palatine, had violated state statutes which prohibit the sale and delivery of alcoholic liquor to a minor. Kouros is proprietor of the bowling establishment.

"There is no question there has been a violation here," Palmatier told the audience of about 20. He said testimony of witnesses "showed a laxity of the proprietor which caused the serving of alcoholic beverages to a minor."

PALMATIER said evidence was shown that beer was served a 19-year-old girl at the bowling lanes.

He added that testimony showed the possibility that liquor was sold after the 12 midnight village closing time.

Palmatier took the case under advisement. He is expected to reach a final ruling by tonight (Thursday), when a seven-day order to close the bar lapses.

The case arose last Thursday when a 17-year-old girl charged Kouros with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The girl told police she was molested by Kouros earlier Thursday morning at the bowling lanes. She said she and a 19-year-old girl friend were served alcoholic beverages on the premises after closing hours.

According to police, the two girls arrived at the bowling lanes about 12:30 a.m. to meet two boys. After the others left the girl and one of the youths stayed at the lanes and allegedly were served alcoholic beverages by Kouros until 4:30 a.m.

WHEN THEY were ready to leave, the girl said she accepted an offer to ride home with Kouros. The girl claimed she was then taken into a back room of the bowling alley and molested by Kouros.

Kouros was released last Thursday on a $2,000 bond.

At the lengthy hearing, witnesses told conflicting stories.

Atty. Paul Knott of Arlington Heights represented the defendant, Kouros. Village attorney, Jack Siegel, represented the 17-year-old plaintiff.

Leading off the testimony, the girl, a former waitress, testified she had been served five alcoholic drinks after she arrived at the bowling lanes. She said Kouros himself served her three of the drinks. The girl testified no one asked her for identification.

Next on the witness stand, a 19-year-old waitress and beautician said she had two beers after midnight. She claimed no one asked for her ID.

Twenty-one-year-old Trevor Evans, 315 N. Salem Lane, said he purchased two drinks for himself, two beers for the nineteen-year-old girl, and four soft drinks for the others just prior to closing time. He testified he did not see Kouros mix any drinks after 12 midnight. He testified he bought the drinks a few minutes before midnight at the bar from Mrs. Kouros after showing identification.

A FOURTH witness, William Vassos, who identified himself as owner of the Countryside Inn, 1 W. Campbell Street, said he and the 17-year-old girl were not served intoxicating liquors. He testified the other girl had two beers, and Evans had two rounds of alcoholic drinks before Vassos left at 2:30 a.m.

Kouros, seven-year proprietor of Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes, testified he "absolutely did not" serve alcoholic drinks to anyone after closing time.

He explained it was his policy to keep lanes open for people working late. Kouros said he would sell two or three rounds of drinks to these groups prior to midnight.

HIS WIFE testified she closed the bar at midnight after selling two rounds of drinks. She said she did not ask who the drinks were for.

Kouros comes before Circuit Court Monday at 1:30 p.m. on criminal charges for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Palmatier is acting liquor commissioner while Village Pres. John Woods is out of town.

Garbage Contract Talks Continuing

from the lower costs of dumping in a village-owned land fill.

The final road block to settlement was set up Monday night when trustee Thomas Hanlon issued an angry denunciation of the service provided by the Laseke firm.

Contrary to all expressions of pleasure and confidence in Laseke's performance voiced both by the finance committee and other trustees, Hanlon read a letter containing personal grievances against the firm's workers which included walking on the grass, failure to replace lids on emtpy trash cans, and failure to remove all the material from cans.

HANLON ALSO asserted that when his wife complained of these practices, a Laseke employe "gave her a very bad time."

Stating these and other complaints against the company, Hanlon called for sealed bids for garbage collection in the village and also suggested that the village itself might operate a garbage collection service.

Laseke spokesmen labeled the Hanlon blast as untrue and injurious to the firm.

As the situation now stands, the contract outcome is anybody's guess.

Car Owner Denies Hit-Run

Arlington Heights police located a black and gold Mustang car reported to have been involved in a hit and run accident early Sunday morning.

The owner of the car, a Nike Base soldier, denied any knowledge of the incident, according to police reports.

Dennis Lee, 2300 Algonquin Road, Rolling Meadows, told police he chased the Mustang car east on Algonquin Road when it attempted to cut his car off the road.

Lee said the car turned onto a dead-end road and turned around. When he and a friend got out of their car to stop the Mustang, it charged at them and knocked Lee to the ground, police said. His companion reported he hit the side of the fleeing car with a wooden stake.

Police made no charges.

Man Hurt In Mishap

A Rolling Meadows man received minor injuries Monday when his car ran a barricade on Kensington Road and struck a house at 103 S. Prindle Ave., Arlington Heights, Monday.

John P. Hubert, 25, of 2 Windermere, was treated for a cut chin and released from Northwest Community Hospital.

Police said after his car struck a lighted barricade in the road, it crossed a lawn and struck several bushes and a porch.

The house is owned by Glenn E. Roos.

Hubert was cited for damage to village property and driving too fast for conditions. Police said he left 100 feet of skid marks on the pavement.

Historical Society Maps Museum Appeal

ski, 1219 Woodford Place, had been to the Field Museum, Chicago, to see how things are restored.

"Things will be restored to their original form for the museum," Horath said. "First of al there has to be a reason for an item to be in the museum," he said. "We have to be able to go back to its origin."

"The building itself is going to be in tip-top shape before we ever go in," he added, noting that the building commissioner and fire chief would be asked to tour the building and tell the society what had to be done to it.

HORATH SAID the ultimate aim was to get a museum that was of such top quality that it would be recognized by the national association of museums and would finally be included as a point of interest for tourists in such publications as the American Auto Association bulletins.

"But we have to earn this recognition," he said.

Horath said he wanted people to know that many groups besides the historical society had helped the drive immensely. He pointed out that the teachers from High School District 214 had contributed generously and that questors groups, the local garden club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the woman's clubs and the community as a whole had worked to get funds for the museum.

"I have a list of 86 people working on the drive right now," he said.

Route 62 Track Provides Action

by DAVE CRIPPEN
News Editor

Ho-hum. Don't know what to do on a lazy afternoon? Need something to brighten your day?

If this is you, put a little excitement back in your life. Go to the races!

CRIPPEN

Yes, I know Arlington Park is closed. I didn't mean there. I'm talking about a "track" that's open year-round. They call it Algonquin Road.

The races you'll see are in a class all their own. Featured in this free-wheeling competition are those devil-may-care fellows at the controls of their gravel trucks.

MOST CONVENIENT seating for Arlington Heights spectators may be found between Golf and Wilke Roads. Just pick a spot and wait for the action—it won't be long in coming. (Caution: Be sure to keep at least 100 yards between yourself and the road.)

Upon sighting the first truck, be sure to note how the driver is completely disregarding the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit. If you have some binoculars, try to catch a glimpse of the expression on the driver's face. It's one of true determination—teeth bared (perhaps clinching a cigar), eyes fixed on the road and jaw rigid.

Then watch him as he approaches a car from the rear. Note how he swings into the left lane, speeds the huge trailer truck past the auto and then whips back into the right-hand lane, leaving the motorist in a hail of gravel and dust.

If you're lucky, you might even see this drama enacted on a hill.

Take your field glasses and try to get a look at the unfortunate driver of the car our hero just passed. Oh, the look on that face—complete astonishment intermingled with total fear. Observe how the motorist is shaking so badly he can hardly hang on to the steering wheel. Notice the sweat pouring from his furrowed brow.

Then all will be quiet for a while. But be patient, for more action is to come. You see, the flow of gravel trucks on Algonquin Road is virtually constant. Algonquin seems to be a prime thoroughfare for these fellows as they race with their loads of stone and gravel to various construction sites. Apparently, drivers are paid by the number of loads they deliver during the day—an incentive that makes their demonstrations of highway recklessness unsurpassed.

You're bound to see a contest between two of these motorized giants. And that's really something to make your spine tingle.

Try to imagine it. One driver determined to pass one of his colleague's machines; the other determined to maintain his lead. The ensuing battle-on-wheels rivals the Indianapolis 500. The only difference is the Indianapolis contest could be rated as much safer.

Someday take an afternoon and watch these races. You can be assured you'll return home with an air of excitement—and a silent vow to never drive on Algonquin Road again.

Bray House Display Is Modern, Antique

Modern art and antique accessories will share honors during the next two weeks in a special Countryside Art Center exhibit at the Bray house at 506 N. Dunton Ave.

The huge Victorian home, soon to make way for Arlington Heights public library construction, was officially opened for the art exhibit with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 3 p.m. Sunday.

OFFICIATING was L. A. (Rudy) Hanson, Arlington Heights village manager, who was a key figure in negotiations for purchase of the home for a library site.

More than 100 persons attended the opening, which included a tea.

They saw all styles of oil, water color, pastels and collages — plus some mobiles and sculpturing — exhibited by Art Center members in the home's two open floors.

An old-fashioned school desk decorated the upstairs front bedroom where students' paintings were displayed. In a downstairs room, smaller matted works were open for inspection in a bentwood antique rocker. (A

Facelifting Receives OK Of Railway

The Chicago and North Western Railway reports that it has delivered to the office of the village manager of Arlington Heights a lease which would permit the village to proceed with beautification of the railroad right of way. Delivery of the lease was reported by Thomas Lydon, supervisor of leases for the North Western.

The project for beautifying the right of way was initiated by the Arlington Heights Women's Club.

Village manager L. A. Hanson confirmed receipt of the release Wednesday.

Taxpapers of the Arlington Heights Park District placed the affairs of the district on a relatively sound financial basis by their approval Tuesday of an increase in the tax rate by a vote of 4 to 1.

The voting on the propositions was 100 to 27 and 98 to 26, respectively.

Two propositions were placed on the ballot. No. 1 provides for a tax of one mill for recreational purposes. Proposition No. 2 increased the corporate rate by one-half mill.

There's no doubt about it. We of the northwest suburbs need a community hospital.

First Parent-Teacher Conference Is Friday

"Cardless reportcards" are the assignment for tomorrow (Friday) in Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 schools.

Parents of District 25 students meet with teachers in the first of two annual Parent Conferences. For the kids, it's the first day-off of the year.

The topic of discussion at the 15-minute conference between parents is the child — his progress in subject courses, his classroom participation, and his interaction with classmates.

BY OPENING up a two-way communication between parent and teacher, "you never know what you will uncover," said William Fritsche, curriculum director, in referring to sources of academic problems.

District schools converted from the traditional letter-graded report card to the conference set-up nearly 20 years ago, said Robert Campbell, assistant superintendent.

"This method is three-pronged," Fritsche explained. "First is status report in which a teacher tells parents about child's progress in class."

"Next, a teacher has an opportunity to ask a parent about his child — something impossible through a traditional report card," he said.

"And third, both parties together can set up a plan of action — to help a child progress in school," he pointed out.

Fritsche emphasized that "an exchange of ideas" between the parent and teacher was a major advantage of the program.

CONFERENCES are again arranged in the spring for parents of kindergarten through eighth grades. Junior high students, in addition, receive 13-week report cards three times a year.

This aids older children in making the transition from no report cards in the lower grades to high school, where they receive report cards.

"This program is more difficult to administer," Fritsche admitted. He explained that often teachers must hold conferences during evenings and Saturdays for working parents.

"Furthermore, it takes a certain amount of time for new families in the district to adjust to a conference set-up," he said. Orientation through PTAs and building principals helps their adjustment, he added.

What about the reward a student normally gets from a letter grade on report cards?

FRITSCHE said that students do benefit psychologically from graded papers in their day-to-day work. An "A" mark, or a gold star on homework and tests keep the competitive spirit in a classroom, he pointed out.

Additional appointments are arranged with parents needing more time for conferences. (A

Authorize Funds to Study Sanitary Land Fill Project

The Arlington Heights Village Board has decided to determine whether land it has annexed is suitable for a sanitary land fill dumping area, and trustees approved $2,500 for a feasibility study of the proposal.

The board authorized Village Manager L. A. Hanson to direct Consoer Townsend Associates, consulting engineers, to proceed with the study of land west of Arlington Heights Road and north of Dundee Road. The firm will determine whether the land is geographically, topographically, and economically suitable to serve as a dumping area.

HANSON described the investigation to Paddock Publications in the following manner:

"First you have to take soil borings to find out the depth you could go to bury disposal material. It will also tell you if you have water problems and the type of earth available for cover material.

"Such a study will also tell you how much material this land will hold, the present cubic yards available and predict the life of the property.

"The study will also provide an estimate of how much excess material (dirt) must be gotten rid of and how that can best be accomplished.

"Sub-soil explorations are also necessary. We'll need site planning and topographical maps which will tell how to cut the trenches for dumping. The information will also include the capacity of the site, and the volume of refuse available and what the land can be used for in the future — it is an operational plan including land use and final use of the site.

"You can put it this way: The land costs so much money and the materials dumped bring so much return. You might say, 'At the present rate of disposal, this land is good for 30 years,' but there are X number of cubic yards that can come in from other sources for additional revenue — but this would fill up the land more quickly."

HANSON ALSO explained that the feasibility study would indicate how the fill site should be operated; either by the village or by private contractor.

The engineering firm says the study will be completed within 40 days. Trustee John Walsh wanted assurance on the matter, and told Hanson, "Start the clock." (A

Library Board Still Skittish About Joint Region System

The Arlington Heights library board recently passed a resolution confirming its membership in the North Suburban Library System. The library board was still somewhat divided Tuesday night as to whether or not this was the appropriate time to join the system.

"At least system meetings begin on time and adjourn at 9:30," joked board member Robert Blackburn. He and Mrs. Florence Hendrickson, board president, said they found that most people they talked to agreed with them that the move into the system was a good thing.

Board members who had voted against joining the system said they also had found a number of people who agreed with them that the issue should have been taken back to the people.

According to head librarian Mrs. Mary Lee Ewalt, the question of what membership in the system may or may not mean is filled with "if's" and "probably's."

Much of this uncertainty is based on the fact that the system in this area is not operating in full swing yet, she said. A system director has not been hired and in many ways the system is still in the organizational stage.

Mrs. Ewalt pointed out that library systems have worked well elsewhere and that the local board has gone into the system with the hope that it would work out well.

She said that while she had some reservations about system membership "there are some very good reasons for system membership."

ONE OF THE primary reasons, she said, was that there are many new library facilities that can't be afforded any other way than cooperatively.

At the time when the North Suburban Libray System (then called District 5) was first being discussed, Andre S. Nielsen, then chairman of the system, wrote a brief "History and Development of a Regional Center in System 5."

"At quite frequent intervals, during the past 20 or more years, librarians on the North Shore or in North Cook County area have gathered together to discuss cooperation among libraries. This is the natural result of the day-to-day experience of most all librarians and, particularly, the librarians of smaller institutions," he wrote.

"FRUSTRATION is probably the best word to describe this feeling. Or, from another point of view, a librarian's broad knowledge of the world of books and other sources of information makes him constantly aware of the inadequacies of service to the public in the community his library is serving.

"Because of these inadequacies and constant frustration in helping the public, it is more natural, being assiduous people, that they look to other sources for help. There apparently is no way to turn other than to neighboring libraries, hoping possibly that the resources of all might be 'pooled' to help correct the problem."

Nielsen also noted that "regional library organizations in New York State and California are but a few of the successful plans put in operation."

A summary of the plan for public library development in Illinois (system formation was included in this plan) was published by the Illinois State Library in 1963. The state library concluded its report:

"THE PROPOSALS of the plan are meant to eliminate or at least reduce drastically many of the problems now facing libraries in trying to meet the ever increasing demands for services by the citizens of Illinois. Without the adoption of a formal development plan, and without the assumption by the state of its basic responsibility in this aspect of education, the library service available to the citizen is in dire danger of collapse."

A 1966 report from the state library indicates there are presently eight library systems in full operation in the state.

THESE EIGHT are: the Chicago Public Library, Western Illinois Library System (headquarters: Warren County Library), Rolling Prairie Library System (headquarters: Decatur Public Library), Corn Belt Library system (headquarters: Withers Public Library, Bloomington), Illinois Valley Library System (Peoria Public Library), Library System 16 (headquarters: Champaign Public Library), Northern Illinois Library System (headquarters: Rockford Public Library) and Library System 21 (headquarters: Morris Library, Southern Illinois University).

Local library board members have expressed concern over several provisions of system membership. Primary among these was the possibility that a library might be denied withdrawal from the system by the state librarian. A second area questioned was that of the extent to which people from other areas would be using and perhaps depleting the local facilities.

Mrs. Ewalt said that although there were no guarantees that there would not be a common borrowers' card, other librarians had indicated to her that there would be certain restrictions.

SHE SAID ONE librarian had told her a local library would never be compelled to lend a book to someone with a card from another library within the system if the other library also had the book in stock — even if the book were checked out.

She also said that the large portion of the interchange of books between libraries would be handled by librarians rather than by card holders.

At present there are 22 member libraries in the North Suburban Library System. These are Arlington Heights, Barrington, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Wilmette, Evanston, Prospect Heights, Park Ridge, Elk Grove Village, Glencoe, Glenview, Lake Forest, Morton Grove, Palatine, Niles, Northbrook, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg Township, West Deerfield Township, Wheeling, Winnetka and Skokie.

Evanston is the proposed headquarters for the system.

Distance to Parking Halts Expansion Plans for Bank

It's 1,000 feet as the crow flies but 1,480 feet as the pedestrian walks.

This simple computation halted expansion plans of the First Arlington National Bank, 14 E. Campbell St.

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday delayed approval of the bank's off-street parking lot until village requirements can be met.

Plan commissioners are expected to take up the parking issue next Wednesday.

THE TROUBLE arose when a village engineer, John Best, measured distance from the bank's proposed front door to the parking lot by a straight line. He told commissioners this distance met the 1,000 feet requirement of the village.

But commissioners pointed out that the statutes read, "distance measured by walking distance." Best estimated this measurement would bring the distance over the legal minimum by some 500 feet.

The 53-space parking lot in contention is at the southwest corner of Eastman Street and Arlington Heights Road. The lot is required for the proposed addition on the north side of the First Arlington National Bank.

Settlement of a parking lot agreement between village and bank officials also is expected to be reached at the Wednesday meeting. Village Atty. Jack Siegel, in a letter to the plan commission, recommended that the agreement contain a 99-year indenture on the property.

Bank vice president Douglas Dodds opposed the indenture, saying that several 99-year indentures in the downtown area would ruin it.

THE INDENTURE would guarantee the village that the lot would be used only for parking for 99 years, or as long as the bank building was used for banking purposes.

Dodds pointed out that the downtown area needs to modernize. "But this parking requirement is the most serious problem confronting the village," he added. "The downtown business district will never be developed with the present situation."

He told commissioners that the bank has been long delayed in its expansion program. "We're a responsible corporation. We will maintain the land as a parking lot," he promised.

CHAIRMAN HAROLD Carlson replied, "Mr. Dodds, I don't believe you or anyone else. I sat on the plan commission a few years ago and heard you say you wouldn't build a second story to the bank. Then you took it to the Supreme Court, calling us liars," he said.

Adult Community Plans Hit 'Snags'

A $9.5 million adult community development proposal that ran into one snag in the Plan Commission hearings, hit another one Monday night at the meeting of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

Plans originally called for the pre-annexation zoning of 60 acres of land lying south of Rand Road and east of Wilke Road for R-5, multiple family dwellings. These were to be designed with older people in mind — specifically, those over 45.

The Plan Commission cut 32 acres out of the proposed R-5 parcel owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Long, and the village board was unhappy with the incompleteness of the plans for the remaining 28.

FRANK O'REILLY, attorney for the petitioners, told the trustees that his client wished to put up approximately 264 apartment units on the 28 acre R-5 parcel and would submit another proposal for the development of the 32 acre section which is now being considered for an R-3, single family, zoning.

O'Reilly was unable to tell the board exactly how many units of one and two bedroom apartments would be built, but declared that the number of units proposed was well within the 437 unit limit for the 28 acre section.

The attorney also said that his client had not yet set aside any land for park or school use, but hastened to add that the petitioner was aware of the village requirement in this area.

At this point trustee John Walsh told O'Reilly, "I cannot personally vote affirmatively on the basis of your sketchy presentation.

"YOU CAN'T tell us the relationship of one's to two's. I want to know something specific and I may tie my voting to something specific, and this is to protect the Village of Arlington Heights," said Walsh.

Walsh said he had no objections to zoning the southern portion of the property for R-3, but wanted more detail from the developer on the number of units and certain other features of the R-5 project.

Walsh's call for a revised plan was supported by trustees Thomas Hanlon and John White. Village president pro-tem John Palmatier finally resolved the discussion by suggesting that a committee meet with O'Reilly when plans for the development are more specific.

This action was adopted by the board and White, Hanlon, and Roy Bressler were appointed to the committee. (A

Thoroughfare Plan Hearing Wednesday

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission will hold a continued hearing on the Master Thoroughfare Plan Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

Discussion is expected to include downtown parking, traffic flow and circulation patterns; traffic signals; and a general critique of the 1965 report compiled by Tec-Search, Inc., Evanston.

At the Sept. 21 meeting, commissioners recommended Buffalo Grove Road and Schoenbeck Road as secondary arterials with 40-foot widths.

OPENING UP north-south access for village residents on the east side, the commission recommended as collector streets: Waterman Avenue from the Northwest Highway to Kensington Road; Prindle from Kensington to Euclid Street; Forrest Avenue from Euclid to Rand Road, and Waterman from Rand Road to Palatine Road. They recommended that a collector north of Palatine Road be determined as needs develop.

Other streets designated as collectors were: Meier-Roosevelt Street from Golf Road to Central Road; unnamed street between Hintz Road and Dundee Road from Kennicott to Elmhurst Road; Fernandez Avenue south of Central Road; Grove Street from Wilke Road to Ridge Avenue; and Kennicott Avenue from Oakton Street to Rand Road.

A collector street has a 40 foot width minimum with no on-street parking during peak periods. (A

Bus Driver Is Charged In Accident

Arlington Heights police cited a school bus driver for negligent driving Monday morning after a collision near Arlington Heights Road and Euclid Street in Arlington Heights.

The driver, Joseph Cuccinotto of Des Plaines, told police he was turning from the inner to the outer lane on Arlington Heights Road when his bus struck the rear of a car. Operator of the car was Constance Ostick, 25, of 231 Arlington Heights Road, Long Grove.

The bus is owned by Ritzenthaler Bus Lines, Inc. of Arlington Heights.

Board OKs Variation For Garage

An Arlington Heights builder with garage problems appeared before the village board Monday night as scheduled. A resident with fence problems didn't turn up.

Gerald Darcy had written a letter to the board explaining the squeeze play he was forced to make to get a house and garage on his property. No matter how hard he tried, Darcy kept turning up with a garage too narrow by village standards.

THE BOARD of trustees voted to let Darcy build the narrow garage after he showed them that storage space for tools, bicycles and the like had been provided for outside the structure.

Leroy A. Garr, 316 S. Derbyshire Lane, has a six foot high redwood fence around his swimming pool and wanted the board to grant a variance from its requirement of a wire mesh barrier. Garr failed to show, and the board deferred action on the matter. (A

Urge Public Hearings on Lot Changes

The legal committee of the Arlington Heights Village Board has recommended that the Planning Commission hold public hearings to consider increased requirements for side yard set back, and corner lot size.

Trustee John White said he concurred with the commission, which voted against increasing lot size for R-2 and R-3 lot size, distance requirements between the side of a home and the side line of the property upon which it is built.

WHITE ALSO suggested the Plan Commission take up the matter of a technique of lot averaging techniques which would be used in areas where lot sizes varies due to curvalinear streets and cul de sacs.

White's suggestions were passed unanimously in the form of a motion. (A

OK Final Plat For Greenbrier

The Arlington Heights Board of Trustees gave its approval Monday night to the final plat of unit 11 of the Greenbrier development as submitted by Miller Builders.

The Plan Commission recommended its acceptance pending deletion of the remainder of one lot. This lot became substandard after the state took a right of way through the property.

Fred Wilkins, spokesman for the petitioners assured the board that the lot had been deleted and that the remaining land would become part of a

Park Grant Is Expected By District

The Arlington Heights Park District should be getting most of the federal grant approved last summer.

The grant was approved to cover 50 per cent of the cost of some undeveloped lands acquired with monies from the 1965 land acquisition referendum.

ALTHOUGH the park district is not through with the entire acquisition program, the board members decided Tuesday night to request the money guaranted them on completed projects.

The board is asking that it be given $187,057.85 of the approved $206,459 grant. The remaining amount of about $19,000 will be received after the board completes negotiations on the final piece of property, a 1.5 acre plot in the Arlington Park Manor Subdiaision. (A

Zoning Request Is Postponed

At request of the petitioner, the Arlington Heights board of Trustees put over until Nov. 23 a request to rezone to B-1 commercial zoning 17 lots on the east side of Arlington Heights Road, between Magnolia and Cyprus Streets.

William Moore, attorney for the owners of the property, said his clients wanted time to make a thorough study of the area's commercial needs. He said that 30 days would be sufficient time in which to prepare a complete layout of plans. The additional time was granted without objection. (A

Park Truck Replacement Authorized

The Arlington Heights Park Board decided Tuesday night to buy a replacement for the park truck that was recently destroyed by fire.

Other purchases approved by the park board included a used equipment trailer for $850 from W. Blauw, $670 worth of basketball backstops and volleyball standards for the Juliette Low School and $6,894 for replacement of all the exterior wood doors and wood framed windows in the Recreation Park Fieldhouse. Police said entry was made by forcing open a rear door.

Neighbors reported seeing the unknown woman at the Brinn residence early in the afternoon. (A

Library Board Pensive On Federal Library $$

Springfield officials will announce next week whether—and—how much Arlington Heights will receive in federal funds for its new library building.

In anticipation, the library board has decided to postpone its regular Tuesday meeting until Thursday at 8:30 p.m. By then they expect announcement of the grant decision will have been made.

Recommendations on the application, asking $385,000 to help cover costs of land, construction and equipment for the new library, are in the hands of Illinois State Librarian Paul Powell now.

DeLafayette Reid, associate librarian, told local library attorney Marlin Smith that recommendations on the grant request were made last weekend at a state library advisory board meeting in Springfield.

HE WOULD NOT tell Smith what was recommended, saying that such action must come from state librarian Powell.

Powell serves as library head as part of his duties as Secreary of State.

Announcement of the decision is expected by mid-week, Smith was told.

THE DECISION has major implications for the library board, which has seen area construction costs soar since Arlington Heights voted approval of a $1.4 million bond issue last January.

At that time the $1.4 million was expected to be sufficient for purchase, construction and equipping of the new library. The $385,000 federal grant was to have retired bonds early, board members said then.

BUT ACQUISITION of the library site, a square block bordered by Dunton and Vail avenues and Euclid and Belmont streets, proved most costly than estimated. The construction cost squeeze has added to library trustees' interest in approval of the grant, at the asked-for figure.

Robert Nicol, senior architect for the proposed library, and board member George C. (Bud) Beacham discussed this at Tuesday's meeting.

"IF YOUR BOND isn't enough to build at today's prices, your federal grant added on top will be enough," Nicol predicted.

"Yes," retorted Beacham, "but there's a question of whether we'll get all we ask for. If we don't, we face a problem." (A

Norwesco Asks Help

Volunteers are needed to survey the Spanish-speaking community in the four-township area covered by the Northwest Cook Opportunity Council (Norwesco).

Norwesco is taking a survey in Elk Grove, Wheeling, Schaumburg, and Palatine Townships to determine the number of Mexican-Americans, their conditions, needs, and other general information.

The survey will be similar to that used in the 10-year census of the federal government. Census material will not have a person's name and will be held confidential.

NORWESCO also needs Spanish-speaking workers for the survey.

The survey will be made during the day, evenings, or weekends at the convenience of the volunteers. Volunteers should have their own transportation.

Anyone interested in the volunteer work or the paid Spanish speaking work is asked to contact Mrs. Jose Gonzales, Peace Reformed Church, 600 E. Golf Road, or at 439-4491. Immediate response is needed.

Some of the volunteers already have started on the survey.

Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Mary O'Leary

Many Sidelighters have been leading rather quiet lives lately, giving as their explanations that they are preparing for later activities—namely, Halloween and, still farther in the future, the Thanksgiving holiday. However, those not looking so far into what's coming up are keeping busy with family doings.

Recently returned from a 10-day jaunt to Lisbon and Portugal is the Arthur Erickson family, 1546 N. Ridge. Mr. Erickson, his wife and their children, Richard and Ardith Jane, took off from O'Hare Airport via TWA, the company for whom Mr. Erickson is employed. They stopped momentarily in New York City before the trans-Atlantic flight.

IN LISBON, they spent four days with Mrs. Erickson's cousin, Arne Hansen, the Swedish consolate to Portugal. Mr. Hansen is Norwegian, but when questioned why he belongs to the Swedish consolate, he usually replies "They had nobody better."

Next stop was Cairo, Egypt, where the Ericksons stayed at the Nile Hilton. While there, besides taking in the usual tourist attractions, they viewed a program titled "Sound and Light." It was presented on the Sahara Desert and floodlights were projected on the pyramids and a sphinx in the dark of night and each monument, in turn, "spoke" in stereo to the audience of its history. From there they flew to New York and then home.

Now honeymooning following his marriage to Miss Patty Wilson is 1st Lt. Donald Drumtra, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Drumtra, 411 Mayfair. Attending the wedding in Henry, Ill. were Donald's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Josephsen from Florida who are staying at the Drumtra home on Mayfair for two weeks. The William Starnes family, 605 Burton, also attended and David Starnes was Donald's best man. Donald was David's best man for his wedding last year.

The couple will honeymoon in Wisconsin for four weeks before taking off for Germany, where they will live for the next three years.

A WELCOME home is extended to Jon Busse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Busse, 210 N. Pine, who has recently moved back to his hometown. Jon graduated from Arlington High School in 1955 and then attended the University of Illinois in Urbana, where he studied for his career in architecture. After living in Aurora for six years, Jon, his wife, Phyllis, Jon Jr., 6, and Ann, 3, moved to their new home at 510 N. Arlington Heights Road four weeks ago. It was a business transfer of Mr. Busse to A. M. Kinney Inc.

Two weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woefinger, 409 Banbury, returned from a five-day vacation on the West Coast. The family is now preparing for a visit from their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Reinking from Oshkosh.

Oct. 11 found Beth Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Weiss, 104 E. Hawthorne, celebrating her fourth birthday with a party. Attending the afternoon party were the other Weiss crhildn, Ed, Brett, and Jeoffrey, as well as 13 young friends. (A Women's bridge games for October were played Thursday in the N. Belmont Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lett. High scorers for the month were Charlotte Hofman, 3060; Evelyn Jahnke, 2770, and Emily Coward, 2690.

Seven-year-old Ginger Johnson celebrated her birthday Oct. 10 in her E. Olive Street home with an after school party for Nancy Wirtz, Kathy Vastine, Mary Beth Hughes, Jackie Hofer and Lorraine Danna.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Recht of E. Clarendon Avenue hosted the October meeting of her once-a-month bridge club. On hand for the evening of refreshment and cards were Myrtle Nelson, Hazel Kunze, Louise Hauslein, Mabel Lee, Mrs. "Andy" Raimondi and Elizabeth Rowley, all of Chicago, and Marie Swan of Morton Grove.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Recht's mother, Mrs. Nellie Unger of the Clarendon Avenue address, began a four-day trip downstate with her son, George and family of Palatine. Springfield and a tour of the state capitol, New Salem and the Lincoln lore was followed by a visit to Nauvoo to the Mormon memorabilia.

FORMER GREENS residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Salberg, now of Chicago's Lake Shore Drive, gave a dinner party Saturday for friends and once-neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zelsmann, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Culpepper and the Robert Nicols. The Leslie Shannons of N. Hickory Avenue weekended in Macomb, where they visited Kathy, a sophomore at Western Illinois University.

The Richard Dick family of N. Beverly Lane chose last weekend to visit Dan, a freshman at St. Joseph College near Rennselaer, Ind. They also attended the football game and toured the campus. (A

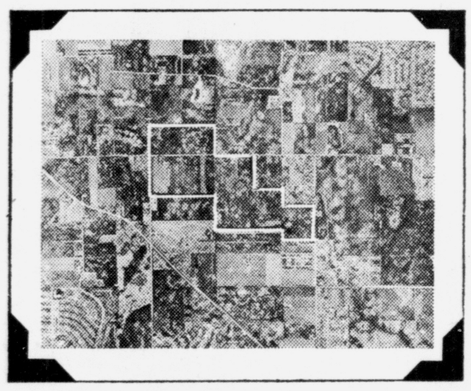
This is our baby picture



It takes a lot of planning to raise a baby. Our infant, Arlington Industrial and Research Center, is no exception. As a matter of fact, we have spent years nursing this project.
In the coming months, our center will be growing. It will receive its nourishment from various industries requiring a planned site in a strategic and prestige Chicagoland location.
Arlington Industrial and Research Center . . with more than 350 acres of planned and developed property . . . has facilities for your offices, plants and warehouses.

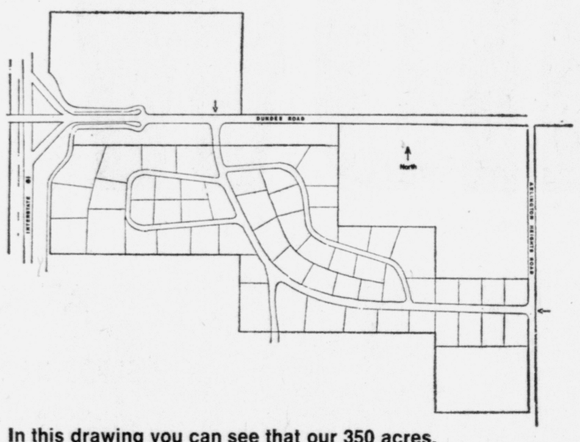
A drawing of our plans

These are our plans. We feel they contain all the important elements necessary to design an excellent industrial and research center.



In this drawing you can see that our 350 acres, located on new Interstate 61, has all the identification and accessibility required for a successful center. What you can't see are our four-lane paved roads, complete underground utilities (including electrical and telephone cables) and landscaped parkways. Incidentally, O'Hare International Airport and other major expressways are nearby. Although we don't show it on the map, our plans call for construction of a unique multiple use building offering tenants offices, warehouse and manufacturing facilities.

Our symbol, constructed in steel and marble, at Arlington Industrial and Research Center. It is an Icosahedron.
Definition:
Icosahedron (i-kos-a-he-drun), n.; pl. -drons. 1. A geometric figure composed of twenty equilateral triangles. 2. Entrance symbol at Arlington Industrial and Research Center.
We think it is a fitting symbol for industry and research, because of its sturdy and exacting appearance. The Icosahedron seems very mathematical, yet it is rather handsome. In some ways it is much like the center itself.

A speedy recovery is wished for Mrs. Howard F. Valkenaar, S. Lancaster, who is in Resurrection Hospital.

Mrs. Kurt Knuth, S. Lancaster, had a coffee to welcome Mrs. Marge Osmond of 814 S. Lancaster, into the neighborhood. The Osmonds moved here from Indianapolis.

Harper College-Elk Grove Agreement up for Approval

Terms by which Harper Junior College will rent space in Elk Grove High School next year are up for approval at High School District 214's 7:30 p.m. board meeting Monday.

General approval of the rental agreement negotiated between college officials and the high school administration was given last Thursday by the college board of education.

UNDER THE agreement, the junior college will pay a pro rata share of Elk Grove High School's operating costs per student—a figure estimated at no more than $75 per Harper student.

DR. EDWARD H. Gilbert, District 214 superintendent, said final school board approval of the rental contract will come later in the year.

Business education courses will be in the spotlight at the Monday meeting in Slichenmyer Administration Center.

Instructional coordinator Reuben Conrad and other business education teachers will appear to explain that portion of District 214's curriculum. The presentation is part of a monthly series for board members.

The school board will be asked to name its voting delegate to the Illinois Association of School Boards state convention Nov. 19-21 in Chicago.

Tentatively scheduled for the meeting is board consideration of a purchasing policy, drawn up by business manager Frank Coleman, and John R. Brooks, purchasing agent who joined the staff this summer.

Final action on the Davidsmeyer Bus Service contract is also scheduled. Awarding of the Davidsmeyer contract for hauling Elk Grove High School students took place this summer, but approval of the contract itself has been held up because of differences regarding details.

Planners to Check Trust Ownerships

A policy to discourage developments backed by crime syndicates from coming into the village was set by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday.

Commissioners agreed to question petitioners on ownership and financing of projects planned by unknown trusts and beneficiaries.

Last week Trustee Roy Bressler broached the subject at a Board of Trustees meeting. His concern was with the increasing number of petitioners seeking rezoning and annexation in behalf of trusts. He said that Arlington Heights, with its tremendous growth rate, is susceptible to legitimate projects backed by "illicit money."

PLAN commissioner Fred Ainslie agreed, saying, "I assume we can and should ask petitioners to name all the members of a trust."

"They may name them or tell us it is none of our business," he added. "This itself would be a tipoff."

The plan commission makes the first review of new projects coming into the village.

The policy legally cannot be made a condition of rezoning or annexation, according to Jack Siegal, village attorney. But he said the plan commission can make it a practice to ask for names of beneficiaries and owners in a trust. (A

Parks Buy Recreation Equipment

The Arlington Heights park district Tuesday approved purchase of equipment for a training and exercise room to be set up in the Recreation Park fieldhouse.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton said plans call for making the equipment available days and evenings so Arlington Heights men can work out whenever they have time.

"This is the only facility of this type in the area," he said, noting that the closest exercise room was at the YMCA in Des Plaines.

Cost of the equipment was $1,336.50, including a set of weights, an "exercycle," abdominal exercise apparatus, an eight-speed belt massager, sets of 110 - pound combination weights, and a punching bag.

Thornton said the park district already has a wall pully machine, stall bars, a punching bag frame, some miscellaneous weight lifting equipment, jumping ropes and a wall chinning bar. (A

Dance Keys St. Viator Homecoming

St. Viator High School will mark its Homecoming celebration this weekend with festivities but no floats.

The celebration, planned by senior class members led by their officers will officially start Friday with a formal dance at the high school.

Iver Buerk's orchestra will play for the 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. event, at which the Homecoming king — but no queen — will be crowned.

Four attendants to the king, one from each St. Viator's class, will also be announced at the dance.

AN OUTDOOR pep rally and sock hop is scheduled for Saturday evening, beginning at 7 p.m.

Sunday will be "game day," with a parade of decorated cars leaving the high school parking lot at 12:30 p.m. for the Prospect High School football field.

St. Viator's will face St. Mel's of Chicago at 2 p.m.

Special guests at half-time will be parents of the 23 varsity squad players. Each mother and father will receive a corsage or boutonniere from their son at the half-time festivities, which also will include honoring of the Homecoming king. (A

2 Have Article In Encyclopedia

Sections written by two Arlington Heights men are included in "The New Book of Knowledge," children's encyclopedia published this week by Grolier, Inc.

The two are:

—Richard Dunlop of 1115 Mayfair, who contributed material on carbon monoxide poisoning to the encyclopedia's section on poisons and antidotes.

—James F. Ulrich of 131 S. Dwyer, who wrote the encyclopedia sections on geometry and geometric forms.

Dunlop, co-winner of the 1958 Spur Award for best non-Western fiction, is author of numerous books, stories and magazine articles. His current book is "Doctors of the American Frontier."

ULRICH, chairman of the mathematics department at Arlington High School, is co-author of several books in the mathematics field.

The two are among 26 Chicago-area residents who helped write material for the "The New Book of Knowledge," successor to "The Book of Knowledge" first published by Grolier 56 years ago. (A

Hanson To Head Library Project

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson has been designated library project manager for the new library building for which bids will be sought next month.

Hanson's title—and a specific list of duties—were approved by library trustees at a meeting Tuesday evening.

As project manager he will serve as official go-between for the library board with architects Robert Nicol and Robert Chaney. The architects, in turn, will work with whichever general contractor is successful bidder for the library construction job.

Hanson is currently accepting bids from persons interested in purchasing all, or part, of the two Victorian residences now on the new library site at Euclid and Dunton Avenues.

BIDS FOR THE buildings or their contents will be accepted by Nov. 1.

The library board set Thursday Nov. 3, as the date of a special meeting at which Hanson's recommendations for disposal of the buildings will be made.

Hanson noted at Tuesday's meeting that the buildings include an almost-new water softener, well-cared-for kitchen cabinets, three fireplaces, and a craftsman-carved oak staircase.

In addition to the two homes, there is a garage in good condition, Hanson said.

A PEBBLED concrete paving, easier to maintain than grass but nine times as expensive, was approved Tuesday by the library board for use in front of the new building.

The dark-toned paving will line the front of the $1.4 million library building and "provide a pleasing contrast" to the dark green panels in the limestone front, Architect Chaney told library trustees.

Use of a formal planting such as the burning bush was recommended by landscape architect Wallace Atkinson, who attended the meeting with Chaney and Nicol.

Atkinson suggested more informal plantings of flowering trees and evergreens in the grassed library side yards. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Mrs. Robert Robinson, 504 S. Prindle, and many of her neighbors with small children have organized a group to help each other with babysitting chores. Casting around for ways to keep the children amused during inclement weather, Gail has come up with the idea of filling an old trunk with the type of clothes that little girls like to dress up in and needs help in getting a collection together. If anyone in the area has anything that will fill the bill, Gail will be happy to pick it up. Her number is 392-9180.

Chip Mertens, 425 S. Gibbons, who has been at Ft. Benning waiting shipment to Viet Nam, phoned his mother two weeks ago to ask her to fly to Columbus, Ga., for a short visit before he left for overseas. Lorraine made the trip on short notice and spent four happy and rewarding days with her son, meeting many of his friends. On his time off, Chip took her to dinner at the NCO Club at Columbus and at the Moose Club in Phoenix City, Ala.

CHIP IS NOW a crew chief on helicopter maintenance and left Saturday from Oakland, Calif., for Viet Nam, with a stop at Honolulu. Lorraine has been told how important mail call is to the boys stationed there and is passing on Chip's address: Spec.4 Gerald W. Mertens RA16831721, 180th Aviation Co., APO San Francisco, Calif.

After her return home, Lorraine plunged into outside activities to keep her mind occupied and has been asked to be an assistant hostess at an Oct. 31 political luncheon at Randhurst. She is especially looking forward to the event because an invitation has been issued to the Jack O'Neills, former neighbors and close friends of the Mertenses.

Two area couples drove to Madison Saturday for Parents' Weekend at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook, 525 S. Forrest, were guests of their son, Gary, a junior in the school of engineering. They enjoyed dinner with friends after the football game and later attended a dance at the Theta Chi fraternity house.

The Frank Marshalls, 432 S. Forrest, drove up to spend the day with their daughter, Margaret, a graduate student in the school of social work. Since Margaret is a Northwestern alum, the Marshalls had more than a passing interest in the game between NU and Wisconsin.

MR. AND MRS. Stanley Merchant, 513 S. Forrest, were married 37 years Sunday. By way of celebrating, they had dinner and spent the day at White Pines State Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Both, 433 S. Phelps, celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary Oct. 12 by dining at Sylvia's Evergreens near Dundee with the Doug Kirps of Palatine, close friends with whom they have shared many celebrations.

The Boths' son, Fred Jr., joined many of his friends and enlisted in the Air Force. As of last week, he is stationed at Lackland AFB, Del Rio, Tex., for six weeks basic training.

Best wishes for many more happy years together go to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Christiansen, 428 S. Waterman, on their 19th wedding anniversary Oct. 11; and to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jahn, 420 S. Waterman, married 18 years Oct. 15.

CATHY HANSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanson, 429 S. Prindle, observed her Oct. 14 birthday with a party the following day. Guests were a school friend, Kim, and neighborhood friends, Julie Moller, Julie Dombrow, Kathy Spengler and Susie Munson. Refreshments were followed by party games for the 9-year-old and her guests and the afternoon was rounded out with a trip to Beverly Lanes, where the girls enjoyed showing off their bowling skill.

The traditional Loch birthday celebration took place when Terry marked his ninth birthday Oct. 11. Surrounded by his parents, five brothers and three sisters, Terry blew out the candles on his cake while all the voices were raised in a chorus of "Happy Birthday."

While blowing out the candles Terry's wish may well have been for another party because he was barely recovered from the first when he was feted at a second party for his friends Saturday. Terry's dad took him, his brothers, Tommy, Timmy, Raymond and Michael, and friends, Kevin McBride, Pat Malone, Jim Mallon and Joe Nitch, bowling. They then returned to the Loch home at 2124 E. Park, where his mother served cake and ice cream.

JULIE MERTES, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mertes, was guest of honor at a dinner party at the Mertes home, 529 S. Phelps, on Sunday. Guests included grandparents, Mrs. Marie Mertes and Mr. and Mrs. Gust Fetting of Chicago, as well as many aunts, uncles and cousins.

Sandy Kunz, 505 S. Forrest, marked her 13th birthday Saturday with a party at home in the company of close family friends, the Jim Haanels of Arlington Heights.

Sunday the Robert Kunzes were dinner guests of the birthday girl's paternal grandmother in Elmwood Park.

Speedy get well wishes are extended to Grandma Westman, 520 S. Forrest, who is confined to bed until a hairline fracture heals. (A

60 Charter Members In Congregation

Sixty persons became charter members of a new Methodist congregation in Arlington Heights on Sunday, Oct. 9, as the Church of the Incarnation (Methodist) was officially constituted.

The organization service was led by Dr. Charles S. Jarvis, superintendent of the Elgin District of the Rock River Methodist Conference. Dr. Jarvis also served as guest preacher for morning worship. Assisting was the Rev. William R. Miller, pastor of the new congregation. He explained that the charter membership roll would remain open several weeks.

COMMENTING on the church's name, minister Miller conceded that it is a bit unusual — perhaps even unique — for a Methodist congregation. "The truth is, however, that Methodists — like Roman Catholics, Episcopalians, and others — believe very strongly in the Biblical doctrine that God came to earth in the flesh of Jesus Christ," he said.

In a business meeting following the church's organization, its new members elected three trustees: Paul Thompson, chairman; Lavalle Ptak, and Charles Aldrich. Seven members of the Board of Stewards were chosen: Erich Lerchenfeld, Mrs. Dorothy Stout, Mrs. Aina Dutro, Earle Trulove, Albin Lindblad, Donald Toumi, and Charles Oestmann.

600 Take LSD 'Trip' With Help of 4 Doctors

by SALLY LEIGHTON

Four doctors took 600 people on a trip to Fantasyland Tuesday night, but they left the LSD behind.

St. Viator's lecture series featured specialists in three medical fields in a discussion of the legends of LSD. They made their attitude toward the drug clear in the opening introductory comment by the moderator, "We do not come to praise LSD but to bury it."

The thoroughgoing attack on what the panel obviously considered a potentially dangerous chemical was completed by moderator Felix A. Krock, M.D., and Robert Kloempken, M.D., both of whom practice in Arlington Heights internal medicine; Allesandro Barchiesi, M.D., a Mount Prospect psychiatrist, and I. James Young, M.D., who practices neurology in Arlington Heights.

FAR FROM approaching the subject in a naughty-naughty doctor-knows-best frame of reference, each physician explored the drug's effects from his own special knowledge and viewpoint to clarify the meaning for laymen.

Dr. Klempken, after correcting a biographical sketch which indicated he was "interred" at Cook County hospital, cast aside the notion that drug-taking is a modern form of wickedness traceable to our loose ways of late. "Drug-taking is as old as man," he told the audience. "Modern man has no corner on addiction."

From ancient Aborigine to latterday Zen enthusiasts, who get their kicks by distorting normal perception, man has always sought to ease the pain, fatigue, or bewilderment of living. "Picture writing from 4000 B.C. depicts 'happiness plants' around which men gathered for surcease from care" Dr. Klempken told the group.

Running through typical forms of pain-killers and tension relievers from barbiturates to psychodelics such as LSD, Dr. Kloempken emphasized that the dangers of the latter far outweigh, at this time, any possible advantage for a casual user.

CHANGE of pace was provided by Dr. Young, who showed slides of the complexity of brain tissue and cells, "The ordinary man fails to appreciate the miracle of existence," he said. Taking the audience from the simplest to the most complex structures of the brain and cortex, he warned of oversimplifying the creation of synthetic psychotic states by any drug.

"It's a big step from a molecule to a psychosis. When we consider the complexity and organization of body structures, it is too much to assume that true psychosis can be caused by a single agent."

The unasked question in the auditorium was, then, "Why do people use it?"

DR. BARCHIESI read some excerpts of descriptions written by people under the influence of the drug which showed why at least some people take it. Barchiesi had administered LSD to a normal person in an experiment several years ago in a frank attempt to discover what made people take such "trips." The man was a creative person, extremely articulate, and was thus able to furnish a colorful account of what it was like to leave ordinary mortal vision.

"The drug's real effect is regressive," said Barchiesi. "The person under its influence realizes he is dependent upon others in a normal state to take care of him; while he enjoys the sensations of heightened appreciation of colors and 'meanings,' basically he is in a child-like condition as regards responsibility." Amusement, as well as a feeling of understanding deep meanings of things, permeate the psychological attitude of the user."

On a bad 'trip,' the reverse can happen, turning life into a chamber of horrors and at times, the user goes over the line into psychosis, a complete break from reality.

Dr. Krock, who led off the discussion with a summary of the ideas to be covered by others, handled the question period with verve and humor.

Dr. Barchiesi commented that those most interested in LSD are college students to whom the outside world is a somewhat frightening reality beyond the baccalureate; they need some kind of insight, some kind of meaning and balance against that challenge. Psychodelics give them the illusion of vision. (B10

Rains Ease Danger Of Fire in Forests

The rains that fell last weekend were especially welcomed by Cook County Forest Preserve rangers, able for the first time in weeks to relax their vigilance against the mounting danger of forest fires.

During the long, dry spell, patrolling of wooded areas was intensified, said James Mattson, superintendent of the northwest division of the Forest Preserve District of Cook County.

Rangers enforced an emergency ban prohibiting fires outside the regular shelters and were alert for any tell-tale wisp of smoke from a casually dropped cigarette or match. In the last few weeks millions of dry, new-fallen leaves had added to the hazard.

SPURRING THEIR watchfulness was the report of a 70-acre fire around Green Lake to the south, as well as news of several fires spotted in other areas.

Seven rangers covered the 16,000 acres of forest preserves in this area, which extends, roughly, from Devon Avenue north to the Lake County line, and from Wolf Road west to the Kane County line.

Forest fires are a constant menace in dry weather, Mattson said, and there are no new or magical rules to prevent their occurrence. (B10

AUTOMATIC LIBRARIES

A student in the near future dials a library number and states his study assignment and TV code. Then he switches on his closed circuit TV set and sits back and concentrates on an immediate televised program giving details, descriptions, pictures, reference books, etc. about the subject.
With the perfection of electronic memory storage devices and computing machines, these automatic libraries are being built on a limited scale, mostly experimental but will be available for most of us in our lifetime. The whole idea is a by-product of our space program with its intricate electronic network. # Harper Tuition Fees Revealed

The tuition to William Rainey Harper Junior College opening Sept. 13, 1967, has been set at $8 per semester hour for district residents.

The tuition will pay for about 24 per cent of the cost to educate the student. The state is expected to pay about 30 per cent of the cost, leaving the taxpayer to pick up the remaining 46 per cent.

Based on an average load of 15 hours per semester, a student will pay $120 tuition plus another $10 activity fee per semester.

COLLEGE President Robert Lahti said state law says a student must pay "less than one-third" of costs for his education.

The tuition makes Harper College costs higher than most state colleges and universities. However, students will not have room and board fees at the community college.

A study of other Class I junior colleges shows semester fees at $82.50 at Black Hawk, $75 at Triton and $54 at Rock Valley.

'Prospectin' Theme For Parents' Night

The theme for the first of two semi-annual meetings of the Prospect High School Parent-Teacher Council to be held Tuesday Oct. 25, at 7:15 p.m. is "Prospectin."

"Prospectin" parents attending the meeting at the high school will follow along the "prospectin" trail of their children, attending classrooms similar to the daily student schedule.

FOLLOWING the classroom visitation, parents and teachers will meet in the school cafeteria for a coffee break.

Five minute "rushes" will be on in the corridors between each of the six daily class periods. Teachers will have records available in all the classes to answer parents' questions regarding individual student progress, according to Roland C. Becker of Mount Prospect, council president. (A(M

Overrule Objection on Parks

Arlington Heights' objections to the proposed Prospect Heights Park District were overruled last Thursday by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Thaddeus V. Adesko.

According to Charles Bobinette, attorney for the Arlington Heights Park District, Adesko overruled all objections to the proposed park district and authorized the proponents of the new district to hold a referendum to constitute the district formally.

A TOTAL of five objections were filed against the proposed district.

Both the Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights park districts maintained that land within their potential realms was being included in the proposed district. Old Orchard and Rolling Green country clubs and the Wedgewood Terrace homeowners association also questioned the district's boundaries.

The Arlington Heights Park District specifically sought exclusion of property west of Schoenbeck Road.

Doctor Will Speak On Diabetic Child

"The Diabetic Child Can Live a Normal Life" will be discussed by Matthew M. Steiner, M.D., associate professor of pediatrics at Northwestern University Medical School, Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

The program, open to the public without charge, is sponsored by the Diabetes Association of Greater Chicago for parents of diabetic children as a health service.

Dr. Steiner, an attending physician at Children's Memorial Hospital, is a former president of the Diabetes Association of Greater Chicago and is a present member of the board.

A question and answer period will follow his talk.

Persons attending the meeting will receive a complimentary record entitled, "Bill Talbert Talks About His Diabetes and Yours." Talbert, a diabetic, was team captain of the U.S. Davis Cup Tennis Team.

MRS. ROBERT B. GRABITZ, Mrs. William J. Gallagher, and Mrs. Robert C. Buckley of Arlington Heights discuss campaign plans with State Representative Eugenia S. Chapman (D.-Arlington Heights), who is seeking re-election to the Illinois General Assembly November 8. Mrs. Grabitz and Mrs. Gallagher are co-chairmen of the women's division of the Citizens for Chapman committee, while Mrs. Buckley is special projects chairman. (ACM

Rep. Claubaugh Assesses State Educational Issues

Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh of Champaign, a member of the School Problems Commission for 16 years, gave a wide-ranging assessment of education issues last week at Tri-County Divisional meetings of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

He urged a "Yes" vote on the revenue act revisions, told his audience that he thought the Illinois Task Force on Education had "gone too far" in its recommendations for mandatory kindergarten and wondered out loud when the National Education Association would get "off the lobbying box and back into education."

CLABAUGH WAS keynote speaker at two Tri-County meetings — Wednesday at Adlai E. Stevenson High School in Prairie View just north of Buffalo Grove and Thursday at Proviso Township High School West in Hillside.

At Stevenson High, the audience — drawn mostly from the North Shore area — heard no favorable comments from Clabaugh regarding federal aid.

AT PROVISO West, however, the long-time assemblyman plumped for federal aid to schools — provided the funds were given in general aid, without strings attached. Current federal school funds come under categorical programs, each designed to be used for a specific purpose.

Clabaugh, a relative of Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 Supt. Ralph Clabaugh, told the Proviso West audience that he was "55 per cent for the revenue amendment and 45 per cent against it."

"I'm going to vote for it," he added. "I'm convinced we won't get any of the changes we feel need to be made until the uniformity clause is taken out of the constitution — and this amendment does it," the state representative explained.

Robert M. Cole, executive director of the Illinois Association of School Boards, also spoke at the Proviso West meeting to urge approval of the Revenue Article referendum. He pointed out that the IASB governing board supports the amendment.

COLE ADDED, however, that the IASB board's vote to support the revenue amendment changes drew 13 "Yes" votes, eight "No's" and four abstentions.

Rep. Clabaugh spent some time explaining changes in school state aid being considered by the Task Force, a "blue-ribbon" committee of 57 appointed by Governor Kerner, the state superintendent of public instruction and the School Problems Commission.

The Task Force, after a final Nov. 10 meeting to iron out differing views on recommendations they will make for financial and administrative structure changes, will issue a written report in December. Many of their recommendations will require legislative action.

Representative Clabaugh, a member of the Task Force himself, said at the Proviso West meeting he was dubious whether many of the "more controversial parts" of the Task Force report would be implemented by the legislature.

ACCEPTANCE of the recommended state aid increases — to a minimum expenditure of $600 per child in elementary school and $750 per student in high school — will cost Illinois $316 million a year more, Clabaugh said.

"You know and I know that's going to mean some additional taxes," he asserted.

THE STATE is already spending $285 million a year in school aid now, Clabaugh pointed out.

He also was dubious about the chances of Illinois getting an appointed state superintendent of public instruction. That change — supported by the IASB, most other major school-oriented organizations and both political parties — will require approval of a constitutional amendment.

"I have no illusions. The people of Illinois are not particularly interested in changing that," Representative Calbaugh declared. "There's going to have to be a groundswell come before the people give their approval."

CLABAUGH predicted that the Task Force will choose to recommend a "carrot" approach to school reorganization when the state committee meets Nov. 10 to approve that section of its report.

The Task Force has had proposed to it two methods of encouraging school reorganization — a semi-mandatory method involving school reorganization survey committee with strong powers and a "carrot" method which would provide financial inducements for district unification by sharply increasing state aid to larger unit districts.

Calbaugh told the Tri-County meeting at Proviso West he was confident that the state aid inducement method would be the one finally recommended by the Task Force. (A15

In Villa Park

Palmer Golf School Opens

Grand opening ceremonies for the new Arnold Palmer Indoor Golf School will be held this Saturday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Refreshments and prizes will highlight the day-long activities at the school, 240 W. St. Charles Rd., Villa Park.

The first of Arnie's schools to be located in the western suburbs, the Villa Park school will provide golfers with an opportunity to perfect a swing, put power in a drive or increase the accuracy of a putt in climate-controlled conditions 12 months per year.

ACCORDING TO owner and manager, Dick Ritz-Woller, the school will employ the exclusive Arnold Palmer method of golf instruction, a new and original teaching concept which includes systematic progression from basic golf etiquette to the fine points of putting.

Golf clinics and group classes will allow golfers to improve their technique under the supervision of a PGA golf professional, John Sloan. Students may enroll in beginning, intermediate or advanced classes. Private lessons also will be available.

Carefully programmed lesson plans assure uniform quality of instruction in all Arnold Palmer schools. The Villa Park golf school will feature all of the innovations Arnie has perfected to assist the dedicated golfer, Ritz-Woller said.

AMONG THESE are a closed-circuit TV camera which records the golfer's swing with an instant play-back on video-tape. This enables the student to study his own form and enables the instructor to point out and correct faults more readily.

Another exclusive feature of the school will be a practice sand trap, constructed to resemble actual playing conditions. Students may practice all types of explosion shots in the trap. Chipping areas, a putting green and a driving net also are available so the golfer and instructor may work with virtually any problem encountered on an open course.

A pro shop on the premises will be stocked with a complete line of Arnold Palmer equipment and sportswear.

IEA Members Study Delegate Proposal

Northwest suburban Illinois Education Association members, at their representative assembly meeting next Thursday at 4 p.m. in Thomas Junior High School, Arlington Heights, will be asked to approve a policy to give more grassroots representation at the coming state convention.

Recommended is a proposal by which each local teachers association will choose its own delegates to the convention Dec. 26-28.

PREVIOUSLY, the Northwest Suburban Division's executive board has chosen division delegates to the convention.

Under the proposal, the District 214 Teachers Association, and the District 15 Educators Association would name four delegates each, the District 25 Arlington Teachers Association and the District 59 Teachers Council would each select three delegates.

Other local associations would have two delegates each, with the exception of the smaller District 23 Prospect Heights Association and River Trails Education Association, each of which would have one delegate.

Six other delegates would come from the executive board of the northwest suburban division. (B10

Democratic Women Overflow Club to Hear Mrs. Humphrey

by PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

Women flocked by the thousands to the Post and Paddock Club at Arlington Park in Arlington Heights Tuesday noon to hear Sen. Paul Douglas and see Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, who spoke on his behalf.

From many Chicago suburbs and even as far away as Wisconsin they came, about 3,500 of them. The second floor of the Post and Paddock was jammed to the elbows as the ladies dined on a roast beef luncheon hostessed by Mrs. Marge Everett, the owner of Arlington Park.

At a press conference following the luncheon, Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, wife of the Democratic senator, agreed it had been "colossal."

SMILING AND with her arm around the wife of the vice president, Mrs. Douglas said, "I called her and she came."

Mrs. Humphrey, attractive in a purple suit and light pink high-necked blouse that complemented her neatly-groomed silver gray hair, said of Sen. Douglas:

"He represents not only Illinois but the entire country. He has fought for the causes we believe in for years."

Mrs. Humphrey's reputation as a seamstress has undoubtedly won her much admiration from the nation's homemakers, but she admitted that the life of the wife of a vice president leaves her no time for sewing. She does work with a dress designer in her home town of Minneapolis in planning her wardrobe, she said.

ON HER TRAVELS around the world with the vice president she has purchased materials, she said, and on his trips her husband often has bought fabrics for her. It's fun to try her own ideas with these, she commented.

Asked whether they had observed any changes around the country since Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson began her beautification campaign, Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. Douglas agreed that Lady Bird had created a "public awareness."

The vice president's wife said she particularly had noticed more attention to appearance of buildings as she and her husband approached many communities from the air. She mentioned a parking lot in Minneapolis which utilizes evergreens in winter and flower boxes in summer to Mrs. Johnson, she said, and Lady Bird asked her to thank the parking lot operators for their efforts.

"To us women, beauty does make a difference," said Mrs. Humphrey. "It is a necessity. We don't want a metropolis without it."

ONE WOMAN asked Mrs. Humphrey if she had a message for young homemakers.

"I consider the young women as the repository of our ideas and goals," she answered. "I hope they will take the leadership of these."

"I'm not turning the leadership over to them yet," she added with a soft laugh.

"To participate in political affairs is important," she continued. "To listen is good, to participate is best."

She urged young women to be active, "To find out why you're for a candidate and what hard work it is to campaign."

AT THE LUNCHEON the women attending heard Sen. Douglas and Mrs. Humphrey and were treated to some entertainment by an unexpected guest, Jimmy Durante. Mrs. Richard J. Daley, wife of Chicago's mayor, was introduced to the crowd.

Mrs. Humphrey was to attend the Heart Association benefit showing of "Hawaii" in Chicago Tuesday evening and then proceed to Kansas City, Mo., for a meeting of the National Association for Retarded Children. She is a member of its advisory committee and was slated as speaker at the board of directors banquet Wednesday night. (A15

'Be Good To Doctors' Day's Theme

"Be Good To Doctors' Day" was Tuesday at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines.

All day long doctors received unique VIP treatment in many of the hospital's departments.

A vibrating pillow massage, Hawaiian sun lamp treatment, slim-trim bicycle exercises, electric back scratchers and an apple for strength gave "Instant Health" for Busy Doctors in 50 seconds.

Holy Smokes cigars for doctors were found on patient treatment trays. The pharmacy had a prize drawing.

Tuesday was feast day of St. Luke, patron saint of medicine.

PALATINE SQUARES

Saturday is "dance with Jim Stewart" night for the Palatine Squares, and everyone's invited to the do-ci-doings. Jim will square 'em up at 8:30 in Pleasant Hill School, Illinois and Cedar Streets in Palatine; the Daniels, Jerry and Dot, will lead the rounds between tips. There'll be coffee and doughnuts to refresh everyone after the dancing ends at 11:30. Y'all come!

Palatine Squares dance the second and fourth Saturday nights of every month, Bob Poyner taking the mike for the second Saturday sessions. Full information about the club may be obtained by calling the Harold Crittendens of Palatine, FL 9-1735, or the Al Knodels in Chicago, KI 5-9530.

GLENVIEW SQUARES

The Bert Rietz special of Sept. 30 was a whoopin' success according to reports from two clubs - the hosts in Glenview and a sizable group from Arlington Squares who accepted Glenview's "come get your banner" challenge. Arlington Heights dancers had fun, retrieved their club pennant and applaud the Glenview decision to sign up Rietz for a return engagement next year.

TOMORROW NIGHT'S dance heralds the coming of the haunting season, and Spook Badges, Halloweenish refreshments and prizes for costumes will add to the usual good time. The ol' mesmerizer, Ed Hempel, will be at the mike in Lyons School, squarin' 'em up at 8 o'clock. Glenview newcomers, May and Gerry Hoffberg, will be there too, to cue the round dances. The school is located at Waukegan and Lake Avenues in Glenview.

Lessons for beginners are still available for those who'd like to join the square dance boom. Ed Hempel is the teacher, Mrs. Ed (Virginia) is his helper and the number to call for full information or to register is 272-2654. Marge or Fred Nitschke will answer the phone and your questions.

BUCKS AND DOES

DANCERS IN THE Elk Grove area are invited to join the Bucks and Does Saturday night when guest caller, Rip Riskey of Traverse City, Mich., will take the mike. The evening's schedule will also include round dancing led by Carl and Marie Peterson. Rip will get things swinging at 8 o'clock. Join the group, Saturday night, in Dempster Junior High School, Dempster Road and Route 83.

Bucks and Does dance the second and fourth Saturday nights of every month - same place, same time - and guests are always welcome.

SQUARE WHEELS

JIM SMITH will be at the mike tomorrow night for the Square Wheels' annual Halloween party in the American Legion Hall, Butterfield Road and Spring Street, Elmhurst. As veteran Wheels know, part of the club's spook season tradition is a king-sized batch of Donna Lichty's homemade doughnuts - literally hundreds of 'em. Donna is out of town right now and husband Bob will be the baker, but club members urge everyone to attend the party anyway. Bob was well schooled before Donna departed so his sinkers will live up to the Lichty reputation.

Jim squares 'em up at 8:30, immediately following a half-hour round dance session with Jerry and Dot Daniels. Further information is available via Mrs. James Verber, 497 Alexander St., Elmhurst; phone, 832-6996.

Schlickman in Republican Credit Group

State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman (R-Arlington Hegihts) was named this week to the Illinois Legislature's Republican Committee on consumer credit legislation. The appointment was made by Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), majority leader of the Illinois State Senate.

Schlickman said he believes, "The consumer credit committee is going to have one of the toughest jobs facing the legislature this session. It's going to be our assignment to investigate and review proposals for effective interest rate limits and other possible restrictions on consumer charges."

Schlickman said the GOP committee is "determined to come up with legislation tuned to curb credit abuses currently being foisted on the public, while protecting the honest businessman."

Schlickman is seeking reelection on Nov. 8 to the Illinois House as representative of the evening. (A15

Penney's Golf Mill Store Opens Today

Members of the press pulled the wraps off the new J. C. Penney store in Golf Mill shopping center in Niles Monday, with the general public expected to pour into the new facility this Thursday, Oct. 20.

Golf Mill is located at junction of Route 58 and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles. Penney's expects thousands of persons to attend the opening this weekend.

Penney stores from coast to coast form the greatest number of retail department stores under one name in the world. In 1965, the Penney Co. did almost $2.3 billion worth of business.

Each Penney store, whether in a city like Minneapolis or in a town like Enterprise, Ore., with a population of a few thousand, is a "home-town" store, with policies tracing back to the first Penney store more than half a century ago.

In 1902, James Cash Penney opened a cash-and-carry store in a little frame building in the frontier coal mining town of Kemmerer, Wyo. He invested his entire savings of $500 plus $1,500 he borrowed to buy one-third interest in the 25 by 40-foot store. Population of Kemmerer was 1,000. Penney had rejected an opportunity to manage a store in Ogden, Utah, then a "metropolis" of 35,000, because he understood small town folk, knew their needs and how to serve them, and sympathized with their desire to "live simply, but well."

Penney called his store the "Golden Rule." His idea was to apply the golden rule philosophy to business. He knew it meant pioneering a new merchandising idea, radical in the cut-throat competition of the early 1900's. He determined to sell merchandise at prices as low as possible and introduced the then-novel idea of one price to all. Many sales at small profits, he reasoned, were better than a few sales at large profits. Quick turnover of merchandise gave him a continuous flow of working capital to buy merchandise.

In 1909, Penney gave up personal management of the Kemmerer store and established headquarters in Salt Lake City. This was the first step toward centralized buying, with groups of the more experienced managers-owners traveling to wholesale markets together and pooling their knowledge and experience in the interest of all the stores.

In 1910, eight new stores were opened, making a total of 14 stores doing an annual business of more than half a million dollars. By 1912, there were 34 stores with total sales of more than $2 million. In 1913, company headquarters were moved to New York City.

While each store adapts itself to the needs of the community it serves, the Central Office in the J. C. Penney Building on New York's Avenue of the Americas is geared to provide whatever a Penney store needs. There is a buying staff of about 350, each an expert in his field who knows his product from the raw fiber stage, through the designing right down to the complicated processes of manufacture of the finished product.

FOR GOOD OLD FASHIONED FUN you can't beat Halloween for the kids. It's their night, and this year there will be more weird comic books and TV characters and strange-looking animals than ever before. But according to J. E. Nelson, manager of the Randhurst Montgomery Ward store, the "veterans" of Halloween, the ghosts, clowns, devils, witches, tramps and skeletons, will still make up the largest number of "Trick or Treat" bell ringers.

Curbside Mailbox Policy Rescinded

Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien has rescinded a May 1962 order requiring rural-type delivery in new subdivisions, U. S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) announced Monday. The Post Office Department order has proven highly unpopular in the northwest suburbs.

An aide for Rumsfeld said the congressman was delighted that the order — implemented on the basis of being a time and labor saving policy — had been withdrawn. Rumsfeld has been a critic of post office policies, including the 1963 order.

O'BRIEN WROTE Rumsfeld: "I am pleased to inform you that I am rescinding a department order of May 1963 which banned door-to-door city mail delivery for new residential areas. This order has been in effect for 2½ years prior to my taking office, and I have found it inequitable and a contributing factor to mail service problems."

The postmaster general said that "effective immediately postmasters will be given authority to determine where and how door-to-door delivery may be substituted for motorized curbside service." Regional post office directors, O'Brien said, would act on recommendations from the local postmasters.

Rumsfeld said the communities most immediately affected in the northwest suburbs are Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Palatine and Bartlett.

He said "this policy was inequitable and unnecessary, as my large file of correspondence with the postmaster general indicates. In keeping with Mr. O'Brien's directive, I hope that the rural type service will soon be discontinued in Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Palatine, Bartlett and other locations in the 13th District.

"My only regret is that it took more than a year (since Rumsfeld took up the fight) for the Post Office Department to reverse its earlier position."

Will Put Babies on View Early

Babies born at Oak Park Hospital, Oak Park, can go on view for fathers, grandparents, and relatives as soon as the babies' mothers give the "go ahead" signal.

Sister St. Valerie, S.M., newly appointed OB supervisor, announced this special privilege for the hospital maternity floor.

Visiting hours are Monday through Friday from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Only one visitor at a time will be permitted.

During the last year more than 1,390 babies were born at Oak Park Hospital, including 16 sets of twins. This total number of babies represents 20 communities in the Chicagoland area. (B10

Latin Rhythm Is Randhurst Feature

During Randhurst's October Harvest of Values, October 20, 21, 22, the Merchants Association in cooperation with Eastern Airlines will present a new twist (or maybe a cha-cha) to their outstanding schedule of events.

Highlighting the program will be the Latin American music of Vitin Santiago and his orchestra. Santiago is a native of Puerto Rico and a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico. He has played all over the world and brings a wonderful selection of Mombo's, Cha-Cha-Cha's, Merengues, and Bosa-nova's to Randhurst. The music will be featured Thursday, 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. and from 9:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. On Friday, the orchestra will play from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

IN CONNECTION with this event, the Randhurst Merchants' Association will provide a free trip for two to Miami Beach Via Eastern Airlines. The couple will fly on one of Eastern's Whisperjets to Miami. Upon their arrival, they will be whisked to the friendliest resort hotel in Miami Beach . . . The Atlantic Towers. For seven days and six nights they will enjoy the hotel's private beach and salt water pool with its colorful cabanas.

During the three-day Randhurst October Harvest of Values Eastern Airlines representative will be on the mall in order to answer questions and give travel advice. Of special interest to the public will be the new Eastern Charge system which works like a department store charge account and Eastern's new Youth Fare Program.

Announce 1967-68 College Calendar

The 1967-68 calendar for the opening year of William Rainey Harper Junior College has been adopted by the college board.

The calendar covers two semesters plus an eight-week summer session, running from Sept. 8, 1967, through Aug. 16, 1968.

Registration for the first semester will be Sept. 8, 11 and 12 with classes beginning Sept. 13. Final examinations for the semester will be from Jan. 22 to Jan. 27, 1968.

The second semester registration will be Jan. 31 through Feb. 2 and classes will begin Feb. 5. Final examinations will be June 3 through June 7.

THE SUMMER session will have registration June 13 and 14 and begin classes June 17. Finals will be Aug. 15 and 16.

Vacations through school will include Thanksgiving, Nov. 23 through 26; Christmas, Dec. 22 through Jan. 7; spring, April 8 through 15; Memorial Day, May 30; and Independence Day, July 4 through 7.

The board is considering opening the college either in Elk Grove High School on an evening basis or in temporary facilities at the college site for a daytime program. Administrators are comparing costs of each proposal.

Dr. Robert Lahti, college president, reported to the board Thursday that the high school could be rented for $75 per full-time student per year. This rental would be adjusted when operating costs were analyzed at the high school closing in June.

THE COLLEGE would have use of all classrooms, full use of the gymnasium, partial use of the field house and theater and 75 per cent of the library space, Lahti said. The college could have use of the cafeteria 75 per cent of the time and could erect temporary buildings on the high school campus he reported.

The costs of putting classroom trailers on the college campus are estimated at $600,000. (B-10

College Bond Funds To Draw Interest

A $3,375,000 portion of a bond issue that taxpayers of Harper College District 512 approved in June will start earning interest for the college.

College officials plan to invest the money from the sale of bonds until the funds are needed for construction or land purchase. Another $4 million in bonds authorized by the same referendum has not yet been sold.

James Perry, college business manager, reported to the board Oct. 13 that $725,000 would be invested in certificates of deposit in area and Chicago banks.

Perry said the college expects to pay around $100,000 Nov. 1 for property. It also must deposit with the Illinois Building Authority enough money to represent the value of the land for the first construction phase.

THE REST OF the money will be invested in either U.S. treasury notes or Federal National Mortgage bills, depending on the rate of interest, Perry said.

He said the Illinois statutes give junior colleges authority to invest in four ways: certificates of deposit, U.S. treasury bills, Federal National Mortgage bills and savings and loan associations.

Board member Bud Bernstein said he did not recommend investment in savings and loan but the other three forms will be used.

Bernstein figured the college would lose about $500 by not investing all money in Chicago banks.

"But that type of good will comes back to us," Bernstein said. "If we have to get tax anticipation warrants for three or four months, local banks will be inclined to give us these at rates that will save at least as much."

He said it was also important to establish good will among loop banks. Whether it pays off is a gamble, he said.

HARPER COLLEGE is depositing $100,000 in each of these Chicago loop banks: American National and Trust, First National Bank of Chicago, Northern Trust Company, Harris Trust and Savings and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago.

The college will deposit $25,000 in each of these local banks: First Arlington National Bank, The Bank of Arlington Heights, Bank of Elk Grove, First National Bank of Mount Prospect, First State Bank of Palatine, Palatine National Bank, Bank of Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg State Bank, and Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank. (B10

WILLIAM URBANEK (left), a representative of the northwest suburban division of the Illinois Education Association, discusses plans for the November 8 election with State Representative Eugenia S. Chapman (D.-Arlington Heights) and her campaign manager, Thomas K. McShane. The local IEA division has endorsed Mrs. Chapman's candidacy.

Harper Adopts 1967 Policies

The board of William Rainey Harper Junior College has adopted several policies regarding the school's opening Sept. 13, 1967.

Among adoptions were statements of admission, residence, academic freedom and fringe benefits.

The college will have an open admission policy. All high school graduates are eligible for admission and non-graduates, 18 or older, may be admitted by demonstrating capacity and maturity.

Students will be classified as district residents, Illinois non-district residents or out-of-state residents to determine tuition and fees. Students also will be classified as minors who reside with parents or adults, 21 or older, who have established their own residences.

The policy on academic freedom was based on statements of academic freedom by the American Association of University Professors and the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

It guarantees the faculty free expression and investigation on a question and the students the right to arrive at their own conclusions.

The fringe benefit policy was essentially the same the board earlier approved and sent to the attorney for study. The board dropped credit cards as a benefit until later consideration when Attorney Frank Hines said such use of credit would circumvent statutory provisions.

He said credit should not be incurred before the board approves the expenditure. The fringe benefit committee had proposed credit cards be used for travel of administrators.

THE 1919 OWEN MAGNETIC

Those who are distinguished for their Owen Magnetic Motor Cars are strict individualists, though not bizarre.

Their town and country houses, their gardens, all their possessions are far from the commonplace.

And so when it comes to a car, they insist on getting away from the monotonous. Up and down the Avenue, or at the Opera, or at the Country Club — wherever the world of fashion congregates — certain cars distinguish the vivid personalities from the drab.

Each Owen Magnetic expresses this idea of obtrusive elegance. Exterior and interior colors and upholstering are decided upon by the owner.

All the appointments show careful selections — such as the silver hardware, the lighting fixtures, the carpeting. The most casual observer knows instantly that the owner is a person of faultless taste.

Just as the Owen banishes the commonplace in appearance, so does it eliminate the mechanical crudities of yesteryear. At the touch of finger-tip this great car is in complete control — giant power leaps across an air space from engine to wheels. No gear shifting — no clanking noises — no jerks nor lunges — just a quiet, floating sensation, entirely different!

Attractive brochure, adequately describing the Owen Magnetic, will be mailed upon request.

Forest View Debaters In First Meet

By NANCY KURTZ

Forest View High School's varsity debate team compiled a four win — four loss record at District 214's first debate tournament of the season Saturday. The affirmative team won one and lost three; the negative won three and lost one.

The contest was held at Arlington High School.

Chaos in the Crew! It's The Arlington Talent Show

By SHELLEY HAMILTON

Yes, it is Talent Show Time at Arlington.

Two hundred students flock from Arlington's boys gym at 6:30 p.m. on the dot. A few of the more ambitious ones remain in the foyer practicing their numbers over and over.

Nancy Anderson and Mel Johnson, the teacher-directors, have been organizing "A Deck of Cards oar Shuffle Aboard" for two weeks now.

Michael Grant, student coordinator, busies himself with the difficulties of obtaining properties or executing various stage maneuvers.

FOR INSTANCE, how is the recreational director of the ship going to sail down from the ceiling to the stage? Or, should the canes be left this color, or should they be painted black?

Meanwhile, the student director, Pat Smith, attempts to make the singers' voices more audible by yelling at them to PROJECT!

Yes, it is Talent Show Time at Arlington. Chaos reigns over the students as they go from one scene to another, rehearsing and rerehearsing.

Miss Anderson teaches frustrated dancers the steps that she has choreographed, while Johnson sits in front of the stage, contemplating whether or not to walk out this early.

Students mill about the boys' gym deciding whether to go right home or to go eat dinner at Jimmy's. Other students, hoarse from projecting, repeat their songs over and over, memorizing the words or the tune.

THE CREW, overcoming a delay in getting the wood and paint, displays its celerity in attempting to finish the boat, the clam, the doors, and the canes on time.

Yes, it is Talent Show Time at Arlington. Morning announcers deliver their announcements to students whose wide-awake eyes skim through a reading assignment or to students who completed their work last night and are using the first few minutes of the school day to sleep.

Teachers teach classes of listless students who hum a certain tune over and over or give detentions to those whom they see hopping, skipping, or jumping down the hall, obviously trying to learn a dance.

Costumes are being made, make-up assignments are being handed out, and programs and tickets are being printed.

YES, IT IS Talent Show Time at Arlington. Aside from the long hours of rehearsal, the suspense of being ready to sail is killing the directors, cast, and crew.

The audience at Arlington's Boys' Gym Fri., Oct. 28 or Sat., Oct. 29, will find out whether or not the Cards sailed.

Jenness Takes Role In Safety Program

L. S. Jenness, principal of Forest View High School, will be a featured participant in the October 24-27 Motor Transportation Conference Program at the LaSalle Hotel in Chicago.

The Conference, a part of the 1966 National Safety Congress and Exposition, is sponsored by the National Safety Council.

Jenness' role in the "Safety on Trial" section of the program will be to portray the part of a high school principal whose school bus is involved in an accident. He has been "subpoenaed" to testify at a mock hearing investigating the causes of the accident.

L. S. JENNESS

"THIS IS AN attempt to analyze the many complex elements that can contribute to a motor vehicle accident," according to Stanly A. Ossman, chairman of the program committee of the conference.

The accident chosen for the hearing involves three vehicles: a truck, a school bus and a transit bus. It also involves such elements as poor driving, poor maintenance (vehicle and traffic control), poor supervision, poor management, poor community safety and a host of other vital components in an accident, Ossman added.

Jenness said that one reason he is participating in this program is that as a principal of a suburban high school dependent upon school buses for student transportation to and from school and for school-related activities, he is vitally interested in the safety factors involved.

"You see, about 90 per cent of the students at Forest View High School use buses for school transportation," he said. "This type of accident could happen anywhere at any time."

Using a pseudo accident involving many elements of actual accidents that occur, "Safety on Trial" is designed to focus attention on the complete array of events and conditions that take place when an accident happens.

By using the techniques employed in a typical Blue Ribbon Grand Jury (i.e., claimants, defendants, witnesses, national authorities and accident prevention specialists), the hearing will provide the little-known insight into the complexities of an accident, Ossman said. "The study of the anatomy of an accident will provide a guide to the prevention of accidents by engineering the elimination of contributory causes of an accident."

EACH PARTICIPANT in the program will use a script which contains the suggestions of the participants. "With their (the participants') chosen occupations or employment situations during their careers as the background for their testimony at the hearing, we are attempting to provide authentic, knowledgeable information to the 'Grand Jury' and to the delegates who will be asked to judge the relationship of contributing factors in an accident," Ossman said.

"When the witnesses are heard and all the pronouncements are made," he added, "we challenge anyone to claim a simple, single responsibility of a driver, a vehicle or a traffic condition as THE cause."

He said that the nation's approach to safety will actually be on trial. "We are confident that, through the method of testimony of experts, we can establish a pattern of accident prevention that will be an effective means for accomplishing the results inherent in the Action Program for Highway Safety.

"The need to understand this 'blueprint' was never greater. Nor has it been so apparent as now — how little is known about it in official circles as well as among the political and safety population," Ossman said.

Ex-Football Player 'Babysits' The Children

by MARYANN BUCZEK

"The biggest part of a road manager's job is babysitting," says Ken Niese, who performs this function for one of Chicagoland's most popular combos, Saturdays Children.

Niese is a 23-year old perfectionist whose main concern is ironing out wrinkles in the Children's performances, and giving the group a polished image.

Before becoming a road manager, he performed at Chicago night spots, first with The Rogues and later as one of The Four Bidden Pleasures.

During March, when Saturdays Children were being organized, Niese spent his weekends at the Cellar in Arlington Heights listening to the group.

"I KNEW GEORGE Pall, the drummer, for quite a while because he lived about a block away from me.

"Little by little I got to know the rest of the boys, and once while we were talking they decided to get a road manager. All five of them pointed at me, and here I am: road manager, confidant, and 'Big Brother.' "

Saturdays Children's "big brother" is responsible for all of the seemingly insignificant details that add to the total personality of a group of performers.

He has to handle on-the-spot business transactions — such as last minute contracts — the greeting of club managers and keeping his charges out of trouble.

The necessity of the last duty is obvious. At one club several months ago, The Children were threatened by a group of about 30 boys. It was their road manager's task to talk to the crowd and settle the awkward situation.

Because of the great distance among the group's respective homes, they get together at least a day before each performance to decide upon a time to meet at the Cellar before heading for their destination.

It is one of Niese's responsibilities as "big brother" to see that adequate transportation is available and to make sure the group is on time.

Upon arriving at the appointed club or school, usually four hours prior to the performance, he settles the Children in their dressing rooms and attends to the equipment.

WORKING WITH Bill Wargin, equipment manager, and Wargin's assistant, Tim Coniglio, Niese sets up instruments and amplifiers, tests the speaker system and arranges the stage to his satisfaction.

"After everything is complete, and the lighting is appropriate, I meet with the Children to make sure that each of them is sure of even the smallest detail involved with the show," Niese added.

During the sets, Niese can frequently be seen running around backstage and in the audience doing what might appear to be an Indian ceremonial dance.

Actually each of his gestures are important signals for Geoff Bryan, the group's leader.

Niese says that he can hear discrepancies from off stage that are not noticeable to the combo, and he must indicate to them any necessary corrections in the sound system.

It is also up to him to watch the time for each set as it is difficult for the musicians to judge time intervals while on stage.

Every set is planned to end with a strategically strong number. If all scheduled songs are used 15 to 20 minutes before the end of the set, Niese must inform Geoff of the additional number of songs required before the finish.

From his enthusiasm, it is obvious that he loves his work and nearly idolizes his "adopted brothers."

But not all of his chores are pleasant. Frequently Niese must revert to his role of "babysitter" and curtail some of the group's activities.

"MOST OF THE TIME after a show when the boys want to leave the hotel and unwind, I have to be a bully and veto the idea to prevent trouble."

When asked how he exerts his authority in a difference of opinion, the effervescent young man replied that he uses his "secret weapon."

"When I was 70 pounds heavier," he said, completely failing in an attempt to look like a bully, "I played pro football.

"Now when there's any discussion about who's right, I threaten to use my 250-pound personality on them.

They see the wisdom of my ideas pretty quickly!"

Bands to Battle At Fremd Audition

By CHRISTI Ebert

A Battle of the Bands will be staged in Fremd High School cafeteria Saturday from 7 to 11 p.m. Sponsored by the Palatine High School Student Council, the purpose of the competition will be to audition groups for school dances.

Palatine High students may attend the contest for 25 cents. They will vote for their favorite combos on the way out.

At least one member of each group must be a student at Palatine or Fremd. There are no restrictions as to the size or types of groups or instruments, but each group must provide its own equipment, including microphones.

Jim Ebert, Student Council second vice-president and chairman of the auditions, announced that the school will open at 1 p.m. Saturday for the groups to set up. Only the first 16 groups will be able to compete. All participants are to be set up by 6 p.m. Saturday.

Two outlets and a riser for the drummer will be provided for each group. Jacks or extension cords needed must be brought by each group. No union-affiliated combos may enter.

Each band will be allowed 15 minutes to play whatever it wants — ten minutes at first, and after all the other groups have played, five minutes more.

Then the audience will vote for the best group, judging appearance, showmanship, sound, and choice of music. Five or six of the best groups will play for coke dances and will then be eligible to play for a larger dance. Winners will be notified by Sunday.

Neatness, appropriate dress and hair will be important. Chosen groups must be able to play for any Friday or Saturday on one or two weeks' notice.

St. Viator Homecoming Is Launched

By BILL EVEN

St. Viator High School's third homecoming celebration was launched Sunday night with a sock hop featuring the Amboy Males. Preparations have been carried out for the parade and festivities starting Friday night.

Iver Buerck and his orchestra will be featured tomorrow (Friday) in the formal dance from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the Red Lion Room. Tickets for 225 couples are being sold during the student lunch periods.

IN ORDER to get the students really fired up for Sunday's game, an outdoor sock hop and pep rally will be held in the school parking lot Saturday night.

The Homecoming parage will leave the school for the stadium at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Game time is 2 p.m. at Prospect Stadium.

The parade with ceremonies for the king, queen, and attendants will begin the halftime activities. Parents of the senior varsity players also will be honored at this time.

After the game a stand-up supper is open to all in the cafeteria. (16Y

Dream Land Is Lebanon

by BARBARA ROMANO

MEET DREAM Dawn Qlaylate, an Egyptian foreign student from Beirut, Lebanon. She is presently attending classes at Forest View High School.

An exotic dancer at Forest View High School?

Yes, her name is Dream Dawn Qlaylate, a 15-year-old student from Beirut, Lebanon.

Dream is a senior at Forest View and has been in different high schools since she was 11 years old. This is mainly because where she comes from, school is a great deal harder academically.

As for sports, Dream says, "They are about the same, but more girls than boys participate in gymnastics in Lebanon. There are more things for girls to do."

Dream has been in the United States almost six years and has traveled all over Europe and approximately 25 states. Before moving here, she lived in California.

In her leisure, she likes to go to parties, dances and loves to play billiards. She also likes to sing and dance. She can sing in English, Spanish and of course, Egyptian. She also knows dances of these countries.

Her favorite singers are Elvis Presley and the Supremes.

When asked what she thought of American boys, she replied, "I like them a lot!" (16Y

Council members represent more than 160 popular magazines and will accept new and renewal subscriptions. Renewals will be added on when the current subscription ends, Mercier explained.

Council members hope to raise enough money to purchase a large lighted sign for the entrance showing the name of the school, and a limited number of coming events. (16Y

1st Dance a 'Turnabout'

A Sadie Hawkins and Lil' Abner will be crowned at Elk Grove High School's first big dance, to be held Saturday night, Oct. 22 from 8 to 11 p.m. Winners will be chosen by the student body.

The turnabout requires the girls to take the initiative — from picking up their respective escorts for the night, whom they have the opportunity of asking, providing the usual corsage, and even opening the doors for him — complete 'turnabout' style. Farmer costumes will be worn. And this time it's the 'woman' who pays. Tickets are $2 a couple.

Refreshments will also be available in the cafeteria where the dance will be held, according to Ray Bauer, junior class president, and dance chairman.

Arlington Tutoring Program Revised

This year, once again, students of Arlington High School will have the opportunity to devote special attention to academic subjects through a special tutoring program which was initiated last year by Bonnie Marks.

The purpose of the tutoring service is to assist teachers in giving special attention to those students who need help, but may be unable to receive help from their teachers.

Formerly, the tutoring service was handled by the National Honor Society. But its limited enrollment prevented this organization from handling all the students who needed help.

LAST YEAR the program was extended to recruiting students from fast classes to help instruct those in average or slow classes. This year the system has been revised to involve only those students on the junior or senior honor rolls.

Bonnie Marks, who formulated the idea of an open tutoring system, has some definite ideas as to the value of a program of this sort. She believes that this program enables a failing student to help himself.

Many times, older teachers are unable to communicate with the student. In the tutoring program, however, a student can receive an answer in a manner which he will understand.

Many times the enthusiasm that the tutor displays will influence the failing student and in many cases, cause him to appreciate the subject much more.

The tutoring system is helping not only the students being taught, but also the tutors themselves. This program gives an intelligent student the opportunity to work with others, many times creating the desire to become a teacher.

Props in Spotlight In Fenton's Play

By JOHN MILLARD

Fenton High School's theater classes are preparing the scenery and props for the school's fall play, "Macbeth," to be presented Nov. 3-5. at Blackhawk Junior High, Church Road, Bensenville.

" 'Macbeth' will be the first play in which almost all of the props will be hand-made by theater students," director Robert Dahlstrom said.

Needed for the play are such things as 11th Century helmets and shields as well as goblets, utensils, jewelry and weapons. The helmets, goblets and jewelry will be made of laminated plastic, and then painted. The shields will be of metal and the weapons will be wood.

FENTON'S drama department is purchasing a few modified broadswords from the firm that made the weapons used in the film "Cleopatra."

Ten suits of chain-mail armor have been designed and are being made from grey satin. Working on these and the other costumes to be used in the play are Mrs. Morris Vick and Mrs. Robert Dahlstrom.

Technical director, Richard Bridenthal is the man in charge of props. Bridenthal's crew has already begun to transport some of the props from Fenton to the junior high.

Tickets for the play will go on sale Monday, Oct. 24 at the school. There are more than 700 tickets available for each of the three performances. Price for students is 75 cents and adults, $1.25. (5Y

It does all the work,
but on Saturday night which one goes to the party?

Once upon a time there was an ugly little bug. It could go about 27 miles on just one gallon of gas. It could go about 40,000 miles on just one set of tires. And it could park in tiny little crevices no bigger than a bug.

It was just right for taking father to the train or the kids to school. Or to take mother to the grocery store, drugstore, dime store and all the enchanting places mothers go when everyone else is working.

The ugly little bug was just like one of the family. But alas, it wasn't beautiful.

So for any important occasion the poor ugly little bug would be replaced. By a big beautiful chariot, drawn by 300 horses!

Then, after a time, a curious thing happened. The ugly little bug (which was made very sturdily) never got uglier.

But the big beautiful chariot didn't exactly get more beautiful. In fact, in a few years its beauty began to fade. Until, lo and behold, the ugly little bug didn't look as ugly as the big beautiful chariot! The moral being: if you want to show you've gotten somewhere, get a big beautiful chariot. But if you simply want to get somewhere, get a bug.

D. O. Class Elects New Officers

One of the special classes offered at Prospect High School is the diversified occupations class, composed of 25 students learning skills and technically related information about the career they have chosen from the 16 offered in the course.

Chosen by the class to be officers are seniors John Winsauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Winsauer, 3 N. Maple, Mount Prospect, as president; Ron Cowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cowan, 100 N. Main, Mount Prospect, vice-president; Diane Zytkiewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Zytkiewicz, 407 N. Russell, Mount Prospect, secretary; and juniors Jill Podzimek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Podzimek, 633 N. Forrest, Arlington Hts., reporter; Jim Fazzio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fazzio, 114 Bobby Lane, Mount Prospect, treasurer; and Linda Markowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Markowski, 221 S. Main, Mount Prospect, parliamentarian.

Several employers of the surrounding communities have already contacted the D.O. coordinator Alfred E. DiPietro, requesting student learners for their particular occupational fields. DiPietro has been able to send some students for interviews, but more students are needed.

Students interested in learning the skills and other technical information concerning a field in which they are interested should see their counselor or DiPietro and must have eight credits and be 16 years of age. (11Y

Arlington Play Cast Is Chosen

By SHELLEY HAMILTON

Cast members for Arlington High School's fall play, "Ah! Wilderness," have been announced.

Senior Harry Tennant will portray Nat Miller, the owner of the Evening Globe, with junior Nancy Harris as his wife Essie.

The lead, Richard Miller, will be characterized by junior Steve Busch. The other Miller children will be played by seniors Steve Clark and Sue LeBeau as Arthur and Mildred respectively, with junior Bob Eckstrand as their 11-year-old brother, Tommy.

Senior Pat Smith will play opposite junior Curt Wilson as Lilly, Nat's sister; Curt will be characterizing Sid Davis, Essie's brother.

Lilly, although she still loves Sid, broke off their engagement 16 years prior to the opening of the play. Aside from Richard's predicament involving young love, Lilly and Sid provide a poignant picture of a tender, mellow love.

RICHARD'S girl friend, Murial, will be presented by junior Cindy A. Johnson. Muriel's father, David McComber, is portrayed by junior Bob Kindler. Mr. McComber is the small Connecticut town's local dry-goods merchant.

Junior Candy Gerts will act as Belle, a floozie, who meets Richard in a bar. John St. Germaine, a junior, will serve as bartender.

Others in the cast include senior Cathy Ford, junior Dave Ewart and sophomore Jim Mayhercy.

The play will be directed by Douglas K. Murphy, an English teacher at Arlington.

"Ah! Wilderness" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 17 and 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday Nov. 18 and 19 in Arlington High School's Little Theater. Tickets may be purchased for $1 from any cast or crew member or at the door on nights of performance.

New Variety Show Format

Forest View High School's variety show will use a new format this year. The program scheduled for December 1 and 3 will be composed of short topical scripts instead of a continual plot line.

Besides the individual acts, which will be auditioning during the week of Oct. 17, the show will feature a chorus, dance company, acting company, script writers and business staff.

"It is our sincere hope that every student interested can participate in the production," stated H. A. Petersen, supervising director.

AS PART OF the concept that this should be a student production, a student director has been chosen.

Senior Dave Cook will coordinate the entire production with the help of his choreographer, acting director and business staff.

There are opportunities for several hundred students to be a part of the program; Petersen will announce tryouts at a later date. (11Y

Seniors— Where the Action Is

By KATHY WASHBURN

"Seniors, we've got the spirit above the rest!" This line taken from Forest View High School's senior class song indicates the seniors' feeling about the goals and projects of the class for the 1966-'67 school year.

Bart Tarman, senior class president, stated, "Our class wants to set examples, create traditions and generally leave an impression on the student body."

THE SPIRITED class of '67 plans to do all this by sponsoring the Christmas Ball, a concession and mixer, and by making the important decision concerning the purchase of a class gift.

Secretary of the class, Linda Glass, noted that this year has already seen the birth of two new senior innovations, the "greatest senior class song ever" and the "paisley" suggestion box. She said that these helped to boost class spirit.

With our new Overhead Cam Six you'd better believe it.

Our OHC 6 delivers 165 hp on regular gas. And 215 horses from the premium gas 4-barrel version. Most American sixes (and some underprivileged V-8s) don't even come close. Expensive European sports machines do, but they're overhead cams, too. In fact, they inspired us. Our OHC 6 is standard on all Tempests and Le Mans. So are a host of new safety features like passenger-guard door locks, General Motors' new energy absorbing steering column and a four-way hazard warning flasher. We've said enough. # Jo Rogers Reigns As Wheeling Queen

BY CONNIE ANDREW

Jo Rogers was crowned the first official Homecoming queen of Wheeling High School on Oct. 7.

Joe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, 1117 Juniper Lane, Mount Prospect. Her escort was Tom Traversone, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Traversone, 112 N. Emerson, Mount Prospect.

The Autumn Daze court included seniors Laura Bertrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bertrand, 294 Edgewood Drive, Wheeling, and escort Ray Pace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pace, 1111 N. Forrest, Arlington Heights; Linda Rank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rank, 902 Hemlock Lane, Mount Prospect, and escort Phil Peet, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Peet Jr., 1809 Orchard Drive, Prospect Heights.

OTHER ROYAL court members were Sandy Stavros, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Stavros, Route 3, Palatine, and escort Jon Hittman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hittman, 2413 N. Cornell, Arlington Heights; and Sharron Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Vincent, 158 W. Jeffery Avenue, Wheeling, and escort Ryan Sarti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Ring, 317 Peachtree, Prospect Heights.

The coronation capped a week of high spirit and enthusuasm. On Monday of Spirit Week buttons, ribbons, and pennants were sold by various organizations. Tuesday was Sock Day and Wednesday Clash Day.

A presentation assembly took place Wednesday. The five candidates were presented to the student body with voting following immediately.

Thursday students observed Sweatshirt Day and Friday was Color Day.

The coronation assembly was held Friday afternoon. As the lights dimmed, the two young pages, Shelly Hall and Randy Urban, proceeded down the blue and white crepe aisle.

The queen candidates followed in full-length dresses and stood in front of the throne platform as tension mounted. The choir then sang "Tonight" and all was silent.

When President Fritz Hudson announced the queen, she walked forward to the applause of the student body. Before the queen was crowned, each court member received a rhinestone tiara from her escort.

Jo knelt upon a small cushion and was crowned queen of the 1966 Homecoming by Fritz. With a bouquet of yellow roses, her crown in place, and tears in her eyes she proceeded to walk with her escort around the gym as the choir sang "You Are Beautiful."

When Queen Jo reached the stage, she stood by her throne as the student body sang the alma mater and loyalty songs.

The court then returned down the center aisle to the applause of the student body.

Friday night a bonfire, rally, carnival, and mixer were held. The queen and her court presided over these events.

Between games Saturday, the queen and court were presented to the spectators on the Queen's Float. During the varsity Homecoming game against Arlington, they watched from the bleachers.

The Autumn Haze semi-formal dance "Indian Summer" took place Saturday night. The presentation of the queen and court concluded the Autumn Daze festivities. (11Y

TPC Open House at Wheeling

The Teacher-Parent Council of Wheeling High School will hold an "open house" tonight (Thursday).

When the business meeting is concluded, parents will be allowed to visit the classrooms on their student schedule. Each class period will be approximately 10 minutes in length. Teachers will be on hand to answer questions and also explain class displays and projects.

PARENTS AND teachers will be able to meet more informally "at the end of the school day" when coffee and cake will be served in the cafeteria.

Gym for Gymnasts

By SHARON ORCHARD

For the last six weeks, every Tuesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Palatine High School's girls gymnasium has been the meeting place for the girls' gymnastics club and the boys' gymnastics team.

The program, new to Palatine this year, is being run by Miss Susan Blotch, who instructs girls physical education and sponsors the club; and Len Witter, a student teacher from Northern Illinois University.

THE IDEA OF co-ed gymnastics, according to Miss Blotch, seems to have worked very well. Approximately 40 girls and 20 boys have participated in the program.

The period is not one of instruction, but rather is a chance for everyone to work on what he wants when he wants.

However, next week the girls will go back to the boys gym where they will receive instruction on the apparatus, and the boys will remain in the girls gym, which is being equipped for the gymnastics team, to begin practicing for the year of gymnastics ahead. (11Y

Plan 'Evening of Peace'

By CATHY GALLAGHER

An "Evening of Peace" has been planned by Sacred Heart of Mary High School for Thursday, Oct. 27.

Parents, students from SHM and any other school, and their friends are welcome.

Each phase of the evening's program is designed to encourage a spirit of involvement. The liturgy will be planned by representatives from the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

The vestments worn by the priest will be those made last year by Maureen Gorman, class of '68. Paper banners made by the various religion classes will be displayed.

FURTHERMORE, THIS involvement will by no means be restricted to SHM students. Each participant in the Mass will bring an offering of non-perishable food, which will be sent to the poor of Viet Nam.

The program will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a film created by Sister Corita, R.S.H.M., which introduces the theme for the evening: peace through food.

At 6:30 p.m. there will be a box supper (to be supplied by each individual) followed by a discussion of the film. A talk by Fr. William Cunningham, S. S., will precede the Mass for Peace at 8 p.m.

The Mass is an expression of our unity; a more fitting conclusion to the "Evening of Peace" is inconceivable. (11Y

Wheeling Sponsors Band Fest

The Wheeling High School marching band will sponsor the first annual Marching Band Festival in northern Illinois at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 22, in the WHS football stadium.

Participating bands will be from Lake Central, Ind., Warren, Lake Zurich, Dundee, and Wheeling. All high school bands will be in class A with the exception of Wheeling, which will be in class AA because of its larger enrollment.

THE MARCHING bands are competing for superior, excellent, and good ratings. The official judges are band directors Edward W. Voltz, Syracuse University, New York; Arthur Katteyohn, Joliet Township High School, West Campus; and Dr. Gordon Bird, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

An area Naval band director will serve as the inspection judge.

Dr. Roderick McLennan, assistant to the superintendent of District 214, will present the trophies.

Each band will present a six-to-ten minute show of marching movements, formations and musical skills. The bands will be inspected before and during their performances to determine ratings. (11Y

St. Viator High Almond Drive On

by JIM MORAN

St. Viator High School kicked off its fifth annual World's Finest Chocolate Covered Almond Drive October 17 with a sixth-period pep rally.

A representative from the chocolate company told the students several effective ways of selling almonds.

Then the St. Viator cheerleaders gave a demonstration of their methods of selling almonds. These included such forcible means as the use of guns, knives, and karate. Those ideas, however, did not receive the full support of the faculty.

Then the assistant principal, the Rev. James Michaletz, C.S.V., spoke concerning the necessity of the drive for the running of the school. "Each year," he said, "the school realizes about $8,000 in almond money. This money is always helpful."

THE SPECIFIC purpose of the drive was explained by the treasurer of the school, Fr. Lane. "This year we expect to add to the library and audio-visual departments," he said. In past years. the money has been used for other things, such as warm-up suits for football players. "We will distribute the money to as many other departments as we can," Fr. Lane added.

Prizes are awarded to the top salesmen in the school. For the best salesman, there is a year's free books, tuition and fees, a prize worth about $300. If the top seller is a senior, he receives $200 in cash.

The top homeroom in each class will receive $100 to spend as it pleases. The top salesman in each homeroom receives an item of his choice from the bookstore.

Also, any student who sells his quota of 24 containers gets a free day on Monday, October 24. He is also included in a daily drawing for $5. Any student who sells 36 containers receives a chance in the raffle for a Honda.

The almonds sell at the same price everywhere—$2 a pound.

Inside Theater Of the Absurd

BY MARYANN BUCZEK

Forest View players last week tackled Theater of the Absurd with their presentation of Eugene Ionesco's "The Bold Soprano," as the Fall Festival play.

Director of the play was Charles B. Wilde. The cast that competently acted out the experimental play form consisted of six seniors: Gail Connelly as Mrs. Smith; Larry Green as Mr. Smith; Wendy Herdine, the maid; Bobbi Wells, Mrs. Martin; Bob Klopp, Mr. Martin, and Bob Farber, the fire chief.

Plays grouped under the general heading of Theater of the Absurd reflect the thinking of an important segment of the modern population.

Since in this age, more great changes are taking place than in most others, a confusing picture is created. Theater of the Absurd attempts to portray this confusion.

A BASIC concept in this type of theater is that certainties and unshakable theories of the past have been swept away. It is assumed that they have been tested and proven cheap and childish illusions.

For the absurdists, life has lost all meaning; anger at the absurdity of man's life is largely the theme of these plays.

Traditional playwrights present man's irrational living as clean and logical reasoning; but in the new school of drama, the ideas are presented by abandoning rational devices and thought.

These plays, which are often dismissed as nonsense, do have something to say and can be understood. Most of the misunderstanding comes from the fact that this is a relatively undeveloped stage method and not yet generally accepted.

These dramas have no significant plot, no recognizable characters. no beginning or definite end, and seem to be reflected nightmares.

Playwright Ionesco, in "The Bald Soprano" opposes the existing order of things. He criticizes conformity and man's increasing desire to cut himself off from his world.

Technical director of the Forest View production was Robert Stelk, with his student assistants, Debbie Jo Conley and Sue Lee. (11Y

Cleopatra In Court? 'Ain't So'

By MARYANN KEENEY

"It Ain't Necessarily So," Wheeling High School's third annual Student Council Variety Show, will be presented at 8 p.m. Oct. 28-29, in the Little Theater.

The script is centered around a courtroom where famous and imaginary characters will try to clear their names. Such people as Cleopatra, Al Capone and Captain Hook will take their turns on the stand.

The show was written by Margo Franklin, 358 Park, Wheeling; Sharron Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Vincent, 158 Jeffrey Ave., Wheeling; and Sandy Stavros, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust. Stavros, Rt. 3, Palatine. All are seniors.

ASSISTANT STUDENT directors are Jill Koeppen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Koeppen, 284 Cindy Lane, Wheeling; and Linda Urban, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Urban, 1714 Wintergreen, Prospect Heights. Mr. Gilbert Tierney will serve as the faculty director and adviser.

Formal rehearsals in the Little Theater began Monday.

Ticket sales will begin Monday, Oct. 24 and tickets will be sold at the door. Price is 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. (11Y

Peace, Policemen And the People

by BRENDA LIBMAN
Conant High School Sophomore

(The following editorial was written after considerable research and a "night on the beat" with a Hoffman Estates police officer.)

The squad car whizzed through the darkening streets. Inside their suburban homes, people ate the leftover roast for dinner, relaxed with the newspaper, put the children to bed, flicked on the television set or battled an intricate crossword puzzle.

A rose-colored sky dissolved the sun, and its fiery departure exploded into darkness. The twinkling stars laughed the sleep out of their eyes. The car, whose dome flashed dancing red lights, sped on through the district, alert, a mobile shield against crime.

In some spots in the dozing village such peace might not last. Ugly crimes, "it-just-couldn't-happen-here!" crimes, crimes lurking in the empty hollows of a maniac mind come to the surface on a night like this.

THEIR NAMES—rape, murder, mugging, thievery—sound unreal, stark. "They mustn't be allowed in this neighborhood!" demand outraged parents, teachers, businessmen. But, to guard all these thousands of people is a lone man—the policeman.

The policeman is a complex person. He is a strong man, a man who must treat a bird's broken leg—or inform a mother of her only son's fatal car accident. He is a man constantly exposed to temptation—a substantial pay-off on a traffic ticket or marijuana charge.

He is aware of the power of his badge, and the temptation to sometimes misuse it. He is frustrated at his $130-a-week salary, at the soaring crime rate, and the public's growing dependency on alcohol.

His temper is kindled at the mention of "police brutality." "Police brutality, it seems today, occurs when someone takes a shot at a policeman from atop a building—and he shoots back," he says. "To some people, self-defense can become 'police brutality.'"

"The population growth breeds crime, it seems," says another policeman. "Where people group, crime eventually hits; so, in time, no area will be safe from the criminal influence. This explains the sky-high crime rate of the slums. For, in a slum poverty, ignorance, immorality are the accepted ways of life. Depression hits a man in a predicament like this and a violent crime is committed as a result."

LAST WEEK was Chicago Law Enforcement Week. In that week a special effort was made to fight crime and the roots of crime. The policeman was in the spotlight, his badge was carefully polished, and he was cited for special honors. But, a week goes by quickly, very quickly. What will happen in the weeks and months and years following this week?

The festerous slums will once again breed the seeds of violence. A murder will once again strike Chicago every 24 hours. And the shrieks of "police brutality" will once again be heard.

A week is but a second in the vast expanse of time. And when this week is over, the squad car will still patrol the streets, searching to weed out hate and violence.

Only when all people can work together for a common cause, will crime and hate and ugliness be wiped out. And lurking in the alleys, instead of terror—will be peace.

'Dino' Cast Named at Conant High

By JOE MARQUART

The Conant High School Drama Club announced the cast for its fall play, "Dino." The play, to be presented the evenings of November 18 and 19, will feature Frank Phillips in the lead role.

Co-stars will be Lyn Letsinger in the role of Shirley, a shy girl who befriends the rebel Dino; and Brian Herzog playing the part of Mr. Sheridan, the caseworker who deals with the reform school youth.

The play, under the direction of Miss Nancy Saggars, is the story of a 17-year-old, Dino, who returns to his home after a four-year stay at a reform school.

The story shows the many trials and tribulations that plague Dino as he attempts to return to a somewhat normal way of life.

Assistant director will be Joe Marquart. (16Y

A Forest View 1st: 40-Girl Drill Team

BY RICHARD KING

This year for the first time Forest View High School will have a drill team. The team will be made up of girls who will execute various maneuvers on command.

Mrs. Sandra Etchingham, business-education teacher, is the sponsor. Assisting her is Howard Semey, a senior.

From 85 students who tried out, 40 from all four classes were chosen to comprise the team.

A BOARD OF four judges picked the girls on the basis of poise and ability to perform commands accurately.

The girls were divided into four groups with 20 trying out at each session. They were graded on a point system with four categories of 12 points each.

The drill team members will make their own uniforms with the aid of the home economics department.

Their first appearance will be at a basketball game sometime in February.

Mrs. Etchingham hopes the team will become like the Arlington Coronets and be able to compete with them.

Where Man's Homecoming Is a Castle

"Medieval Magic" will dominate the scene at Fenton High School Saturday when Fenton's 1,500 students celebrate their annual Homecoming. A parade, the big game and a ballroom dance in the evening will highlight the festivities.

The celebration will begin tomorrow (Friday) when the Bison cheerleaders hold a pep assembly in the gymnasium in preparation for the game with Lake Park High School.

Saturday morning Dr. Martin Zuckerman, superintendent of Districts 2 and 100 will oversee the judging of floats. The seven judges will award points in four areas: theme, originality, construction and design.

The class and organization with the highest point score will be declared the winner and given a place of honor in the parade as well as a prize.

THE PARADE will begin at 10 a.m. in the Fenton parking lot and will pass through the main streets of Bensenville. Approximately 20 units will participate, according to parade chairman Bob Wright.

In addition to the club and class floats, others taking part are the Homecoming royalty, the varsity and sophomore cheerleaders, foreign exchange student Sue Thiraporn, the Fenton Marching Band and a VFW color guard.

Fenton's Homecoming games will begin with the soph contest at 12:45 p.m. with the varsity battle slated for a 2 p.m. kickoff.

In the evening, Homecoming King George Rodriguez and Queen Sue Perry will reign over the annual dance, to be held in the Fenton gym from 8 to 11 p.m. The gym will be decorated with a castle and knights in armor. (5Y

Teacher Shows Way With His Methods

BY PAT HUGHES

Peter Titre, chairman of the industrial education department at Forest View High School, has been making news lately with an article in a technical magazine on modernizing teaching methods. He will follow this by two other articles.

Titre's use of the overhead projector in teaching electronics is one of his basic ideas. In his article he says, "The term 'audio visual materials' is certainly not a new term in educational circles, but if we were to ask ourselves to what extent these material are being used, the answer may be surprising."

HE ALSO SAID that the use of the blackboard is a limited medium, whereas with a projector one can put on many visual ideas without wasting class time drawing them.

He mimeographs all of his projected subjects and distributes them to his students. This saves class time and the element of mistake is eliminated.

This program has been in effect for a year now and has proved itself more than satisfactory.

Connie Mainzer, a reporter for the school's student newspaper, sat in on Titre's all-boy class last week. She said, "I thought that the system he used was good. He held the attention of the students. The class moved along rapidly. I think it is a good method of teaching. It presents the subject as clearly as possible. The method should be tried more in other classes."

As an afterthought, she added, "The subject was way over my head!"

ALSO, one of Titre's students, Mariano Geonconteri, commented on how much more he retained. "I do learn more in electronics with this new method."

Titre's main interest is his students. He stressed during the interview that he would like to stimulate the students' minds by introducing a more fast moving course.

The success of his approach is shown through a student's comment, "I think Mr. Titre has a good idea by which many kids could benefit."

'Something for Everyone'-Revenue Bill

Compromise -- Backer Theme

by Nancy Anderson
Associate Editor

"This proposal is a compromise with something for everyone."

That's how the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, instrumental in the drafting, proudly characterizes the proposed new amendment to the Revenue Article of the Illinois Constitution. Hardly anyone would disagree.

The new article, which will be voted on in the November elections by Illinois voters using the paper Blue Ballot reserved for constitutional revisions, has won wide support from groups representing the interests of business, education, labor and agriculture. Not one favors all the provisions, but the amendment altogether is considered a satisfactory compromise by these organizations, tied together under the banner of the Citizens Committee for the New Revenue Article.

The amendment was approved by an 81 per cent vote in the last days of the 1965 General Assembly, and both political parties have given formal endorsement in their platforms.

BUT THE SMALL minority of legislators who voted against the amendment last year haven't given up in the face of such seemingly overwhelming support—they've been loud and clear in their opposition. And other groups, representing the same interests as those favoring the new article, have banded together as Defeat the Revenue Amendment (DRA), incorporating as a non-profit organization.

How's the voter to decide?

Probably nothing so concerns voters—taxpayers—as the way their money is extracted, collected and spent to support the various state and local governmental units. Yet probably nothing in the legal structure of this state is so forbidding as the complexities evolving from the Revenue Article, the basis for legislation for all state and local financing.

State Rep. Bernard M. Peskin (D-Northbrook) of the northwest suburban Third District predicts "fewer voters will cast their ballots on this constitutional amendment than any that have been presented for a long time."

HIS PREDICTION is probably accurate, unless voters make a deliberate effort to pick their way through the maze of complications to inform themselves and cast their ballots.

The form of the Blue Ballot itself is fairly simple, explaining in brief outline the proposed amendments (viewed as one amendment) to Sections 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 12 and 13 of Article IX, the Revenue Article:

"THIS AMENDMENT would:

"a. Make no change in the present manner of taxing real estate.

"b. Permit various kinds of personal property to be taxed at different rates and also permit the elimination of taxes on any or all types of personal property, for example, household goods and personal effects.

"c. Permit the Legislature to to abolish the present retailers' occupation tax and use tax, and replace them with a true sales tax, under which such items as food and medicine could then be exempted.

"d. Limit any income tax, if enacted, to a maximum of three per cent, unless the people at a later election vote to increase the limit, but even then, not beyond six per cent. If an income tax were adopted, all personal property taxes would be abolished. Further, the proceeds of at least the first one per cent rate of income tax, if enacted, shall be distributed to local governments to replace the revenue from the personal property tax.

"e. Equalize the bonding power of school districts."

This bare outline just hints at the total revisions possible under the amendment if it is adopted, but it makes one thing clear: most changes are permissive, not mandatory.

That is, the General Assembly may classify tangible personal property. It may levy a true sales tax to replace the current retailers occupation tax. It may levy a flat rate income tax.

However, it doesn't have to do any of these things.

THE INCOME tax, for example, is a real bugaboo in this state, and chances of its enactment in the near future are slim—both the Republicans and Democrats stand opposed to an income tax in their party platforms, while favoring the Revenue Amendment.

Yet inclusion of the income tax under Section 2 of the amendment is a big drawing card. This provision, in the Illinois Constitution, would specifically prohibit the General Assembly from enacting a graduated tax (like the federal income tax), or a flat rate tax of more than three per cent. Maximum flat rate levy is limited to six per cent, which would have to be approved at a general election by the people of the state—a highly unlikely event.

And, the flat rate would apply across the board not only to those of high income as well as those of low income, but also to corporations. Contrary to the majority of other states, Illinois would guarantee uniform treatment of persons and corporations.

WHILE THE section dealing with the income tax has attracted the most attention Cook County voters, and homeowners in particular, could be most affected by the provisions for taxation of real estate.

In an extralegal measure, the amendment recognizes and legalizes the system of property classification "in effect on Jan. 1, 1965" and long used in Cook County. Under this system, homes are assessed at a much lower rate of par value than are such properties as industries and businesses. Legality of this classification has been challenged by the railroads, and financial chaos is threatened—in the future homeowners in Cook County could be required to pay an additional 30 to 40 per cent on their real estate taxes. However, no classification of real estate would be permitted in the state's other 101 counties.

IN AN EFFORT to tighten up and equalize the much-abused tax on personal property, the amendment provides that the General Assembly could classify "tangible personal property into the following classes: a) household goods and personal effects not used in the production of income, b) business and farm inventories, including grain, livestock and poultry, c) motor vehicles, ships, boats and aircraft, and d) all other tangible personal property; and may abolish property taxes on any or all classes thereof." Furthermore, the property tax must be abolished within four years of adoption of an income tax.

In lieu of the property tax, the General Assembly would be permitted to levy a use, privilege or franchise tax—a "wheel tax"—on ships, boats, aircraft and motor vehicles.

The amendment further provides for clasification by the General Assembly of intangible personal property in an attempt to capture gains on elusive bank accounts, stocks and bonds.

THE SECTION on the sales tax is a stickler, producing legal arguments which will be explored later. It allows for levy of occupation, sales, use, inheritance, privilege and franchise taxes, uniform as to the objects and subjects taxed within the jurisdiction of the authority levying the tax and uniform as to exemptions granted from any such tax."

The increase in bonding power to 10 per cent of valuation is a significant step for unit school districts—those including grades 1-12—which currently are limited to the same five per cent capacity as separate districts with just grades 1-8 or 9-12. The limits would be increased to 6 per cent and 12 per cent if the personal property tax is abolished.

GOP to Torches For Candidates

Republicans from Wheeling Township will parade their cars through Arlington Heights, Wheeling, and Mount Prospect in a torch light celebration of candidates night next Friday, Oct. 28.

ALTHOUGH parade routes have not been announced yet, all three parades will start at 7 p.m. and end up at Miner Junior High School, Arlington Heights, at about 8:30 p.m.

Republican candidates will address the group at the junior high school. There will be at least two candidates in each parade. (ACM

THIS IS NOT YOUR TAX BILL. IT IS FOR INFORMATION ONLY

INDIVIDUAL HOMEOWNER'S annual real estate tax bill is a strong reminder of the costs of financing government services. The real estate tax and all others in the state are based on the provisions of the revenue Article of the Illinois Constitution. Proposed amendment to the article will be voted on in the Nov. 8 elections.

List Opposition, Supporter Groups

Here's the lineup of organizations which have taken stands on the proposed Revenue Amendment for the Illinois Constitution. Leading the proponents is the Citizens Committee for the New Revenue Article, with members appointed by Gov. Otto Kerner this summer. Organizing the opposition is Defeat the Revenue Amendment (DRA), set up in September with board members representing various organizations.

FOR

American Association of University Women, Central Illinois Industrial Association, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, Chicago Committee of 100, Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association, Elementary School Principals Association, Illinois Agricultural Association, Illinois Association of School Administrators, Illinois Bankers Association, Illinois Commission for Economic Development, Illinois Conference of Teamsters, Illinois Education Association, Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Illinois State Bar Association (board of managers), Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Illinois Association of County Superintendents of Schools, Illinois Association of Secondary School Principals (board of directors), and Peoria Association of Commerce.

AGAINST

Chicago Teachers Union, City Club of Chicago, Committee on Illinois Government (Democratic research study group), Illinois League of Women Voters, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA), Illinois Municipal League, Illinois State Federation of Teachers, Illinois State AFL-CIO, Independent Voters of Illinois and National Farm Organization.

No stands have been taken by countless other groups interested in revenue revision, and their lack of decision illustrates the conflicts over interpretation as well as philosophy.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Illinois Bar Association board of managers has come out in favor of the amendment; however, a poll which drew responses from 10 to 12 per cent of association members reportedly showed 2-1 opposed. The Chicago Bar Association has had reports from two committees on the position to take; one was in favor, one against.

Said John Harrington of Inverness, general counsel for the Illinois Manufacturers Association: "I wouldn't be at all surprised if we end up not taking a stand, like a lot of other groups such as the Taxpayers Federation, the Chicago Civic Association."

Ford Announces Used-Car Warranty

Ford Motor Co. has announced a new factory-backed, used-car power-train warranty for purchasers of 1, 2 and 3-year-old Ford-built cars and Rancheros.

Charles H. Patterson, executive vice president, said the new warranty is designed to provide more care-free ownership and enhance customer value of used 1964, 1965 and 1966 Ford and Lincoln-Mercury cars.

Under the warranty, the customer pays the first $25 of the cost of each warranted repair or replacement and the company pays the rest. The warranty covers parts and labor until the first of four limits is reached:

Twenty-four months from expiration date of the vehicle's original new-car warranty, or from date of registration in the used car warranty program.

Five years from date of production of the warranted vehicle.

—Fifty thousand miles of total operation.

—Sale of the warranted vehicle by the purchaser to whom the warranty was issued.

The used-car warranty is nontransferable, and in no case can a car be warranted beyond five years from the time it was built. (CR

Cumulative Voting Topic of Pamphlet

Do you understand cumulative voting used in the state representative's race?

The Northwest Suburban Division of the IEA is planning to distribute to all teachers a pamphlet explaining just what cumulative voting is and how you can use it — either on a voting machine or on paper ballots.

The pamphlet tells how to cast one vote for three state representative candidates, a vote and a half apiece for two candidates or three votes for one candidate.

WILLIAM URBANEK, IEA division legislative chairman, has offered to make the leaflet available to other interested persons.

He politely warns that the IEA, which has endorsed Mrs. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights for re-election as state representative, has written the pamphlet so it includes such phrases as "if you wish to cast one vote for Mrs. Chapman and one each for two other candidates—"

But IEA officials say that the pamphlet still provides the clearest explanation they have seen on how to cast a cumulative ballot for state representative.

Persons interested in the voter material should contact Urbanek at 529-1230 or DU 1-2158. (B10

Legislators Are Only Luke Warm

State Rep. Bernard M. Peskin (D-Northbrook) of the northwest suburban Third District is notable among area legislators for his outspoken opposition to the proposed Revenue Amendment. Most of the incumbents and candidates are ready to accept the new article as, at least, a "better than nothing" compromise.

Here are some of their comments:

REP. EUGENE F. SCHLICKMAN (R-Arlington Heights) "I like it. I think the state of Illinois is in dire need of a new Revenue Article. In the proposed Revenue Article, I think the basic objections to the present article are satisfied."

He cites classifying personal property, allowing for a true sales tax with exemptions (and he has "absolutely no doubt" that the exemptions would be allowed), and legalizing the Cook County system of classifying real estate. Schlickman calls it "meritorious" that "the question of the income tax is resolved by acknowledging the Legislature's authority to adopt it, but limiting it to three per cent and further providing that an old tax and bad tax (personal property) would be eliminated."

REP. EUGENIA CHAPMAN (D-Arlington Heights) points out, "I was one of the 18 (in the State House) who voted against it, because I believe it is more restrictive than the Revenue Article we presently have. I believe a revenue article should be general, and that specifics should be set by the state Legislature. Constitutional amendments are changes just too hard to come by. You want it flexible and general enough to meet changing times and make it possible for the state Legislature to adopt an equitable structure to raise sufficient funds."

She quotes another opponent: "The proposed Revenue Article offers us a shiny new pair of handcuffs for the rusty handcuffs we now have." And she charges, "People voted for it without even bothering to see what was in it" when it came before the Legislature in the last rushed days of the 1965 session.

REP. WILLIAM REDMOND (D-Bensenville) of the 37th District "While the article is not perfect and does not satisfy everyone in its entirety, it is an acceptable compromise. It should be compared with the present inadequate, outdated constitutional provision, not with what persons consider to be the ideal proposal. It provides a method of getting rid of the hated personal property tax. It does not provide for an income tax necessarily, but does outlaw a graduated income tax and imposes a ceiling on a flat rate income tax. If the demand for more state revenue persists and the amendment to the Revenue Article is not passed, a higher sales tax will result."

JAMES (PATE) PHILIP, candidate for state representative from the 37th District—"The real estate taxpayer must have revenue relief. He must have some of the burden removed. However, I don't believe that the Revenue Article that will come before the people in November in Blue Ballot form is the answer."

"We need a closer look at economy in government. We must look for ways and means of strengthening collection of the Illinois retail occupational tax and the personal property tax.

"I am against personal property tax, but it is the law of this state and I believe in obeying the law, popular or not. In DuPage County, 95 per cent of the personal property taxes are collected. The percentage in Cook County is about 30 per cent. Let us take a look at how much additional revenue increased collections of personal property tax would bring."

Philip believes that some revisions in the state revenue article are needed. "But I am not sure these revisions cannot be made by the legislature.

MICHAEL BUTLER (D-Oakbrook), candidate for senator from the 39th District in DuPage County — While hesitating to commit himself, since "that's in the hands of the voters," Butler says "there must be a change in the Revenue Article" and feels "inclined to vote for it."

JACK KNUEPFER (R-Elmhurst), candidate for senator from the 39th District — Currently a member of the state house, Knuepfer doesn't think the amendment could be improved upon, "though it's not perfect." He's going to support it, wants to limit the income tax and put through a true sales tax.

HUBERT J. LOFTUS of Addison, Democratic candidate for the state house from the 37th District—"Rather than wait for it to be improved upon," he's planning to vote for it, "though the amendment isn't the best thing you could get." He calls his a "half-hearted yes vote," but says "we need to raise taxes rather than let higher education and other urgent needs go wanting."

STATE SENATOR JOHN A. GRAHAM (R-Barrington) of the Third District, a member of the Republican "team" in the Senate, last spring declined to take a stand on the amendment until the Republicans decided. This summer the party endorsed the amendment in its platform.

NORMAN NELSON JR. of Elk Grove, Graham's opponent, says he's in favor of the Revenue Article and "passage is a must." However, in an apparent contradiction, he said he's opposed to one of the key features of the amendment, the flat rate income tax. (A-15

Curtaintime Near for Addison Musical Show

The curtain will rise this weekend on Westwood Variety Players' "Best of Broadway," a show of songs and stories from three musicals by Rogers and Hammerstein.

Performances will be given at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday, and at 7 p.m. Sunday in Addison's Indian Trail Junior High School.

Tunes from "South Pacific," "Sound of Music" and "Oklahoma" will be sung by performers from the Addison homeowners group, including a 50-voice chorus and both male and female dancers, all in colorful costume.

THE AUSTRIAN Tyrol is the setting for "The Sound of Music," which will star Carollee Kinsey as Maria, the young postulant whose high spirits cause her trouble at the abbey.

Gladys Tarantolo will be seen as the mother abbess, who encourages Maria to become a governess for the seven Trapp children. Mary Everhart, Gloria Petersen, Mark Tarantolo, Susan Saviano, Mike Scamen, Kristie Fabel and Cheryl Bondi will play the Trapp children.

Accustomed to the strict discipline of their father, Captain Von Trapp, who will be portrayed by John Greenan, the children discover music, fun and laughter when Maria joins the household.

IN "SOUTH Pacific," Jackie Sanders will play the heroine, Nellie Forbush, who is "gonna wash that man right outa" her hair. That man is Emile de Becque, played by Sam Tarantolo. Judy Revia is Bloody Mary with "Happy Talk." Also featured will be the "Honey Bun" dance revue.

Another kind of people in another time are seen in "Oklahoma," set in the early American territory days. Warren Fabel will star as Curly and Joan Karas as Lauery, his lady love.

Also in the limelight are two-timing Ado Annie, played by Jackie Everhart, and her suitor, Will, played by Art Everhart. Betty Unison will portray Aunt Eller, and Jack Collins, Farmer Carnes.

BRUCE THOMA is the narrator for the show.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the cast or by calling 543-4047. (Bill ROLES OF MARIA and Captain Von Trapp in Westwood Variety Players' "Best of Broadway" will be taken by Carollee Kinsey, left, and John Greenan. Two of the seven Trapp children in the "Sound of Music" portion of the musical variety show will be played by Susan Saviano, center, and Gloria Petersen. "Best of Broadway" will be presented tomorrow (Friday), Saturday and Sunday evenings at Indian Trail Junior High, Addison. (Bill

Pick St. James Cast

The cast of 19 wacky and lovable characters in St. James Theatre Group's fall production of "You Can't Take It With You" has been selected.

George Bull will be directing the Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman play for the Arlington group.

Most of the characters in the Pultizer prize - winning play have a philosophy of life which enables them to "do just what they like." One is wise old Grandpa Vanderhof, head of the house, who enjoys attending commencement exercises and collecting stamps. He will be played by Ed Joyce.

PENNY SYCAMORE, Grandpa's daughter, will be played by Angela Kessinger. Panny, a delightful woman of about 50, has a "divine urge" to become a great writer.

Alice Sycamore, younger daughter of Penny, is the most "normal." Devoted to the family, Alice will be played by Marion Butcher.

Essie Carmichael, an older married daughter, yearns to become a "great dancer." This flighty character will be acted by Rosemary Splitt. Her Russian ballet instructor will be portrayed by Charles Willwerth.

William Alpers is cast as Alice's wealthy, romantic fiancee, Tony Kirby, and Tony's father, a Wall Street tycoon, will be played by Stanley Rogers.

OTHERS IN the cast are Darlene Raupp, William Utley, Marie Ptak, Roger Alm, Ann Gillen, John Lightener, Will Gallagher, Dorothy Quid and Roy Quid.

The play will be presented at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, Rolling Meadows, Nov. 17, 18 and 19. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Kurp, 259-5925, or James Kelly, CL 3-3609.

Hepburn, O'Toole Teamed at Golf Mill

William Wyler's hilarious comedy on art forgery and the chic world of fashion, "How to Steal a Million," will open at the Golf Mill Theatre tomorrow (Friday).

In Panavision and Technicolor, the film stars Audrey Hepburn and Peter O'Toole, with a special guest appearance by Charles Boyer.

Miss Hepburn plays the daughter of a virtuoso forger, portrayed by Hugh Griffith. She regrets the life of crime he leads but she loves him dearly and only hopes he will not get into too much trouble.

PETER O'TOOLE enters her life when she captures him as a suspected burglar in her father's mansion. She does not find out until later that he is actually a detective who specializes in solving crimes that are peculiar to the art world. In this case, he is assigned to investigate Audrey's father.

For the film, Universal Studios needed some 70 pieces of sculpture, all by the world's leading artists, including Renio, Van Gogh and Cezanne. The trouble was, however, that the masterpieces had to be forgeries so realistic that they could pass for the genuine articles. The studio was advised by Los Angeles experts never to let them out of its hands, or surely they would be passed as originals. (Bill

Colorists on Exhibit At Findlay Galleries

"Spectrum of Art II," second in the series of important dual-exhibits of paintings by prominent contemporary artists and special collections of post-impressionists, has been announced by Findlay Galleries, Inc., 320 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

An international artist noted for his vibrant colors, Nicola Simbari, will share the spotlight with an invaluable collection of Fauvist paintings, privately owned by Wally Findlay, president of the galleries in Chicago, New York and Palm Beach. The exhibit will serve as a contrast between the styles of early 20th Century colorists and the contemporary.

Prominent among colorists in contemporary art, both on the Continent and in the United States, Simbari reflects his Italian heritage and his fascination with the Italian countryside, native festivals, Roman scenes, religious processions and ancient buildings, each portrayed in his semi-abstract manner and lavish with color and pigment.

AT THIS tandem exhibit, uniting colorists of past and present, the personal Fauvist collection owned by Wally Findlay will be shown in Chicago for the first time. It contains paintings by the small group of revolutionaries whose exhilarating use of color was the scandal of the brief but bold 1905-07 era.

Fauve period examples of Matisse, Van Dongen, Manguin, Camoin, Puy, Derain, Vlaminck, Friesz, Braque, Valtat and Roualt will be shown.

The exhibit will be open to the public. (Bill

Stanton Named Board Trustee

John D. Stanton, president of the Day Publications and editor and publisher of the Prospect Day and The Arlington Day, recently was appointed a member of the Northwest Community Hospital Board of Trustees.

Previously Stanton was managing editor of the Chicago Daily News, which he joined in January, 1945 as copy editor. He advanced to night copy desk chief and then to night editor. He became feature editor in 1958, assistant managing editor in 1960 and managing editor a year later.

Northwest Community Hospital, West Central Road in Arlington Heights, serves the communities of Arlington Heights, Palatine, Barrington, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows and adjacent areas.

Stanton and his wife, Jo, have two children. He lives at 2111 East Gregory St., Arlington Heights. (B10 REHEARSING FOR THEIR roles in "My Three Angels," season's first play for Stage, Inc. of Palatine, are Betty Kandlbinder of Palatine, who'll play the worldly Madame Parole, and Angelo Polovere, who is cast as Felix, the harassed shopkeeper. The play will be presented in Cutting Hall at Palatine High School Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29. (Bill

Character More Work Than Inspiration, Say Actors

Truisms aren't often suitable to the art of acting but one that members of Stage, Inc. who are active in the current production of "My Three Angels" agree on is that creating a role is five per cent inspiration and 95 per cent work.

Besides the many hours spent in rehearsing dialogue, the actors in the non-professional theatre group felt they memorized the whole play. After the initial insights into what they want a character to be, they commented, comes the challenging task of phrasing, timing, blocking and bodily manipulating that makes the character come alive.

WALTER KIRBY, director of "My Three Angels," described his task thus: "My job is much like a diamond cutter, cutting and polishing the roughhewed stones into brilliance.

"The unrehearsed actor often develops a delivery or a gesture that must be dropped, and during rehearsal, I cut out this extraneous material. As the actor comes closer to the innate qualities of his character, I polish these things."

Robert Bennett of Arlington Heights who plays Jules, the angel of more intellect than emotion, added, "In order for a play to be a success, the actors must establish a communication, a complete understanding of their character and the essence of the play."

DANIEL YELOVICH of Palatine who plays Alfred, the angel of emotion whose heart leads him to do what he should not do, remarked, "From my own experiences, I draw on the basic human emotions and distill and pour them into my acting. My voice, my movements, my responses must reflex the emotion that Alfred is feeling."

Herbert Gegenhuber of Palatine who plays Joseph, the angel of experience and wisdom, summed up with the statement, "The purpose of rehearsal time for the actor is to develop a character to the extent he becomes a second self. At my command, Joseph comes alive, and I steer him through the play."

OTHER members of the cast busily perfecting their roles during the last rehearsals of "My Three Angels" are Angelo Polovere of Palatine as Felix, the harassed shopkeeper; Barbara Wickline of Palatine as Emilie, his bewildered wife; Annette Bettin of Buffalo Grove as Marie Louise, his wistful daughter; Betty Kandlbinder of Palatine as the worldly Madame Parole; Gerald Davis of Mount Prospect as the materialistic nephew, and Bill Kimble of Palatine as the young lieutenant.

"My Three Angels" will be seen in Cutting Hall of Palatine High School on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29. Tickets are availale for all performances and can be obtained by calling ticket chairman Elizabeth Dumler, 358-1646, or Gretchen Bennett, 392-1654, or all cast and crew members.

Auditions Set By Guild Players

Guild Players will conduct readings for the classic fairy tale, "The Elves and the Shoemaker," at the Church of the Cross, Route 72, Hoffman Estates, Sunday at 7 p.m.

Tryouts are open to the public.

The cast calls for nine women and three men. There is need for some actors 5 feet 2 inches or under to fill the roles of elves. A large crew also is needed backstage.

THE CHILDREN'S play will be presented in December at Lake Park High School in Medinah under the direction of Art Blackaller of Hoffman Estates.

Reserved seats for the children's play will be accepted only in blocks of 10 or more. For ticket information, call Mrs. Robbye Schnarel, 529-1067. (Bill

Helen Aagard Will Design Play's High Fashion Gowns

Original fashions will be a main feature of Village Theatre's fall production, "Seidman and Son." VT's resident director, Richard Tyler, announces that Helen Aagaard of Mount Prospect will design the creations for the 3-act comedy set in New York's garment district.

High fashion gowns are an important highlight of the production, created by the character, Laura Mencken.

Mrs. Aagaard, one of VT's most active "unseens," has created most of the original costumes for Village Theatre for six seasons. Among her most notable successes was "Auntie Mame," in which Mame had 19 costume changes. Other productions include "Gazebo," "Anastasia," "Gideon," "Critics' Choice," and many of the children's productions.

HELEN AAGAARD began her career as a dressmaker many more years ago than she cares to admit, by designing and sewing clothes for her dolls. During her years at Lakeview High School in Chicago, Helen's interest in sewing and art was encouraged by a well-known local artist, Hedvic Vlasak, and throughout her school years, she was awarded three semester scholarships at the Chicago Art Institute.

After a career as wife and mother of two children, Helen has decided to "come out of retirement" to resume her work as designer and seamstress and recently won first place for "originality" "workmanship" "best all - around everything" in the fashion competition at a Wheeling Family Fair. Now she plans to combine profit with pleasure by offering "Helen's Creations" for sale to the public.

"Seidman and Son" will offer a preview to the public of the originality and workmanship from Mrs. Aagaard.

IN ADDITION to its fashion interest, "Seidman" is one of the most technically difficult plays ever produced by Village Theatre. With a small stage and very limited working space, five different sets will be introduced during the play.

Of special interest is the dining room set which will be constructed on a portable wagon and moved on and off stage. Furniture for this particular set will have to be specifically designed.

The other four settings will be of an illusionary nature, with changes performed in full view of the audience.

The sets for "Seidman" are being designed and engineered by Shirley Scott and Joyce Zeller, with Jim Patterson at the head of construction.

FURNITURE details are in the hands of Joyce Zeller and over-all set decoration is the responsibility of Stella Pevsner. Carol O'Dea will be in charge of set and hand props.

Lighting for the production will be staged by Larae Biesterfeld, with W. R. Pownall on the sound equipment.

Stage manager for the production is Pat Breitsprecher, assistant stage manager, Judy Owen, and production manager, Polly Johnson.

With Helen Aagaard on fashions is Carolyn Burkett, who will supervise costuming of characters other than the fashion models. Sheila Baker will head the make-up crew.

"Seidman" and Son" will be presented by Village Theatre, Inc. at Prospect High School on Nov. 4 and 5, 11 and 12. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Information and reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Alice Linde, CL 9-3200. (Bill

SECTIONAL rehearsals under first chair players of the parent orchestra are held weekly also.

The Civic Orchestra will present three public concerts during the season. Dates are: Friday, Jan. 20, Wednesday, March 29, and Monday, May 22. Jean Martinon conducting Irwin Hoffman, associate conductor, will direct. This will be his first appearance in the 76th season.

BRAHMS' SERENADE No. 1 will open the program. Also scheduled is Webern's Symphony, Opus 21, making its first appearance in the subscription series.

Add Specialty Acts To Melodrama Bill

A number of variety acts will spice the old-time melodrama, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," to be presented next week by the Elk Grove Masque and Staff.

The play, to be given in the auditorium of the Dempster Junior High School in an atmosphere replete with all the accouterments of the gay 90's, including tables with checkered tablecloths, waiters in handlebar mustaches, soft cider and peanuts, already includes several songs sung by cast members during stop-action sequences. Added to these will be selected specialty numbers between acts.

"THE BARKEEPS," a barbershop quartet from Bensenville, will headline this vaudeville bill. Art Wiemerslage, Jerry Burkhalter, Sylvester Wetley and Russ Pagen will provide the four-part harmony.

Pat Brown, "the internationally-famous song stylist, just returned from a command performance before the crowned heads of Europe," will sing some ballads of the gaslight era. Bonnie Casey and Diane Sanders will execute a nostalgic soft shoe dance, accompanied by a trio composed of Dave Rickert, Diane Calkins and Pat Brown.

Providing the ricky-tic piano accompaniment for these numbers and throughout the fast-paced farce will be Mrs. Caroline Boomer, whose real life role is that of music teacher at Dempster Junior High.

"DIRTY WORK" will be staged Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29 and Nov. 4 and 5, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from Dave Rickert, 439-7973. Children under 12 will be admitted for half price. Tickets will be available at the door also.

Patrons of Masque and Staff (season pass holders) should call Sue Burkhalter, 766-5847, to make reservations. Mrs. Burkhalter advises those who have not called in to make their reservations for the two Fridays or the first Saturday, if possible, since the last Saturday is almost sold out. (Bill

Maxwell Anderson Play Next for Guild

A dramatic play, laid in the colorful era of Henry VIII, is the next attraction of the Des Plaines Theatre Guild. This is Maxwell Anderson's Broadway success, "Anne of the Thousand Days," which will be presented Nov. 11, 12, 18, 19, 25 and 26 at the Guild Playhouse, 620 Lee St., Des Plaines.

Edith Wilson of Des Plaines will be seen in the title role of the tragic heroine who changed the course of a kingdom and an empire, while Bob Keenan of Chicago will portray the passionate and headstrong Henry.

OTHER LEADING roles have been assigned to Ed Sauer, Park Ridge, as Cardinal Wolsey; Henry Becker, Elgin, as Thomas Boleyn; Mert Staley, Mount Prospect, as Henry Norris; Jim Curren, Des Plaines, as Lord Percy.

Additional members of the cast are Joan Spatafora, Ann Shalla, Ellen Rukin, Gayle Giller, Harold Terchin and Robert Zimmerman.

The particular facet of the stormy Tudor period which Anderson has chosen to dramatize is the story of Anne Boleyn and her thousand days as the second wife of Henry VIII.

FROM THESE turbulent pages of history the author of "Winterset," "High Tor" and "Knickerbocker Holiday" has fashioned a play that the N. Y. Herald-Tribune has called "a work to be cherished" and the N. Y. Times has recommended as "one of his most stirring dramas."

Season tickets may be obtained by writing Nancy Raus, Des Plaines Theatre Guild, Box 84, Des Plaines, 60017. (Bill

Civil War Film Shows At Catlow

William Holden and Richard Widmark are starred as a renegade adventurer and a reckless colonel, respectively, in "Alvarez Kelly," which starts tomorrow (Friday) at the Catlow Theatre.

"Alvarez Kelly" is based on a true incident of the Civil War when Confederate cavalry fought a series of bloody battles in an effort to steal a huge herd of cattle from the Union Army in order to feed the people of Richmond. The city was being starved into submission by General Grant.

HOLDEN PLAYS an Irish-Mexican rancher who is kidnapped by Widmark, leader of the guerrilla forces, and persuaded to train the Confederate cavalry in the techniques of the cattle drive prior to their seizure of Holden's herd.

Romantic interest is provided by Janice Rule and Victoria Shaw. Also in the cast are Patrick O'Neal and Roger C. Carmel. (Bill

Two Young Men Vying for Office

Donald Rumsfeld

James McCabe

Two young men are in the race for U.S. representative in the 13th Congressional District, which covers Cook County's north shore and northwest areas. Both are 34.

—The Democratic challenger, a big, cordial man, is James L. McCabe, an attorney who lives at 312 S. Ridge Ave., Arlington Heights, with his wife Mary Kay and their six children.

—The Republican incumbent, a trim, former wrestler who still has the all-American boy look about him after two terms in Congress, is Donald Rumsfeld who lives in Wilmette with his wife, Joyce and two daughters when Congress is not in session.

McCABE WAS RAISED on the west side of Chicago. Currently a precinct captain in the Wheeling Township Regular Democratic Organization, he is a former president of the 37th Ward Young Democratic Club from 1958 to 1960, a former precinct captain in the 37th Ward and a former member of the 37th Ward Young Democratic Club executive committee from 1960 to 1962.

A former assistant state's attorney in 1956 and 1957, McCabe received his Bachelor of Laws degree from DePaul University in 1954. While at DePaul, he was a mamber of the freshman and varsity basketball teams.

A member of the Chicago and Northwest suburban bar associations, McCabe also belongs to several civic, religious and veterans organizations. He served a year and a half in Germany during his 1954-1956 stint with the Army.

McCabe is a partner in the Loop law firm of McCabe and Venit.

RUMSFELD WAS BORN in Evanston. A graduate of New Trier Township High School, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in politics at Princeton University. He served for three years as a naval aviator and flight instructor and was all-Navy wrestling champion in 1956.

He served as administrative assistant to U.S. Rep. David Dennison of Ohio. He was elected to his first term in Congress in 1962 and was re-elected two years ago. He serves on the science and astronautics committee and its manned space flight subcommittee, the committee on government operations and its subcommittees on foreign operations and government information and on legal and monetaryr affairs.

Rumsfeld is co-chairman of the GOP conference task force on Latin America and is a member of the Task Force on urban-suburban affairs.

He was named last year as one of 10 outstanding young men by Chicago Jaycees.

Rumsfeld: Priorities on Problem-Solving

"I've supported, I suppose, easily 80 per cent of the bills that have come before Congress, and I don't think this has varied too much from year to year.

"On another 10 per cent, I've supported Republican substitute bills that were different in emphasis or approach—sometimes in dollar amounts. And in some cased I've opposed completely, feeling that it should be deferred or postponed to another year because I felt it was of sufficiently low priority or simply because I disagreed with that as an approach."

The speaker: Incumbent Republican U. S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld. The comment: a response to question about the Rumsfeld voting record, labeled as "negative" by his opponent.

The comment, which says as much about the speaker as it does about the subject of his voting record, is representative of many comments made by Rumsfeld during a nearly two-hour discussion with Paddock staff members.

His words are thoughtful, almost studiously qualified, strung together in logical thought sequences. While in print his sentences ramble, in conversation they are easily understood.

Discussing his voting record, the congressman reiterated his view that legislation must be seen in terms of its priority, its likely affect on the problem and its effect on the federal system:

"If members of Congress are going to vote only on the basis of what appears or what the labels are. then I think this country's in real trouble. We've had any number of situations where, sure it would be desirable to be for a bill because a bill was a 'good thing' for people or little children or education or one thing or another. But you don't vote on (bill) labels.

"You vote on what the content of a bill is, what the substance is, whether it's really going to solve the problem, whether it's of sufficiently high priority that we, at a time when our country is spending billions of dollars in Viet Nam and other worldwide commitments, can afford that. Is this the type of thing that should be put first or should it be set aside to another time, and this is what I've tried to do."

Some "Great Society" bills he has opposed, Rumsfeld said, were not "well-constructed" pieces of legislation.

He dismissed the "negative" voting charge against him commenting, "This is the general line out of the Democratic National Committee, and it's being used (against Republicans) all around the country."

Rumsfeld cites peace, prosperity and threats to American way as the three major problems facing the U. S., though not in those simplified terms. He cites education, transportation, air and water pollution as the major problems of the 13th District.

On national problems:

"I SUPPOSE first you have to discuss the international situation and the whole problem of trying to achieve peace in a difficult world—: While Viet Nam is not the whole world, it is the place where the most serious conflict is going on at the present time and in addition it is, I think, representative of some of the pressures the free world faces elsewhere. The thing that distresses me about the U.S. effort there is that we're functioning for all practical purposes there alone without active participation of other free nations. I am convinced from seeing that situation there and analyzing our nonmilitary effort there (Rumsfeld was in South Viet Nam with a House subcommittee studying nonmilitary aid), that notwithstanding the fact that we can have a measure of military success I see a rather bleak situation unless we are able sufficiently to clarify what we're doing and why we're doing it, to develop the support of other free nations."

Rumsfeld, noting the complexity of the problem and how difficult it is for people to comprehend it, felt nonetheless the President could do a better job in explaining it. He noted that the country's "focus" is toward internal questions of the Great Society, and that made it difficult for people to understand the war.

"The other thing I think we're learning is that as a nation and in fact the free world has not adequately during the 20 years since World War II developed the responses to the types of pressures that exist in a changing world. I think we're finally beginning to realize that we don't have the capability to go into a country and meet those pressures point to point early before they deteriorate and become a situation like Viet Nam.

"Once we reach the situation we find there, we're finding that we don't have the capability as a country or as a collection of free nations to assist meaningfully, to give the assistance the country needs to achieve political sophistication, political stability, economic stability and to solve these nonmilitary problems."

Another "Broad problem" cited by Rumsfeld, is "prosperity and the threats to prosperity which are posed by how we as a country handle our fiscal and monetary affairs—we see the cost of living going up, we've seen the interest rates soar to a 40-year high. We've seen our balance of payments become more difficult and serious."

"Inflation is, of course, the result of inflationary pressures, and we've had inflationary pressures previously without inflation because during that period we were using up and expanding into what existed as an excess of plant and capacity, and as we use that excess we then move over the line to inflation."

"ONE OF THE problems I see also as a broad one in the country is the whole question of our federal system and the checks and balances that are so much a genius of our system and the danger that through inattention we will fail to adjust our procedure and rules and forms to see that we will continue to have the benefits of these checks and balances in a changing country."

Rumsfeld mentioned among the threats to our federal system the emerging role of the executive branch—the President and his Administration—a corresponding decline in the power of the Congress, serious imbalances in our political parties and the possibility that Congress might fail to adjust procedures that make it an effective body.

Stressing the increasing power of the President, Rumsfeld said, "the Congress and the country in the whole area of foreign policy and national have yielded up almost total authority in the whole area of foreign policy and national security decision making—this has happened over many, many, many years—(and) we've arrived at the point where the whole concept of a declaration of war (Congress' constitutional prerogative) is meaningless."

An architect and chief backer of the freedom of information bill which passed Congress last summer, Rumsfeld said he was most "delighted" by its passage. He also supports, as a start toward modernizing Congressional procedure, a joint Congressional report on reorganization of Congress.

On 13th District problems:

Rumsfeld said the districts' interests are diversified and "I receive mail on every subject."

Citing education as a leading concern, Rumsfeld said he has "supported vocational education, manpower training and development, higher education bills, compacted aid programs (aid to areas with large federal installations), voted for the medical facilities education act, the community health education act —I've supported any number of bills in the area of education."

Transportation, Rumsfeld said, is a problem "obvious to anyone who tries to move across the district. Conservation and recreation have a "high degree" of interest in the district.

A frequent critic of postal service, Rumsfeld charged that the Postmaster General O'Brien "is running around the country—he's spoken in some 30 marginal Democratic districts already this year—and he's still the chief lobbyist for the White House. He's not acting as the postmaster general, he's not trying to solve the problems of seeing that we in this country have a reliable, rapid postal service."

Rumsfeld said he enjoys Congressional service, feels he has developed areas of competence in the space program, as a member of the space committee, and in government operations, as a member of that committee.

He is most eager for passage of two bills: providing partial tax credits for parents to cover educational costs and the Congressional reorganization measure.

McCabe: Area Needs Representative Voice

Is the incumbent 13th District Congressman in tune with the needs of his district and the nation? The question is raised—and answered in the negative—by Democratic challenger James L. McCabe of Arlington Heights.

Can a Democrat whose position in most cases is the same as the Administration's be elected in this heavily Republican 13th District? This question, posed by McCabe's candidacy, he answers in the affirmative.

"I am running for Congress," McCabe asserts, "because I would like to be the Congressman from the 13th District. I feel that this district is not casting the types of votes nor representing the people in the way it should, considering the background of the people. I feel that our district has problems within the district, the nation has problems within the entire nation.

"I also feel that we are presently, with our vote in Congress, turning our back on many of these problems by casting votes that sometimes are not even realistic.

"Speaking personally," he added, I have always had an ambition to be in some political career, as many lawyers have."

The Democratic aspirant cited several examples where he said incumbent Donald Rumsfeld "turned his back on local problems."

Noting a series of local programs funded by the Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, McCabe said they "will benefit and improve our school systems . . . and my opponent voted against the Elementary and Secondary Education Act."

National problems of "poverty, unemployment, increased crime rates, spreading ghettos, the urban problems that this country is facing today," were cited by McCabe.

"Now I happen to be of the opinion that education is the only true and real solution to these problems. It's not going to solve them in 1966; frankly, it may not solve them by 1976.

"I feel that the Elementary and Secondary Education Act is going to go a long way toward helping people better their position in life."

McCabe said he did not feel the act was "unconscionable" to Rumsfeld but rather, "to be very frank with you, I think it was a party vote on his part against it. I think if you'll check the record you'll find that many of Mr. Rumsfeld's votes are in line with the party.

"I really feel that he failed the people in this area, and I know that some of the education people feel he has failed the people, because I have talked to them."

McCabe said Rumsfeld "merely voted in the negative" on the poverty program which he feels is intended as a step in the right direction."

On transportation: "If our area continues to grow, we are going to have transportation problems which might be totally damaging to the district. Now in the 88th Congress, which was my opponent's first term, he voted against the mass transit development program."

How popular is the McCabe message for increased federal school aid, the war on poverty and other programs in a district regarded as conservative? McCabe noted the political complexion is not uniform and has been changing.

However, he saw no change in Rumsfeld's voting record — which many other observers feel is growing more liberal:

"I can honestly say I had begun to believe that . . . but now I can with equal honesty say you'll have to prove it to me, because I have checked his record. His vote has been on the conservative side throughout — I don't want to call it 'conservative' but . . . (prefer to call it) 'unrealistic.' "

Except on civil rights, where he voted differently from most other Illinois Republican Congressmen, Rumsfeld's record was "every bit the same" in the 88th and 89th Congresses, said McCabe.

He cited "two inconsistencies of Congressman Rumsfeld which bothered me." One, he said, was a proposal that Congressmen serve alternating two- and four-year terms. The Democrat said the proposal was unwieldy and represented an abortive attempt at a middle course between those favoring two-year Congressional terms and those favoring four-year terms.

The second was Rumsfeld's vote to extend the enrollment period for Medicare following a vote against Medicare itself.

Turning to the positive points he supports, McCabe cited the very areas in which he says Rumsfeld has voted "unrealistically."

"Our major problems (in the 13th District) I believe are in the areas of education and transportation." Civil rights, McCabe said, was a problem in the Northshore area to some extent, but for the district as a whole "I don't think it's a major problem now."

The Democrat said he supported the housing section of the civil rights bill which was before Congress last summer. He said legislation in this area is "vital:"

Such legislation, McCabe said, should allow the owner of single family homes, up to four-flats, to discriminate and should allow the Realtor to discriminate on instructions from the owner, though not at his own discretion. McCabe said it would "not be proper to deprive a Realtor of his business." At the same time, he said as an attorney he could see the law would be easy to skirt.

In Viet Nam, the Democrat said, his position was "pretty much the same as the President's." That is, a limited program aimed at preventing a communist takeover and helping the Vietnamese back to their feet.

McCabe denied seeing inflation:

"I don't feel we're at the area of inflation yet. There are dangers, there are signs . . there are people who indicated when they first started talking about it in the spring in a manner that it was probably going to happen tomorrow.

"Now, three or four months later I don't think we have fallen into this pitfall they have spoken of. Generally speaking, I think our people are living well, we have good standards of living, higher wages than we have probably had, unemployment is . . . at one of our all-time lows . . . (yet) there is a danger of inflation."

Only a few moments later, McCabe listed the economy as the fourth most serious problem facing the country and said "I also feel that the economy has to be straightened out right now."

McCabe listed as the other top national problem areas Viet Nam, education and "ignorance, poverty and unemployment."

He is "optimistic" about his chances, more optimistic still for the future of Democratic candidacies in the 13th District. That optimism, he said, is based primarily on four factors: 1) there are "new people in the district who are not of the defined or established type of voter," 2) there are "many people in the district who now know more about the record of my opponent, 3) the "development of the Democratic Party in the 13th District is far ahead of the development of the Republican Party, and 4) while he faces "an uphill battle" chances for a Democrat seem to improve each election.

If he is elected, the Democrat plans to continue emphasizing education:

"I think my interests, at least in our present problems, would tend to go toward the educational field. Some of my associates in this campaign are saying, 'You're talking about education too much.' But, frankly, I think that education is probably one of the most important things that we're involved in in this country, and it's probably one of the reasons this country's as great as it is today."

Consider Allowing More Tire Display

The Palatine Village Board of Trustees Monday authorized a public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance amendment that would allow service station operators with large lots to use more tire display racks.

The proposed amendment would lift the limit on the total volume of display units when certain setback and rack specifications are met. Under the present amendment, adopted this year, a ceiling of 500 cubic feet total volume sets limits on the number of display units any station can have.

THROUGH REGULATING the number by setback requirements, stations with larger lots conceivably could have more display units with total volume of more than 500 cubic feet.

The proposed amendment would allow this when the racks are set back at least six feet from rear and side property lines, not less than 25 feet from any street and are not more than seven feet high and four feet deep.

THE PROPOSED amendment is more in line with zoning board recommendations that the number of display units be guided on a lot-ratio basis, trustees said.

Although in effect for a short time, the present zoning ordinance amendment has prompted several petitions for variation.

THE FIRST MEMBER OF FIRSTCARD in Palatine, sponsored by the 1st Bank and Trust Co., is Robert S. Gullett of Gullett's Loc-N-Key Service. More than 20 local merchants joined the new bank credit card system last week at dinner at Uncle Andy's Cow Palace. Looking on is Delvin W. Johnston, bank vice president. (P

Schools Ask Hike In Cost Allowance

The school board of Palatine-Schaumburg High School District 211 plans a resolution supporting a request by the Illinois School Building Commission to the Illinois General Assembly for a higher square footage rate for building construction loans.

The district's resolution will be presented at the Illinois School Boards convention Nov. 20 at the Sherman House, Chicago. It is hoped that this will help persuade the Illinois School Boards to adopt a recommendation to ask the Illinois General Assembly to increase building rates.

BUSINESS MGR. James Lawrence said that school districts which have exhausted their bonding powers may receive interest-free building loans from the state. The present loan ceiling is $14.50 per square foot of construction. Due to rising construction costs, a higher amount of money per square foot is needed, Lawrence said.

As an example, the current square foot construction cost in District 211 is $17, Lawrence said.

ACCORDING TO Lawrence, the District 211 resolution will ask for a realistic increase in the square footage rate, but will not suggest a figure. The present cost of construction per square foot in District 211 will be included as a guideline for the General Assembly to consider.

THINK CHRISTMAS IN OCTOBER?

This year you'll have to plan far ahead, and here's why:

The Viet Nam War and general business activity have combined to put the squeeze on America's leading furniture and carpeting manufacturers. # News of Palanois Park

Kathleen Pitelka FL 8-0095

Oct. 10 was a happy day for Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Borowicz, 156 S. Rohlwing Road. Their son, Bob, flew home from Thailand and called his sister to pick him up at O'Hare Airport so he could surprise his folks. He will be home for a month's leave from the Air Force before he reports to Tucson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swingley, 144 S. Linden, recently returned from a three-day visit in Dallas. They stayed with friends Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Shank, and combined business with real pleasure. It was the first trip back in 10 years for Mrs. Swingley. Both of their sons were born there and they have many friends still living in that area.

On Sunday, the Swingleys attended a benefit brunch at the Carousel Restaurant for Clearbrook School for Retarded Children.

When this reporter called Edna on Monday, she and some of the other pink ladies of Northwest Community Hospital were pricing jewelry for their "Boutique Noel" which takes place on Friday.

LAST WEEK the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Emil G. Bloudek of 30 N. Ashland bid them a fond farewell as they left for their new retirement home in Tarpon Springs, Fla.

It was a dinner party at the Bull and Bear Restaurant for the ladies of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. Loop area, held in honor of one of their retiring workers, that found Mrs. Frank Jasonowicz, 20 N. Ashland, in Chicago on Oct. 6. The occasion served as a reunion for many former employes.

Latest news from the C. Marshall Miller family, 43 S. Forest, is that they closed the cottage in Michigan last weekend. Mr. Miller has been back to work since July but is still having treatment on one of his legs and will have skin grafted at a later date.

There was a family dinner at 25 S. Forest on Oct. 19, in honor of the third birthday of twins, Steven and Laura Cross. Besides their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cross, and sister, Nancy, their grandparents, Mrs Louise McFadzean of Winnetka and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cross, and Uncle Chris, of Kenilworth, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Nell Cross of Chicago, were on hand for the occasion.

IT WAS A PLEASANT surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Len Erkfitz and daughter, Gail, 115 N. Elmwood, when Mrs. Erkfitz' brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillips of Sunnyvale, Calif., arrived to spend several days with them. It was quite a coincidence, too, as Mr. Erkfitz had a week of his vacation start on Monday and they arrived that evening.

Best wishes go to Andy Lembachner on his birthday of Oct. 13. Latest word to his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lembachner, 26 N. Forest, is that he will be discharged in November after six years in the Navy. At present, he plans to make his home in California.

On Sunday, Keith Brian Novak was baptized at Christ Lutheran Church. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. Novak, 138 S. Ashland. Godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip May of Arlington Heights, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George May of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Novak of Berwyn, helped celebrate the occasion at a dinner party in the Novak home. It was also Mrs. George May's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Shurtleff, 64 N. Linden, recently returned from a two-week vacation. They went by way of Detroit, up through Canada and spent some time on Nantucket Island. After visiting relatives, they returned through Connecticut and Pennsylvania. Phyllis said one of the most beautiful sights is to see the sun hit the fall colored leaves on the trees along with the Alleghany Mountain scenery.

MRS. CHARLES Abbott, 32 S. Greenwood, and her family are happy that her brother, Marine Private First Class Rex Ritter, arrived at Great Lakes Naval Hospital on Sunday. He was in Viet Nam only three weeks when an enemy bomb exploded and his post was completely wrecked. Due to a sandbag which weighed several hundred pounds pinning him down, his back was broken. He was evacuated to Manilla where he underwent surgery to have four vertabrae fused together.

Many happy returns of the day are also wished Jane Lorenz, Christine Luyster, Oct. 13; Joseph John Granahan, 2 Oct. 16; Kurt Piepenburg, Oct. 17, and Mary Jo Kiszka, Oct. 19. (P

Village Objects To Giving Firm Business Zoning

A resolution voicing the village of Mount Prospect's objections to granting business zoning for two lots at the northeast corner of Golf and Busse Roads was passed by the village board Tuesday night and has been forwarded to the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals.

George L. Busse & Co., Mount Prospect realty firm, is seeking the B-5 general commercial district for the 1¼ acres now zoned R-4 single family.

AT A RECENT hearing before the county zoning board, Mount Prospect was granted 21 days to file an official objection to the rezoning.

The village contends the property is completely surrounded by Mount Prospect and in years to come will become part of the village.

The objections include that all land north and east of the Busse property is developed as single family residences, thus making the "proposal incompatible with the immediate area and an invasion into an established residential area." (M

EXPECTANT MOTHERS AND BABIES NEED VITAMINS

Medical authorities and public health agencies are in agreement about the need of vitamin supplements for expectant mothers. They also state that babies should take special vitamin compounds to help their growing bodies. These vitamins are one of the reasons for reduced infant mortality.

But the proper dosage and formula required are so important that a physician should be the only one to choose which ones expectant mothers and infants should take. Therefore, physicians specify the particular dosage and brands they believe will help most. We carry them in stock and advise you to take no other.

Squeezed Nickles, Litigation

First-Person History of Dist. 214

Bygone school boards squeezed nickels, paid low land prices and faced lengthy litigation just to give High School District 214 a legal standing.

Their stories were told again Monday at a dinner given in Old Orchard Country Club by present board members whose responsibilites—in a sprawling suburban district growing by 2,500 students every year—still involve land purchase and taking a hard look at every cost at budget time.

Sixteen past board members attended the dinner, given in Old Orchard Country Club in their honor.

Among those attending was George Paris, former Mount Prospect resident who now lives in Montreal.

Administration personnel who also attended included Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, superintendent, who told of his own experiences as the son of a rural Oklahoma school board member.

"Our district grew, too—100 per cent—from a one-room school to a two-room school," Gilbert noted.

THE 60-SOME persons who attended the event at Old Orchard Country Club had ample opportunity to compare present problems of this booming suburban school district with those faced by early District 214 boards.

Litigation was the first problem said George Volz, 88-year-old Arlington Heights resident and board member from its formation in 1914 until 1928.

"We had to keep the district alive and run a high school for eight years without a single penny of tax money," Volz said. "The county clerk wouldn't honor our levy."

Of the district's initial referendum, Volz told the group, "There were 1,267 votes cast. We won by 16, and 17 were blank. The opposition immediately said they should be counted 'No.'"

The district's legality was challenged, Volz said, not once—but four times. First on the counting; then, because women had voted in the election and the state Supreme Court ruled the women's suffrage act unconstitutional.

Subsequently the Supreme Court reversed itself—and then ruled illegal the school law under which District 214 and about 80 other school systems in the state, were organized. Bonds issued by the two-township high school district were thus in question.

When the legislature was asked to pass a law affirming the formation of the 80 districts, opponents lobbied to have District 214 excluded on the grounds that it was not really operating a high school.

"We were able to prove that that was not true," Volz said. "We had rented two rooms from School District 214 and they agreed to pay the teachers."

"WE WERE all in cahoots—School District 214 and District 25," Volz laughed in telling the Old Orchard group of the long-ago school hazards. "We paid them with notes of $500 apiece. When they returned the notes we tore them up."

Depression days of "squeezing nickels" were described by Clarence I. Davis, Arlington Heights man who served on the board from 1933 to 1945.

While Davis was a board member, District 214 dedicated its first Arlington High addition—a $100,000 wing that included eight classrooms, two study halls, a cafeteria, music room and a gymnasium (now used as the grils' gym).

Federal aid to schools was a controversial subject then as now, Davis recalled. He said the Arlington High addition was financed by $95,000 in bonds and $86,000 from the Public Works Administration.

"It was hard to get the board at that time to agree to take any government bills," Davis noted as the audience chuckled.

Former board president Elmer Laurin, now residing in Largo, Fla., did not attend but sent a letter in which he noted that highlights of his years of service included acquisition of the Prospect High School site at $1,100 an acre.

"THE ONLY TIME we had an audience at our budget public hearing," Laurin wrote, "members of the Woman's Club protested not the budget, but the curtailment thereof."

Past president Kennett Dougan of Arlington Heights, whose youngest child will graduate from Arlington High this year, told the dinner group that he considered his era's biggest contribution was the "breaking of the barrier in the concept that you had to have one high school in one school district."

"Anyone who lived around here is aware what a terrific fight this was," Dougan added. "At the time Prospect High was built only two other school districts had two buildings and in neither case did they function as separate high schools.

"If there was anything we contributed to northern Illinois education, it was that," Dougan asserted. (ACME

DISTRICT MAP so often used to boost bond referendums appeared in a different capacity Monday as High School District 214 honored past board members and board presidents at a dinner in Old Orchard Country Club. # Gavels Presented to Past School Board Presidents

Seven gavels for past High School District 214 board presidents were presented Monday at a dinner given by the present board.

Hal Armstrong, currently serving as head of the high school District, presented personalized gavels to former presidents Clarence I. Davis, who served from 1938-45; George H. Sheppard, who headed the board from 1955-58; Kenneth Dougan, president from 1958-61, and Arthur Aronson, president during 1965-66.

He introduced John Haas, now chairman of the Harper Junior College board of education as the only man who had "graduated" from the high school board presidency. Haas received his gavel when he retired from the school board, Armstrong explained.

APPEARING TO receive gavels for deceased relatives were:

—Albert H. Meyer, whose brother-in-law Theodore Militzer was the first District 214 president and held that post from 1914-22, 1924-27 and 1932-38.

—Willard Kates of Kenilworth, whose father A. T. Kates was president from 1922-24, the years when Arlington High School was constructed.

—Mrs. Herbert Mueller of Evanston, whose father N. M. Banta headed the school board from 1927-28.

—Mrs. John Gross of Arlington Heights, whose father's term as president followed Banta's.

Also saluted for their years of service to the school board were former presidents Elmer Laurin, now a resident of Largo, Fla., and Daryl Oldaker of Mount Prospect. Neither could attend, and will be sent their gavels.

Mrs. Mueller, in accepting a gavel for her father, noted that there were 50 students in Arlington High when she graduated in 1921. When she returned in 1926-27 to teach at the school, it had grown to "100 boys and 100 girls."

MRS. GROSS noted that when she graduated from Arlington High "George Volz was first to congratulate us."

She added. "He predicted a brilliant future for us — all 13 of us."

Volz was one of 16 former board members attending the dinner. They included the former board presidents and Ralph E. Gould, 1935-43 board member now living in Barrington; Paul E. Collins of Rolling Meadows, a board member from 1941-47; Carl G. Klehm of Arlington Heights, board member 1944-47, and Walter Kroeber of Arlington Heights, who served from 1946-1952.

Others were Arthur Skelton of Mount Prospect, a board member from 1946-1955; Robert R. Lockwood of Arlington Heights, board member from 1957-58; George W. Laubenheimer of Mount Prospect, who served during 1960-63; George Paris, now of Montreal, and on the board from 1962-1963.

Other board members attending the dinner were E. Charles Lockwood of Arlington Heights, who served during 1958-1965; Mrs. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights, a member of the board from 1961-64 and Charles R. Fyfe, who served also during 1961-64.

FORMER BOARD members who could not attend included Keith Wurtz, Alma Fontaine, William Spomer, William Meyer Jr., Orville Rumrey and Arnold Garlisch.

Armstrong added that the school district had been unable to locate five other board members — Francis Spears, who served from 1934-38; Mary Morrow, 1947-55; William Hartman, 1955-56; John Kappa, 1955-58, and Joseph Brant, 1955-57.

Mishap Takes Life of Des Plaines Woman

A Des Plaines woman was killed last Wednesday evening when she was thrown from her car in an automobile accident on S. Arlington Heights Road, near Cedar Street.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kotyk, 25, of 1330 E. Rand Road, died of a broken neck when her southbound car skidded on the west pavement, crossed the median, and struck an on-coming car.

Driver of the northbound car, Harry F. Buerger, 37, of 241 Greenbrier, Elk Grove Village, was treated and released from Northwest Community Hospital.

A third car hit the rear of Buerger's car. Driver of the auto, Richard S. Veres, 28, of 615 N. Gibbons Ave., Arlington Heights, was not injured.

Police said Mrs. Kotyk was thrown under Buerger's auto. She was pronounced dead at Northwest Community Hospital.

She is survived by her parents, John and Mary Dege of Cincinnati, Ohio, and a grandfather, George M. Dege, of Dewitt, Iowa.

Urge Supervision At Hasgrove Park

Hasbrook Civic Association put in its bid Tuesday night for further adult supervision of Hasbrook Park.

Speaking for the association was William Gardner, its park chairman. His recommendations to the Arlington Heights Park Board were "based on criticisms, complaints and suggestions of 100 nearby residents of Hasbrook Park and comments of the youthful users of the Park."

Gardner said the association annual membership canvass had shown that a large number of families were reluctant to send their children to an unsupervised park.

GARDNER SAID a number of younger children had been "beaten up" by older children and that there was a need for a full-time recreation director for the park.

He said he was primarily concerned with Saturday and Sunday supervision.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton said the park is now supervised from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. and evenings on week days and three mornings and two afternoons each week during the play-school sessions.

The Hasbrook group requested that a full-time director "see that all park facilities are operational seven days a week" and be given the "authority to enlist the help of young people in the area either through pay or the granting of special privilege to accomplish this and maintain the facilities."

Gardner stated that at times large groups of children are excluded from the main part of the building while small groups of adults use it, and he asked that the primary emphasis for recreation be placed on youth and not on adult use.

THE HASBROOK request also noted that several regulations and pieces of equipment were needed to bring the existing facilities in line with the needs of the community.

The matter is to be studied by Thornton who will give his recommendations at next month's park board meeting.

Russian Film To Be Analyzed At St. Viator

The Russian film "Ballad of a Soldier" will be shown and analyzed Tuesday at 8 p.m. at St. Viator High School, 1213 E. Oakton St., Arlington Heights.

The program is the fourth of 13 lectures and films in the New Horizons adult education series.

THE REV. Lawrence J. Farrelly, C.S.V., director of the film study, said of the film's director, Grigori Chukrai, "This young director has reverted to the masterful techniques of the Russian silents and has created a sentimental, patriotic and pictorially beautiful picture of Russia during World War II."

Discussion of the film will be handled by James Wicklund, head of the English department of Notre Dame High School and member of the Mid-West Screen Education Society.

Admission is $1 for the individual program or $6 for the entire series. (A

DEFT KENNEDY TOUCH was a crowd-winner Saturday at Randhurst Shopping Center as New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy stumped to boost Paul Douglas' chances for re-election. Hitting Randhurst in the first of a series of northern Illinois rallies, the former U. S. attorney general warmed a wind-chilled audience of 500 with quips, jokes and earnest pleas for support of Douglas. He also threw in a good boost for Mayor Richard Daley—in recognition, he said, of the help Daley gave his brother, the assassinated U. S. president, in 1960. Hazards of campaigning in a state you don't know showed as Kennedy urged votes for Donald Prince as state superintendent of "public institutions"—but the crowd didn't seem to mind. It was a Kennedy they had come to see and hear, in any case. (Staff Photos by Larry Cameron)

SHARING SPOTLIGHT with higher-level Democrats at the Randhurst rally were local politicos like Norman Nelson of Elk Grove Village, Third District state senate candidate passing out signs here to an eager crowd. Also on the platform were Third District state representative candidates Bernard Peskin of Northbrook and Mrs. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights—the two, in effect, rivals for the single seat Democrats traditionally wind up with in the GOP-dominated district; Wheeling Township Democratic chairman James Stavros, and Democratic congressional candidate James McCabe of Arlington Heights. Not so welcome—but busy on the sidelines, just the same—was Mayor Robert Sabonjian of Waukegan, announced write-in candidate for U. S. Senator. Sabonjian has been a conspicuous well-wisher at many past Wheeling Democratic functions, but Saturday a good many local politicians pretended he wasn't there.

Parking Lot Politics

SEA OF SIGNS, some of them boosting Republican rival Charles Percy, greeted top Illinois Democrats and visiting Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at Randhurst rally Saturday afternoon. The signs added color but presented problems, both for their holders—as the signs were buffeted about in the day's high wind—and for the crowd behind them, their view of politicos on the rally platform often blocked out by the placards. (A15

FUTURE VOTERS brought by their parents to Saturday's Democratic rally at Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect had a long cold wait. The rally, scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m., didn't get underway till after 1 o'clock. For most of the youngsters—and their parents—the focus of interest as the siren-escorted caravan pulled in form O'Hare Field was New York junior Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, former U.S. attorney general and brother of assassinated U.S. President John F. Kennedy. (A15

Advise Against Removal Busse Sewer Outlet Box

If the Mount Prospect Park Board were to allow the removal of a concrete outlet box at the end of a 66-inch sewer east of Busse Road as some Colonial Heights homeowners have requested, it would "ruin the golf course," according to District Supt. Thomas W. Cooper.

To re-inforce his position, Cooper showed board members slides he had taken in the area one rainy morning in July.

The slides showed water coursing over tops of bridges and draining off into the creek. Cooper said the creek was taking a maximum amount of water but that it was draining off so rapidly that eight hours after the heavy rain the golf course was useable. He indicated that any change in the present drain-off might upset the whole system.

AMONG OTHER items of business at the Oct. 12 meeting of the park board, was Supt. Cooper's report that current golf course revenue totaled $104,353, a gain of $477 over last year.

Finance committee member, Richard A. Wulfert, reported that as of October the board had received $89,476.40 in tax receipts. The money was allotted to the bond and interest fund.

Bills authorized for payment during the present month totaled $17,038.11.

The board also voted to pay to have a survey map drawn up for the area of Colonial Heights desiring annexation to the park district.

In further action the board agreed to Illinois Bell Telephone Company's request for an easement at Meadows Park.

The telephone company wants to grade telephone lines to relieve a problem of cable deterioration. It agrees to return the land to its former condition.

THE BOARD also agreed to meet with members of the Elk Grove Park Board to discuss an area south of Landmeier Road to the corner of Touhy and Higgins roads that is within the Mount Prospect Park District but part of Elk Grove Village.

After examination of the bike path at High Ridge Knoll Park, board members felt that danger of children falling off it was minimal. Safety of the path had been questioned by Daniel McIllwee of Des Plaines.

The board also promised to look into rates being charged at park district swimming pools in an effort to make them self-sustaining. (M

Test Use Of Mothers In Library

Mrs. Judy Zack, Westbrook School librarian in Mount Prospect, is conducting a pilot program this year on the use of PTA mothers to help in the library.

Several PTA members have volunteered to act as library supervisors on days that Mrs. Zack is on duty at Lions Park School. The PTA service program is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mabel Klinker, cultural chairman. ## Police Find Stolen Cars

Two cars stolen in Mount Prospect last Friday and Saturday were recovered by Palatine and Wheeling police when the vehicles were abandoned within their jurisdictions.

NICOLAS DJUS of 1104 S. Vail St., Arlington Heights, reported his 1964 convertible stolen from the Randhurst Center parking lot about 3:30 Saturday afternoon.

Sound Study For Class

Creativity was the theme of sixth grade students at Fairview School in Mount Prospect during a recent project on the study of sound.

After listening to a recording conveying the most important concepts dealing with sound, the students initiated plans for their own musical instruments to produce sound. By the end of three weeks, the instruments were resounding throughout the halls of the school, according to their teacher, Mrs. Mary Lou Huyck.

IN EVIDENCE were several varieties of banjos and tambourines as well as many unique guitars and drums. Some of the more unusual instruments were a bottle flute, a xylophone made out of blocks of wood, and another made out of flower pots, and chimes constructed of brass curtain rods.

The instruments are now on display at the school. (M

Vandals Enter School Building

Only items missing, according to police, were several marking pencils taken from a fifth grade room. The school office and library also were entered. (M

Dramatization Program Planned

"The Circle Beyond Fear," a dramatization presented by Covenant Youth of the Chicago area, will be presented at the Northwest Covenant Church, 302 N. Elmhurst Ave., Mount Prospect, at the 7 p.m. Vesper service Sunday, Oct. 23.

The drama is directed by the Rev. Alden Johnson, assistant pastor of the North Park Covenant Church in Chicago. Two members of the cast of 12 are Ruth Ann Hansen and Ray Banner of Mount Prospect.

THE CONTEMPORARY religious drama, written by an American Negro missionary to India, has sought new methods of expressing the gospel to modern man, a spokesman for the group said. In the play, the "choral drama" form is used to depict the alienation of man from himself, his neighbors and God, to demonstrate the response of the church to the dilemma in which man finds himself.

The Glenview Countryside Covenant Church congregation will be the guest of the local church for the Vesper service. The Rev. Clarence Agard, pastor of Northwest Covenant, has also invited the public to attend Sunday.

The local Women's Fellowship will be hostesses at a coffee hour in the fellowship hall following the service.

OUR FLAG FLIES TODAY BECAUSE OF MEN LIKE THESE

The next time you see an American flag, remember what other men, in other times, have done to insure that our flag CAN fly today.

Let your mind go back—for instance—to Feb. 23, 1945 when Americans were in the battle of Iwo Jima.

An American patrol captured Mt. Suribachi on the tip of Iwo. Six men then fastened our flag to a Japanese pipe and raised it. It was an inspiring sight for thousands of Americans on Iwo as their flag waved bravely from the summit.

And fortunately, a photographer, Joe Rosenthal, was there to snap the picture for eternity—a picture that's been called the most famous single photo ever taken.

That flag-raising helped America to victory in World War II, allowing our flag to be flown—proudly and freely—today.

Programs Drawn Up

Monthly programs for the upcoming year were set at a recent meeting of the North Cook County 4-H Federation.

The first event on the calendar is Achievement Night to be held Nov. 17. It will be followed on Dec. 10 by the annual Christmas party at which time new members will be inducted.

FAITH PUKSTA, an Arlington Heights girl who spent the summer in Germany in a 4-H sponsored program, will show her films of the trip at the January meeting. Films on agriculture in the Soviet Union will be featured at the February meeting.

Public speaking will be the theme of the March meeting and "Share the Fun," of the April meeting. May's meeting will feature a citizenship program. A picnic is planned for July.

Among the 4-H officers and advisers setting up the program were Merlyn Heyen, associate farm adviser; Jean Rushton, assistant home adviser; and adult advisers, Ed Levan of Roselle; H. Frey, Palatine; Mrs. June Burns, Wheeling; and Mrs. E. Ostrowski, Roselle. (B10

Ray Page Claims Programs Not His Doings—Don Prince

Dr. Donald M. Prince, the Democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, said last week that the incumbent state superintendent, Ray Page, has been trying to take credit for programs and ideas which were originated and developed by other persons and agencies.

Prince said his opponent has claimed credit for such state programs as the adult basic education centers and the gifted children project and listed them as the major accomplishments of his administration which Prince said Page did not initiate.

"The incumbent has continually congratulated himself for 93 adult basic education centers which were created as a result of 1963 legislation passed by the Illinois General Assembly and he has said—and I quote—'We conceived and effected a program that is turning tax drainers into tax payers.'"

THE BASIC education program, Prince said, was initiated by Gov. Otto Kerner, guided through the legislature by administration officials, carried out by the governor's Department of Public Aid in cooperation with local school districts and, in fact, is paid for by an appropriation to the Department of Public Aid.

"The only function of the office of public instruction under the incumbent has been to grant approval to these programs and to provide technical reimbursement; his office was invited to participate in the program after it had already been created, organized and developed.

"Ironically, the program is 75 per cent supported by federal funds, one of the federal programs my opponent spends so much time railing against.

"It is also ironic that the incumbent's other major boast of accomplishment—the gifted children program—was also developed and carried through fruition by other persons and agencies.

"The program was developed and formalized by an independent consultant and by my opponent's predecessor, working with the governor, and was carried to success through the legislature as an administration program backed by Gov. Kerner.

"Like the adult education program, the gifted children program was conceived, initiated and carried to success without any positive help from the incumbent," Prince said.

Winterizing Your Geraniums

Many people have heard of the technique whereby garden geraniums can be kept over winter in a dry dormant condition. Although once an easy project, it's now difficult. The reason is that old homes were built differently.

They had darkened basements with soil floors and masonry walls.

This kept the temperature low and the humidity high.

This meant that the dormant geraniums were not likely to become dried and dead before winter was over.

MODERN heated basements are not favored with these conditions, therefore saving dormant geraniums is difficult. However for those that wish to experiment here is the method.

Remove the geraniums from their beds with a small clump of soil intact. If the geranium is potted, leave it in the pot. Dig a day or two before the first heavy frost.

The next step is to place the plants in loosely closed plastic bags. Now just hang the plants up and out of the way. It is important to remember that the bags not be sealed or folded on top. The plants must have some air circulation to prevent mildew from developing.

Within the first few days after storage they will begin to lose their leaves. Simply shake these leaves out of the bag and discard. Eventually all the leaves will drop except a few small tip leaves. The thick, stubby remaining stalks, however, will stay green and succulent for the rest of the winter.

DURING LATE MARCH, cut these stalks back to three-to six-inch stubs and repot in small pots of soil. The stalk that is removed can also be potted.

After potting, bring the geraniums to full sunlight and start to water sparingly. Keep them quite cool. During the following weeks they will continue to look very ragged. Finally small buds will develop on the stubbs which will produce a stocky vigorous plants.

Tour to Encourage Careers in Nursing

Students interested in a career in nursing are invited to attend an open house at Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals School of Nursing in Park Ridge Saturday.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the lobby of the school located east of Lutheran General Hospital. A tour of the hospital will follow at 9:45 a.m.

Miss Erna Rueggeberg, associate director of nursing education, will speak on "Preparation for Opportunities in Nursing," followed by a question and answer period.

A TOUR OF the school and residence and group sessions with three instructors will conclude the program.

The School of Nursing is the only one in the northwest suburban area and has facilities for 100 students. Founded in 1906 at Lutheran Deaconess Hospital, Chicago, the school was moved to its present location in 1960. (B10

Little City Again Has Christmas Card

Little City, a training and treatment center for mentally retarded children in Palatine, once again will have Christmas cards drawn by one of the children in residence at the school, available to the community.

Purchase will aid in the rehabilitation, education and vocational training of mentally handicapped children at Little City, a non-profit, non-sectarian center.

The cards were designed by 14-year-old Maria, a ward of Cook County. Maria has been at Little City for two years and has shown great improvement.

Working in the poultry farm, she has learned to sell eggs to the public and has developed a real sense of responsibility.

Proceeds from the cards will be used for the new all-purpose building. (B10

Recommend More Office Help for Legislators

Office space, remuneration for living expenses in Springfield, improved secretarial help and better informational facilities for all Illinois legislators will be proposed by the Commission on the Organization of the General Assembly, Rep. Harold A. Katz (D-Glencoe) said this week.

The report will be presented to the legislature in January.

The commission decided against recommending a proposal which was under consideration earlier to provide immediate year-round secretarial help, assistants, and home district offices for each legislator.

The commission will recommend that a high priority be given for construction of legislators' offices in Springfield and also will ask for additional space for newspaper, radio and television personnel covering legislative sessions.

Among other proposals are:

1—A secretarial pool to provide adequate aid for each legislator during sessions in Springfield, and year-round secretarial pools for legislators' use in Springfield and Chicago.

2—Toll-free calls to and from Springfield for legislative business.

3-Staff and offices for House leaders year round.

4—An amount added to legislators' salaries to cover living expenses in Springfield during General Assembly Sessions.

The commission also will recommend expanded staff, better library facilities, and larger offices for the Legislative Reference Bureau and the Legislative Council to provide better informational and research services for legislators.

It will propose expansion of the Legislative Intern Program, which also supplies some staff assistance to members of the General Assembly. (A-15

Autumn: Time For Lawn Work

Homeowners can take positive steps now and in the weeks ahead to make or remake their lawns. Fall is the best time for this rewarding work because grass grows best during cool weather and because autumn days provide the cool, moist atmosphere in which grass thrives.

That is the advice of Mr. Jack Caffrey, proprietor of the A to Z Rental Center at 210 East Rand Road, Mount Prospect.

Fall also is regarded by experts as the prime time to do lawn work because the soil is in a condition to be worked without trouble, he says. This is not often true in spring.

Should you dig up and start over? Not if any semblance of a lawn exists, he emphasizes. Remember it takes about a year for grass to get established under the best conditions. It may take several years if conditions are adverse.

IF YOUR LAWN is poor, look for one or more reasons, such as: Lack of care, such as fertilizing, watering and cutting, or bad soil; overuse by animals, adults, and children or shade.

Generally, the absence of care and overuse are fairly evident. Shade may be less obvious as the lawn may receive some sun but still lack enough for a high-quality lawn. Be sure to use a shady lawn seed mixture if the lawn is in the shade for more than half the day. The grasses that grow well in the shade will also thrive in the sun, but the reverse is not true.

Some of the prevalent healing practices in the fall include:

—Spiking a soil that is hard and raking in finely screened compost, fine peat, or fine sand will help overcome the compact condition. Be sure the material you use is fine and dry so that it runs into the holes made by the spiker or aerator.

Lawn feeding — Feed the lawn with a good lawn fertilizer. And be sure to water it in. Some fertilizers take a little time to become dissolved and active. Remember that fertilizer applied in autumn days is carried to a large extent through the cooler months to show benefits the following spring.

LAWN SEEDING — If more seed is needed, be sure to get the right kind for your home. The best seed for your lawn may not be the best for your neighbor next door or across the street. When adding seed, rake the surface of the soil to loosen the top layer but not with too much gusto. Avoid tearing out the seeded grass. Sow the fresh seed in among the other grass. Be sure to fertilize the lawn a week before seeding.

Lawn tools —The selection of the right lawn tools to do the various autumn lawn jobs is just as important as the selection of the right nutrients or seeds. These include such tools as sod cutters, grass trimmers, lawn combers, lawn mowers, rollers, seeders, sweepers, sprayers, and weed mowers.

All these tools are available for hourly or daily rentals at reasonable rates. (O

YMCA Schedules Gymnast Sessions

Many area high schools are now including a gymnastics session as part of their girls' gym program, and Northwest Suburban YMCA also offers gymnastics classes to acquaint youngsters and teens with the sport and its competitive skills.

Two events are being planned by the "Y" for early in November, one a gymnastics clinic and the other a family gym show.

A working clinic for all ability levels is set for Sunday, Nov. 6, to be led by Mary Ann Davis from the University of Massachusetts and Ruth Ann McBride, coach of the Northwest Suburban YMCA team and director of the National Summer Palaestrum Camp. Both have placed in the "Top Ten Nationally" in their competitive careers.

THE CLINIC will be divided into three parts: beginners from 1 to 2:30 p.m.; advanced, 2 to 3 p.m.; competitive, 3 to 4 p.m.

The program will feature free exercise, uneven parallel bars, balance beam and still rings.

Bouncing bodies will fill the 'Y' gym on Friday evening, Nov. 4, from 8:30 to 9:30 when youngsters from the regular gymnastics classes demonstrate the basic skills being taught at the 'Y.' Team members will do their competitive routines, and boys and girls from the classes will demonstrate tumbling, vaulting, trampoline and floor exercise.

Tickets for both events are available at the YMCA. (B10

Des Plaines Realtor Heads State Boards

M. Edward Smith, Realtor of Des Plaines, was elected President of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards by delegates to the 50th Annual Convention in Chicago last week.

He was installed into office by Jack Justice, president of the national association at the annual Presidents Banquet and Installation of Officers held in the Grand Ballroom of the Sherman House during the convention.

The election and installation held on the same day sets a precedent in the 50-year history of the state association of real estate boards. Formerly the newly elected officers and district Vice Presidents were required to wait two and one half to three months before being installed, but now the governing body can pick up the reigns of the association without undue delay.

Smith is president of the firm of Smith-Pipenhagen Inc., Des Plaines, industrial Realtors and developers. He has been in the real estate finance business for the past 40 years, beginning his career with the real estate loan department of the Standard Trust & Savings Bank which merged with the Chicago Trust Company in 1929. In 1945 he formed a firm which built and sold over 1,000 residential units in the Chicago Metropolitan area. He was associated with this company through 1949 and in 1950 he formed his own firm specializing in land acquisition, sales, industrial development and appraisals; then in 1960 he and Arthur W. Pipenhagen formed the firm of Smith-Pipenhagen, Inc.

One of the original members of the 22 year old Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, Smith is the first member of his board to be elected to this office. Smith served as president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors in 1959 and 1960 following his service as a director, secretary and vice president in the board. He has been an instructor for the Northwest Suburban Board Real Estate School each semester since it was founded in 1959.

Where Did All The Roxys Go?

THE WORLD ... of Real Estate

Shortly after 8 p.m. March 11, 1927, the gaudy, enchanted, preposterous and marvelous Golden Age of the Movie Palace reached its kleig-lit pinnacle.

Harold Lloyd, Norma Talmadge, Richard Dix, and Mrs. Otto Kahn were there.

President Coolidge sent greetings, and so did 300 patients at Walter Reed Hospital, who arranged themselves on the lawn to spell out the name "Roxy" for a photograph. The Roxy Theater was opening in New York, with Gloria Swanson's film, "The Loves of Sunya."

It was a brief Golden Age. All over America, million-dollar real estate deals led to the erection of hundreds of fantastic palaces, each more spendid than the last, where hordes of people could spend hours amid exotic architecture for less than 50 cents. But the whole dizzy, prodigal, enchanted business wilted with the coming of the depression.

IF YOU'RE OVER 40 you've seen it all happen. You saw the Movie Palace scrape through the '30s by the skin of its teeth, fill up again during World War II, and then collapse. Whatever happened to all that expensive real estate?

They were turned into bowling alleys, into supermarkets, into schools, into apartments. Some were torn down to make way for parking lots or office buildings. Some still operate, fighting off delinquents who slash their seats.

Many gather dust, empty.

The Roxy vanished and gave way to the Time-Life Buildings.

And what happened then? If you think we entered the Age of the Drive-In, you're right, but if you think we're still in it, you're wrong!

Of course there are still drive-in theaters, just as there are still a few movie palaces around. However, the dynamic growth of the drive-in has been stopped cold by the surge in land prices around every large population center. Many are even disappearing as real estate developers acquire the land for other purposes.

But don't weep, movie fans. We're in the midst of a new development — family-type indoor movie houses in neighborhood shopping centers. And watch it — it's going to be a beaut!

Richard Smith, president of General Cinema Corp., largest shopping center theater chain in the country and operator of 103 theaters in 21 states, forecasts 550 new units will be opened in such centers in the next three years, on top of the 200 already opened. At least another 450 will be built on free-standing highway locations. Another 1,200 will be built in smaller communities by small independent operators.

ONLY A SHORT time ago movie makers were ready to knuckle under to TV. Not any more. The old time movie fan who prefers films uninterrupted by commercials is not only alive and kicking, there are more of him than ever! He's swarming back to the new, smaller, more convenient theaters.

And real estate investors have pricked up their ears. They know very well what happened to Gloria Swanson. She's inspired new generations of moviegoers, theater moviegoers.

Q.—A Realtor showed us a house the other day which was priced at $32,000. When we asked what the assessed valuation was, he told us $13,500. Is there any relationship between the sales price and the assessed value? Mrs. J. D.

A.—Not necessarily. A sales price is the price a buyer is willing to pay and a seller is willing to accept. The assessed valuation is the total assessed value of the land and the building on the property, placed on the property by the local tax assessor for tax purposes. This is part of the budget-making process which can vary from town to town, city to city. Don't use that assessed valuation as a yardstick to judge the selling price.

Mortgage-Easing Program Assailed

A "double-standard" move of the administration to provide temporary relief in the mortgage market is discriminating against 80 per cent of those seeking homes under the FHA program, Jack Justice, Miami Beach, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, has charged.

Speaking to the convention of the Virginia Real Estate Association, he explained that the Administration has recently established a ceiling of $17,500 on mortgages eligible for purchase by the Federal National Mortgage Association in its secondary market operations while setting a ceiling of $25,000 for loans covering newly constructed houses. (Sale of mortgages by lenders to FNMA replenishes their supply of funds to make additional housing loans.)

"This is a lop-sided action that seems to ignore the fact that single family homes purchased with FHA-insured loans are, in four out of five cases, existing properties," he added.

"The buyers of these existing homes, like the buyers of new homes who use FHA-insured mortgages, in most cases are young people. Last year nearly two-thirds of the buyers were under 35 years of age.

"Thus, in its move to meet a genuine emergency in the needs of today's home buyer, the administration's ill-considered double standard is an obvious disservice to the home-buying public. The double standard should be abandoned at once. If a ceiling is necessary, the $25,000 ceiling should apply to the entire market served by the FHA program. It should not be allowed to discriminate against 80 per cent of that market." (RE

Suburban Motels Lure Conventions from City

Booming suburban motels with extensive convention facilities are putting the suburbs into formidable competition with downtown hotels for important convention and trade show business. In the past several months, for instance, a number of big Midwest and national sales meetings and trade get-togethers which might have been held in Chicago's Loop went to suburban Des Plaines instead—convening at the huge exhibition hall of O'Hare Inn near O'Hare International Airport.

"This doesn't mean Chicago has to worry about Des Plaines taking over as the nation's convention capital—but it does mean that an increasing amount of the revenue conventions and trade shows bring to the Chicago area will be spread throughout the suburbs instead of all being concentrated downtown," reports manager Gilbert E. Rosenbrier of the O'Hare Inn.

"Considering that Chicago's 1966's convention revenue is expected to total $300 million, this could herald still further growth for Chicago's already-booming suburbs.

"THE SAME KIND of thing is happening in suburbs of other big cities all around the country. When suburban motels have convention facilities, a growing number of business leaders prefer them for conventions and sales meetings. And an increasing number of motels in outlying communities are equipped to stage a full-scale convention," Rosenbrier adds.

Nationally suburban motels are estimated to be getting 20 per cent of the 20,000 national, regional and state conventions attended by some 12 million people who spend $1.3 billion annually. O'Hare Inn reports that 90 per cent of its guests come there for conventions and other business meetings.

Decentralization of industry has been a major factor in turning suburban motels into convention centers, the O'Hare Inn executive believes.

"First, decentralization has scattered industries throughout the country at the very time when rapid scientific and technical advances have made the in-person exchange of ideas more essential than ever before. That's why the convention business is booming," Rosenbrier declares.

ANOTHER VARIATION on the decentralization theme, which is also putting the suburban motel into the convention business, is the one that has taken big companies not to rural areas around the country but simply out of the city. A lot of firms are moving from crowded downtown plants to spacious new suburban headquarters. Motel operators figured correctly that companies would welcome meeting facilities, as well as accommodations for visitors, right next to their shiny new suburban plants.

Besides, all this, travel habits have changed to the point where it is becoming more convenient to get to a suburb than to the heart of a city. In the days when every convention-goer inevitably headed for a downtown hotel, he just as inevitably came to town on a train which deposited him in the heart of the city. Now he is more likely to fly or drive. (BB

Des Plaines Trust Joins Charge-It

A fourth bank in the northwest suburban area, the Des Plaines Trust and Savings Bank, 1223 Oakton, has announced its participation in the Charge-It credit card plan developed by the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago.

Under the plan, Des Plaines Trust and Savings Bank, like the 50 or more other banks in the Chicago metropolitan area who are Charge-It affiliates, will issue credit cards to all its customers, enabling them to charge purchases of goods and services at hundreds of area stores and businesses or even procure cash up to $100 without a loan application.

Cardholders will receive from the bank a monthly, itemized listing of all their purchases. They may make payment in one lump sum, at no additional charge, or budget their payments over a period of months for a small fee.

Businessmen and merchants receive immediate credit when they deposit their Charge-It sales slips at the bank, thus providing a charge program for their customers without either the risk or expense of maintaining their own credit operation.

Charge-It is part of the Midwest Bank Card plan which will eventually provide statewide credit coverage. (BB

THE GOLDEN YEARS

RETIRED MAN'S SWAN SONG MAKES HIM A TOWN HERO

It wouldn't be nise if all the retired people around started filling up the town's parks with ducks.

However, if you are retired, and if you want to have some fun, here's an idea you might use:

In one of the more pleasant of the Southland towns (which is already having trouble enough without seeing its name publicized) things had gone along peacefully for years. Until a fellow named Walter J. Gregory, who had been a peaceful citizen for years, retired.

The town hasn't been the same since.

Mr. Gregory, with nothing much to do except sit in the town's major park, came to the conclusion that the small lake in the park ought to have a swan. He talked to City Hall about it, said he'd buy the swan and donate it to the park. City Hall wasn't exactly panting to become nursemaid to any swan. It gave Mr. Gregory the brush-off. He tried twice more. The same results.

"So I went ahead and bought my swan," he says. "And I marched down to the lake and put him in. I resolved that his name would be 'Pension' . . . "

Then, every morning and every evening Mr. Gregory walked over to the lake to feed his pet. But in less than a week he was being shouldered aside by other citizens who had discovered the beautiful bird and were also bringing food.

There was some commotion now around the lake. People were talking. Somebody at City Hall remembered a nut named Gregory who wanted to give it a swan.

A policeman came calling on Mr. Gregory. What did he think he was doing? Mr. Gregory allowed he was doing what he wanted to do. There were words. The policeman declared he'd give Mr. Gregory a ticket. Mr. Gregory wanted to know what for. Which was a good question. The policeman finally decided it was for "Defacing Public Property."

"The next morning I wrote City Hall that I was employing a lawyer, that I would demand a jury trial on the charge against me. And that somebody was going to look pretty silly when they tried to argue a beautiful swan was defacing a town lake . . . "

Mr. Gregory then told his local newspaper, which printed his story in detail. Then came the television news crews. Then the next Sunday about a thousand citizens to see the swan that was going to put Mr. Gregory on trial.

As City Hall tried to retreat from its embarrassment, and as indignant letters flowed into the local newspaper, things went from good to better for Mr. Gregory and his swan. There came a proposal that "Pension" needed a love life and a companion. A campaign was started to buy a "Pensionetta" for him. A collection box was placed beside the lake for donations. No policeman dared touch it.

Mr. Gregory, naturally chosen by the citizens as chairman of this movement, has now bought "Pensionetta." But she and "Pension" aren't getting together. The citizens think she wants privacy. So a second campaign is under way to build a small island in the lake to give the swans secluded quarters. City Hall thinks it will be able to build the island, to take over the feeding and care of the birds . . . and does anybody want anything more?

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Do You Blush Easily?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

Mark Twain sagely commented: "Man is the only animal that blushes. Or needs to."

Blushing is a human trait and such an interesting phenomenon connecting the physical with the mental that it has been the object of intensive study by a number of psychologists for many years. See how correct your facts are as compared with those of the authorities.

| | TRUE | FALSE |
|---|---|---|
| 1. Only people with fair skins can blush. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 2. A person blushes only when he is criticized. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 3. If you see a person blush, you sometimes blush yourself. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 4. Babies often blush. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 5. Blushing is confined to the area of the face. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 6. Blushing cannot be controlled consciously. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 7. Women blush just as often today as they did in their grandmothers' day. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 8. People blush even when they are alone. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 9. Blushing is generally a characteristic of young people. | ( ) | ( ) |
| 10. Blushing is caused by our repression of the normal desire to be the focus of attention. | ( ) | ( ) |

ANSWERS:

1. False. People of all races blush. When dark-skinned people blush, their skin becomes darker.
2. False. Blushing can be the result of any attention — praise or criticism.
3. True. If a person puts himself in the position of the "blusher" he too is likely to blush.
4. False. Althugh babies often get red-faced, the cause is not blushing. It is not until certain things have been taught as right or wrong, that a child produces a genuine blush — usually at the age of two or three.
5. False. Blushing may appear on the ears, neck, arms or abdomen.
6. True. Once a feeling of shame or attention has been established, there is no mental control over a blush.
7. False. Victorian women were trained to be shocked by many things and therefore blushed more readily than the women of today.
8. True. To imagine a situation, even when alone, can cause a blush.
9. True. Blushing occurs most frequently from the early teens to thirty and diminishes. It is not unusual, however, to find oldsters red-faced in certain situations.
10. True. According to Dr. Sandor S. Feldman, "At an early age, we are taught that it's wrong to want to draw attention to ourselves. As a result, we pretend to be humble — we don the mask of hypocrisy so that others (initially our parents, later members of our social group or society) will think well of us. But the truth will out; repressing our desire for attention brings redness to our skin and draws the attention we want in the first place."

Nursing Director Is Hired

A director of nursing has been hired at $10,000 per year to head the associate-degree nursing program at William Rainey Harper Junior College.

The board has hired Joanne L. Heinly, 34, a teacher since 1964 at the University of Illinois College of Nursing, Chicago.

Her appointment was effective Saturday. She will help Herbert Pankratz, dean of instruction, to set up a nursing curriculum and co-operative programs with area hospitals.

ACCORDING TO state law, a director of nursing must be hired one year before the nursing program begins, another teacher of nursing hired six months later and another by the program's opening.

Miss Heinly taught medical and surgical nursing at the Columbia University School of Nursing from 1960 to 1962 and was a staff nurse in New York and Chicago hospitals. From 1956 to 1959 she was director of student health at Susquehanna University in Pennsylvania while also teaching elementary nursing technique.

While a private duty nurse in New York, she attended the late Herbert Hoover for nine months.

The new head of nursing received her bachelor's degree from Susquehanna University and her master's degree from Columbia University. She has written book reviews for "Nursing Outlook" and wrote the chapter "Recreation Therapy and Nursing" for the book "Current Concepts in Nursing." (B10

MSL Harrier Meet Set for Friday

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

A Look At Our Profession . . .

Just where do sportswriters come from, these men who are envied by some and abused by others?

There seems to be a suspicion in some corners that a sportswriter more often than not is a frustrated athlete whose failure to make it as a player directed him into sports through the back door.

While that's not quite accurate in our case, we do admit that our athletic endeavors in high school were limited to four years as a sprinter in track for Russ Attis at Arlington High.

We must confess that although we did letter for two seasons, our clockings in the 100 and 220 yard dashes did not earn us the label of the "World's Fastest Human."

We've always been a sports buff, and our actual interest in sportswriting as a profession was initiated in grade school.

Some kids wanted to be doctors and lawyers and earn thousands of dollars. We always wanted to be a sportswriter.

That interest carried into high school at Arlington and into college at the University of Illinois. Now, we're in our ninth year at Paddock Publications — 15th counting part-time service — and the job is just as enjoyable today as it was many years ago.

It's admittedly more frantic now than it was when the only schools we worried about in the immediate area were Arlington and Palatine, but it's still an enjoyable way to make a living.

Organized sports and the men who report them have made tremendous advances in social acceptance since the turn of the century.

There was a time when professional athletes were considered little more than hoodlums, and the men who wrote about them moved in a world unto themselves.

The writers spoke a language of their own (we're still accused of that at times), sometimes engaged in questionable occupations on the side, and in general were a breed to be avoided.

Today there is a complete social acceptance of sports, and the sports page creates possibly more universal interest than any other part in the modern newspaper.

Someone once said that he reads the sports section first because it presents the story of man's accomplishments while the front page reports the story of man's failures.

Sports-page followers are traditionally the most critical of readers, particularly past the high school level, for each is a self-styled expert in his favorite sport, and each feels a sense of triumph when the sportswriter is caught in error.

This country is full of bad sportswriters and they are bad because they don't understand the games they are covering. They cover up for this absence of knowledge by conducting interviews in which they expect to trade a silly question for a sensational quote.

A major pitfall in -the sportswriter, and we plead guilty too at times, is the cliche. Sports are cliche-ridden to a ridiculous point, and many people are chased right off the sports pages by a jargon only a dedicated fan can understand.

Sportswriting resembles dramatic criticism in many ways. The writer witnesses drama in every game he covers. He sees a cast of characters, watches their performance with a critical eye, and then reviews the drama.

His greatest task is to make the reader feel this drama without overwriting.

Often a story which should be told on one sheet becomes a novel. The real problem of the sportswriter is to get the reader to stay with him past the third paragraph.

The writer has his reader but keeps him only if he possesses the discipline of brevity plus the gift or the acquisition of style.

Reading everything he can lay his hands upon helps the young writer acquire style.

He reads Red Smith, Jimmy Cannon, and Jim Murray. In Chicago he reads Bill Gleason, David Condon, Ed Prell, Dick Hackenberg, and John Carmichael.

He doesn't limit his reading to the sports pages. He need not read as a study in writing but for enjoyment, and reading for pleasure is an effortless way of becoming a better writer.

Everything we do in life is bound up in one little package. It's all a game. There's an appreciation for the fellow who does his best although he doesn't win.

The struggle that everyone faces — life — takes place in a single sports contest. The sportswriter is in a position to catch this feeling and its color and show it as it is.

A high school football coach in Indiana, suffering through a frustrating season, gave two reasons to the booster club for abandoning his policy of sending in every play to the quarterback. "For one thing, it wasn't helping the confidence of the quarterbacks for me to be sending in all the plays," he explained. "But the biggest reason was that I just couldn't move the team."

In Home Contest

Elk Grove Faces Maine South Unit

To rebound from a 50-0 thumping is never an easy matter and it matters little who the team is.

Elk Grove will be fighting their way back after suffering such a loss last week at the hands of Glenbrook North as they face Maine South this Saturday in a home contest.

But the climb back up is a tough one and the Maine South Hawks are not an easy football team to beat.

Add to this the loss of Dave Wheeler who broke his hand in the Glenbrook game and the situation doesn't become any brighter.

But the Grenadiers, who are young and inexperienced, learn from their past mistakes and will be ready when the starting whistle blows.

Coach Dick Mudge plans few personnel changes but he hints there will be some changes in the way things are done this week. The Grenadiers are a club that doesn't quit no matter what the situation and they will be ready when the Hawks arrive Saturday for the 2 p.m. tilt.

School spirit will also be heightened as Coach Mudge expects better than 700 students to be present to boost the Grenadiers.

FROZEN FANS were the kind most in abundance at last Saturday's area football gatherings, witness this foursome at the Conant-Prospect game. If their hearts were for Prospect in the Knight homecoming tilt, then the cold was only part of the misery. Conant won 14-13.

Falcons Visit Cards

by BOB FRISK

Bob Scott returns Friday evening to the school where he launched his coaching career.

Once an assistant at Arlington High, Scott returns as the head coach of Forest View.

And he returns with a dangerous Falcon eleven that is intent on spoiling Arlington's final appearance of 1966 before the home fans.

A near-capacity crowd is expected as history is made with the Cardinals and Falcons tangling for the first time.

As Arlington's title-seeking Cards are finding out, the march through the Mid-Suburban Conference schedule this fall is extremely hazardous.

FOR THE past two weekends coach Al Allen's outfit has been pushed to the final gun while maintaining its unbeaten standard. They fashioned a 7-0 win over Wheeling but battled Maine West to a 14-14 standoff.

Although still the front-runner in the conference chase, the Cardinals are well aware that one slip at this stage of the campaign could be disastrous.

When you're this close to taking home the top prize, you don't want to let it escape your grasp.

While Arlington seeks to protect its first place ranking, Forest View will attempt to pump some more life into a conference race that already is extremely interesting.

SCOTT'S FALCONS stand 2-2 in conference warfare and are fresh from a 19-0 conquest of defending champ Palatine. They feature one of the league's most capable defenses and an offense that has averaged 252 total yards in each outing.

Henry Tasche, a hard-hitting 190-pound senior fullback, is the big man on the attack. As the fourth leading ground-gainer in the league, Tasche has pounded out 279 yards in 61 thrusts.

Until last Saturday Forest View had presented a blend of ground and air power with senior Rich Gillespie at the controls.

GILLESPIE, A 6-1, 180-pound senior, has fired 49 times in Mid-Suburban play, hitting on 23 for 490 yards and one touchdown, but he only threw twice in the win over Palatine.

The Falcons suffered a jolt to their aerial game when Howie Brasch, a 6-4 senior, was shelved with a shoulder dislocation. Brasch, still the second leading pass receiver in the league, will be lost for at least five weeks, according to head man Scott.

Replacing Brasch against Arlington at right end will be Steve Allen, putting two Steve Allens in the spotlight in this conference headliner. Forest View's Allen is a 6-1, 175-pound junior.

SCOTT PLANS no other major changes for the Arlington game and will work with a backfield of Gillespie at quarterback, Frank Waslewski and Bob Arnold at the halfbacks, and Tasche at full.

Waslewski and Arnold, recent additions to the starting backfield, combined for 119 yards rushing against Palatine.

On defense Spence Dreischarf, a rugged 195-pound junior; 205-pound Bob Savage; and Gillespie have been the Falcon stickouts.

The Falcon defense turned in a superb effort in a 7-6 loss to Wheeling, checking the hard-running Wildcat backs with only 11 yards rushing. They held Conant to 93 yards rushing and Palatine to 72 with only Maine West (174) showing any ability to move the football.

ARLINGTON WILL build its hopes for a fourth conference win on a fast-improving ground game and the most dangerous passing attack in division warfare.

Defensively, the Cards must

Individuals Stand Out; Knight Sophs Favored

by Ken Knox

The finish line will be reached tomorrow (Friday).

The other half — the telling half — of the Mid-Suburban League's cross country scramble will be run in one display on the rolling sod of the Mount Prospect Country Club, home terrain of the defending varsity champion, Forest View.

With the first half of the championship formula — the challenges in dual competition—now finished, the seven schools of the MSL will put their best to the test together.

First the frosh-soph (4:00 p.m.), and then the varsity (4:30 p.m.) runners—seven boys in the name of each school for each race—will resolve a long, an exciting, and a frequently brilliant run for harrier honors.

Some of the most talented legs and lungs in Illinois will mingle in the competition, but unmistakably, the team race will be the thing.

And the finest race of all will be in the varsity running, where almost every school in the challenge has one boy who could hope for the first position in the chute, and where two teams are poised anxiously for a re-play of the season's most scintillating single action.

LEE LABADIE
Winging Warrior

THE TEAMS, of course, are MSL newcomer Arlington and Maine West, two teams with one dual loss between them, a 27-28 Arlington decision over Maine inflicted last Friday. So close was that race that it was decided in the stretch before the chute on the Cards' course, and a falter by any boy could have altered the outcome.

They will challenge for the varsity title, barring only a superb performance by someone in the rest of the field. For they —Bruce Samoore's Cardinals and Bill Barringer's Warriors— are the first of the three parts into which the MSL is divided.

The second part is made of Conant, Forest View and Palatine, three teams that have divided their six MSL competitions, and who have divided in their conflicts against each other, with Conant beating Forest View, Forest View beating Palatine, and Palatine beating Conant.

AND THE LAST part is made of Prospect and Wheeling, the only league victory between them being Prospect's over Wheeling.

DAVE DIETERS
Arlington Ace

The possibilities in the clusters are these: If Arlington should win tomorrow, the Cardinals will reign alone, but if Maine should win, the Warriors will share the title. The Cougars, the Falcons and the Pirates—depending on where they finish in the Friday rankings—will divide the next three places. And Wheeling could, if it were to finish ahead of Prospect tomorrow, end even with the Knights in the league's sixth spot.

On the frosh-soph level, the odds computers would call Prospect a prohibitive favorite to repeat its underclass championship of 1965. For the Knights have beaten all conference comers in duals, and most of them decisively. If the young Knights do not win, it will be an upset, and most likely, it will be Maine West (5-1) doing the upsetting.

INTO THE VARSITY fray, Arlington will parade a young team that has blended speed and balance to a superlative season record. The Cardinals have won nine of nine duals, a triangular, and — in decisive fashion — the Class A title at Janesville (Wis.) High School's Midwest Invitational.

The team has been led most of the season by the brilliant junior tandem of Dave Dieters and Rory Cassidy, with Dieters having been beaten in duals only by Evanston's Dave Abernathy and Maine's Lee LaBadie. It gets its balance from

Study in Contrasts In Non-League Game

by KEITH REINHARD

It's a study in contrasts.

Deerfield's red-hot Warriors roll out the carpet for Prospect's struggling Knights this Saturday in a non-conference clash that has all the earmarks of a wild, one-sided rout.

In the Prospect camp, a Knight eleven stung 14-13 by winless Conant last Saturday sees nothing but gloom in either direction. They have five losses behind them and three tough tangles remaining on their 1966 slate.

Meanwhile, a festive air prevails in Deerfield. It is homecoming this week and their football team is undefeated in five outings and on their way to a second successive Central Suburban League crown.

Paintings emblazoned on store fronts suggest such things as "A hard dazed knight," "Tender is the knight," and "Put the Knights in Prospective."

PROSPECT IS still spirited, according to head coach Don Williams, but even this may not be sufficient if they are to equal their showing of a rainy, muddy afternoon two years ago when Deerfield last met them and came off a close second, 9-7.

The Warriors have been on the upswing ever since while Prospect dipped last year and currently is experiencing their poorest grid season.

"A number of things have contributed to our poor showing," Williams concedes. "We didn't have a big turnout to start with and not a lot of size. Then we've been plagued by injuries. Don't discount the competition either — it's been extremely tough."

THE MENTOR still feels his charges make steady improvements each passing week and thought they played well although losing to Cougars. "They really put forth an effort and from that standpoint as well as execution of plays, a coach could never ask for anymore."

Williams was extremely pleased with the showings of fullback Vince Curry and defensive linebacker Bob Robinson Saturday. Curry picked up nearly 100 yards rushing and sported a healthy 4.4 average. Robinson headlined Prospect's defensive showing by participating in nearly 60 per cent of all tackles.

For their grid work Curry and Robinson were named back of the week and lineman of the week respectively.

AGAINST THE Warriors Williams will also have the services of Pete Smith available to augment the revived Knight running attack.

The Deerfield bunch Prospect is pitted against is not big or extremely fast but has marked depth and experience with ten returning lettermen and two 1965 all-conference selections.

Coached by Doug Kay, the Warriors have not been defeated in loop play since 1964 and this season have included a 16-6 triumph over Forest View in their win skein.

EIGHT OF KAY'S offensive starters go both ways including circuit all-stars Kent Liddle and Eric Ghianni. The huskiest members of the Warrior line, tackle Ghianni weighs in at 210 and center Liddle at 205.

Although many thought Deerfield's '66 threat would be severely hampered after the graduation of all-stater John Lindquist, the Warrior backfield has done well under the poised signal-calling of Jeff Mason and the hard running of Mark Toma, Tim Brandt and Bob Katz. Toma, only a junior, is an experienced transfer student from Kansas.

In previous encounters Prospect holds a 2-1 edge over their foes from Deerfield. Along with their 9-7 win in '64, the Knights won in 1963 27-13. The following season they succumbed 19-13.

Last year, while going undefeated in conference play, Deerfield lost twice in exhibition games and both times the conquerors were Mid-Suburban League entries. Wheeling did it 7-3 and Maine West turned the trick 26-0.

Two 'Success' Stories . . .

'Cats and Cougars To Meet Saturday

by KEN KNOX

Success comes more easily to some than others.

Three autumns ago, Wheeling and Conant high schools opened for business, both academic and athletic.

The first autumn, Wheeling plunged directly into varsity football competition, and was thumped eight times. Conant played no varsity games, splitting in junior varsity activity.

The second autumn, Wheeling began to stir, winning twice and tying once in eight tries. Conant sent a varsity into the field, and took the eight thumpings.

This autumn, the Wildcat improvement continued to an impressive degree as Wheeling — in its first four games — lost only one 7-0 decis ionand placed itself forcefully in the ranks of the Mid-Suburban League contenders. Conant, in its first four games lost four more times.

Then came last Saturday. Wheeling won again, handling Niles North 13-0 in almost a routine decision. But that Saturday was also the day for Conant's first victory, with Prospect the 14-13 victim.

It was the first Cougar sip of the elixir success, and the question that is posed now is this: whose success continues this Saturday?

WHEELING and Conant meet head-to-head on the Cougar turf, with Bill Daletski's Wildcats determined to stay in the MSL race only a half-pace behind Arlington and Maine West, and Ron Rio's Cougars — having at last savored the flavor of victory — greedy for another serving.

The 'Cats will bring into the game a 4-1 season record, an explosive offense that's been held to an idle the past three games, and a wondrous defense.

They have lost only that one-touchdown decision to Arlington, so remain very much in the race. The team started with impressive decisions of 20-14 over Maine South and 33-12 over Prospect, but in the last three games the pattern has been tight football. Forest View went down 7-6, Arlington won, and then Niles North was stopped with two fourth quarter touchdowns.

THE NOTEWORTHY feature of those statistics is the defensive effort, for only 39 points have been scored on Wheeling in five games, only 13 in the last three games, an occurrence that saved two victories. Wheeling has been the impregnable bastion against rushing, giving a slim 326 yards on the ground to five opponents, but somewhat more generous against passing, allowing 540 aerial yards.

The 'Cats remain essentially a senior-dominated, two-way club, with most of the boys doing the defensive work doing the job on offense as well. That may account for the recent pattern of scoring just about enough to win, and bunching the scoring late, always in the second and fourth quarters. But no opponent will underestimate the Wheeling offensive potential.

The Wildcats have been operating mostly on the blended backfield talents of four young men. There is the breakaway threat, Tom Bastable, a senior transfer who's scored seven touchdowns, rushed for 259 yards and caught 10 passes for 319 more. There is the rattling, consistent fullback, Jon Hittman, a senior who's churned for 280 yards and who punts with proficiency. There is the twin-threat halfback, Rich Haddock, another senior who's passed for 178 yards and run for 174. And there is the quarterback, Robin Melzer, the only junior on the team and the boy labeled by headman Daletski as the team's unsung hero, a player who passes little and runs less, but keeps the team in motion with his poise.

THOSE FOUR operate behind a solid and sturdy line that'll be almost at full strength for the Cougars. Only center Tom Traversone is out — he with a head injury — and in his place is the 223-pound veteran Ryan Sarti.

Wheeling will confront in Conant a young team that started to come around in the third game, a 28-0 loss to Arlington. There followed a last-minute loss of 14-7 to then-unbeaten Niles West, and the triumph over Prospect.

The Cougar forte in the recent efforts has been running, a factor that would bode well for Wheeling if the Wildcat defenders are in their usual form. The running has been led by fullback Art Leitz, a stocky plunger who is also the only senior slated in the starting backfield. But in the last four games, there has been eye-opening balance in the rushing among Leitz and the lithe junior halfbacks Barry Alexa and Mike Berns. The three — in those four games — have carried respectively 45, 39 and 44 times, and they have gained 142, 144 and 154 yards.

BUT CONANT can pass if it must, and pass well. The arm — the short passing variety — belongs to junior quarterback Paul Witkowski. He connects almost every other time he throws, 37 times in 78 tries over-all for 344 yards. In the MSL, he's hit 18 of 37 for 164 yards to rank third among the league's aerialists.

But the Cougars prefer the quick running game, so there could be a genuine test of Wheeling's defenders. One of the keys is if Conant is at full strength, for the Cougars also go with thin front line ranks. Leitz and reserve halfback Jim Carter have both been at least temporarily hobbled with foot injuries, and two key linemen also have wounds. First string guard and linebacker John Armfield missed the Prospect game with an infected foot, and rugged 215-pound tackle Jim Lohff has a neck problem.

Their health is a necessity for Conant, but even being at full strength won't mean as much as the events of last Saturday. Now both sides have known success, though it will continue for only one.

Pirates Host Maine

by KEN KNOX

There was one game from the 1965 football season not likely to be forgotten at Maine West.

It was the first game of the conference season, a game contested with Palatine, and lost by the Warriors 12-0. Its significance became obvious at the season's end.

Palatine went on to similarly defeat its next four conference rivals, and Maine was never beaten again. Their confrontation thus became the difference as Palatine ruled the Mid-Surburban League and Maine missed by one game a perfect season.

The memory of that meeting cannot be put aside this Saturday, for the two will meet again. Only this time, the scene and the circumstances will be altered.

The scene will be Hale Hildebrandt Field at Palatine's Fremd High School, as the Pirates play to a home crowd for the last time in 1966. And now it is Maine West—with two wins and a tie in the MSL—coveting a league title, as Palatine—at 1-2--resides in the league's "outside chance" ranks.

"WE'VE GOT a big job ahead of us," Palatine's first-year headman Arv Herstedt noted, citing not just the revenge motive, but the fact that in 1966 Maine West has been showing itself as a sharply-honed, menacing running team.

"It'll be a tough one," reflected Maine's veteran mentor Kenny Olson. "They gave us a pretty good going-over last season, and they have a few boys back from that team."

In truth, 1966 is not 1965, and there have been some costly personnel losses, notably at Palatine. But there's every indication that the coaches' predictions of a rugged go will be fulfilled.

MAINE WILL bring to Palatine the most penetrating rushing game in the MSL, a ground offensive that has accumulated 714 yards in just three league contests. The Warrior charging clearly overshadows the passing game, which has produced just 86 yards in those three games. But even that is deceiving, because as a 53-yard touchdown toss in the crucial game with Arlington will attest, Maine can pass if it must.

There may, however, be a weakened link in the Warrior rushing attack this Saturday. The heretofore strongest link in the attack--5-7, 179-pound running back Ken Mandelky--came out of the 14-14 tie with Arlington with an injured shoulder and arm. There's no certainty it'll keep him out of action, but even the threat of it is noteworthy, because Mandelky--with 365 yards in three games--has taken command as the conference's individual rushing leader.

Herstedt's Palatine hopefuls, after balancing opening trouncings by Glenbrook North and Arlington with successive victories over Elk Grove and Prospect, were jolted again last Saturday. They fell 19-0 to Forest View, dipping to the 1-2 league standard and a tie for fifth.

"WE DIDN'T PLAY that badly against Forest View," Herstedt offered, "but we let them get away for some big plays, and we made far too many mistakes. We committed too many penalties, and blew too many assignments."

More costly from Palatine's point of view was the inability to move FV's defensive linemen and make running room for the Pirate backfield. The Falcons were rough and tough, said Herstedt, and the Pirates could not move them with enough efficiency to make any headway.

League Harrier Meet

senior captain Greg Busch, hero of the dual win over the Warriors, sophomore Tom Swanson and junior Rich Saxton.

No man has beaten Maine West's junior LaBadie, whose portfolio includes the championship of the varsity division of the Maine West Center Meet as well as all the duals in which he has run. If any runner were to be singled out as the meet's individual favorite, it would be LaBadie.

AND IF MAINE were to overtake Arlington in the conference meet, it would be by LaBadie getting decisive support from a cast including Ed Lusk, Doug Chase, Scott Schlesser, Bill Deuser and Jim Kasaris. A year ago, when LaBadie ran second in the MSL meet, Lusk was seventh and Chase was eighth, so the veterans are there.

The only likely complication for Arlington and Maine in their head-to-head for team honors would be the intrusion of the standouts of the other teams in the high individual rankings. But no team, it would seem, can hope to challenge the Cards and Warriors, particularly not after the decisive beatings given Forest View by Arlington and Palatine by Maine West in the dual finales Tuesday afternoon.

Of the three teams in the second cluster, Conant and Forest View have the best opportunity to field one of the meet's individual laurel-winners.

Jack Ary's Cougars have been led all season long by senior Dick Ledford, one of the area's stellar runners. He has beaten every runner in the conference but Arlington's Dieters, though illness forced him to miss the dual running against LaBadie. In Conant's struggle for third with FV and Palatine, Ledford will be augmented by another senior, Dave Troy, a surprising sophomore in Glenn Lee, and two more sophs in Bob Lesher and Sam Burns. They've taken the Cougars to a 9-3 over-all dual mark.

THE FALCONS —under new headman John Heenan — have in Ted Lambert a premier performer in big competition, a fourth place finisher in the MSL meet last autumn, with a sixth this year in the Maine Center Meet (behind LaBadie's first and Ledford's third) and a second in the Janesville meet. Supplementing Lambert in FV's charge to a 9-4 mark over-all have been Cliff Kuhnlohe, Dick Appleton, Joe Branka and — last year's MSL soph king — Oscar Pequeno. Pequeno is a key, for his ninth at Janesville showed he can run with the big groupings.

Palatine's senior-dominated Pirates have been trained to run as a pack by headman Dick Storm, and no individual stands out, though Mike Ferguson and Bill Bahnfleth have been the most frequent leaders. One youngster in the group, sophomore Mark Visk, has also won for them, with the support coming from Dennis Denton, Jerry Weyrich and Bruce Atkinson. The key in the Pirate bid for third is just how well the pack travels. For the season, the team has run up a 7-5 over-all record.

Prospect and Wheeling both run with very young teams, neither unit having a senior among its consistent leaders, and Wheeling further troubled by injuries. They will be confined to thrash for the last two places, though in junior Steve Holmes, Prospect headman Joe Wanner has one runner who could crack the elite group.

MOST OF THE support of the Knights efforts — which have garnered a 4-9 over-all mark — has come from juniors Owen MacBride and Dave Baker.

Wheeling's best under headman Ken Carter has been junior Phil Smith, who's never been worse than seventh, and won one dual. Four other juniors — Bill Martin, Len Eaton, Steve Mykytiuk and Andy Black — have been the best of the rest, but Martin, Eaton and Black have all had injuries.

It is on the frosh-soph level where Prospect is expected to assuage whatever remorse it may sustain at the varsity level, and the Prospect scores in the MSL competition underline the cause for optimism.

WANNER'S younger Knights have run perfect scores against Wheeling and Palatine, 17-46 finishes against Conant and Forest View, 21-36 against Maine West and 24-33 against Arlington, but that lone close score was before Arlington standout Scott Butler was elevated to the varsity.

The leader all season—his only conference loss to Butler—was the appropriately-named sophomore Dave Proudfoot. He paced a potent 1-2-3 punch with Doug Bach and Dick Paulson, those three leading the Knights to a record of 12-1 over-all and 6-0 in the MSL.

Just behind, at 5-1, is chief contender Maine West, and again—just to get a share of the title—Maine would have to win Friday. The Warriors have strength, with Bob Glitz, Mike Wolski, Gary Wolf, John Plas, Al Schank, Marty Swanson and Darryl Jonasson a solid and balanced nucleus.

ARLINGTON, 6-3 over-all and 4-2 in the MSL, will be among the leaders in the sophomore running, but has lost to both Prospect and Maine West, and without Butler will be hurting in a chance to take the meet's number one spot. Al McKay and Ken Malcolmson have been pacing the Card underclassmen in the recent going, and will be the surest Arlington threats in the meet.

Conant, Forest View and Wheeling are all in a bunch for fourth in the MSL with 2-4 dual standings, and they'll have to distinguish among themselves in the crowd Friday. Each has at least one boy who could crack the top 10, Conant with freshman Ron Schweigert, Forest View with Bob Bell and Wheeling with Frank Savage.

Palatine, ravaged by two school splits in three years, has its thinnest frosh-soph harrier ranks in memory, and the thinnest record. The team is dead last in the MSL with an 0-6 mark, and is 0-12 over-all, though in Scott Smith and Jim Weyhenmeyer there are two boys who could pace with the leaders.

Prospect Near Soph Title

Conant, Knights In Harrier Dual Split

Conant's cross country men ripped Prospect's varsity last Saturday morning, but the Knights — with a similarly severe trouncing on the frosh-soph level — all but tucked away the Mid-Suburban League's soph title.

The varsity final, with the Cougars taking seven of the first eight places, ended at 18-45 Conant. It boosted Conant to a 2-3 mark in MSL duals, and dropped Prospect to 1-5.

The Prospect triumph — by the order of 17-46 — on the lower level was the sixth straight for the Knights in MSL soph running, putting the Knights in a commanding position for this Friday's title-deciding conference meet. The dual record counts half toward the final team standing.

PACING THE varsity victory for Conant, again, was senior Dick Ledford. He was the only runner under 10 minutes on Prospect's 1.9 mile course, coming in at 9:59 in windy and cold conditions. Surprising sophomore Glenn Lee came in second at 10:10 for Jack Ary's Cougars, while junior standout Steve Holmes — with a third — ended best for Joe Wanner's Prospect pack.

Conant took the next five places after that, with Dave Troy, Sam Burns and Bob Lesher scoring, and Sam Culpepper and Jim Kramer running in pusher positions.

Prospect's scoring was completed with Owen MacBride, Joe Wilcox, Bruce Oswald and Dave Baker in the ninth through 12th spots.

The decisive frosh-soph win was featured by Prospect claiming 11 of the first 12 spots, surrendering only a fourth to Conant's Ron Schweigert.

Dave Proudfoot loped in first again for the Knights, with Dick Paulson and Doug Bach making it a 1-2-3 Prospect finish. Tom Klinker and Bill Treece completed the winning totals with fifth and sixth placings.

Cards, Falcons

tighten up against the ground game. They've yielded 683 rushing yards in four league outings.

Arlington's head man Al Allen was encouraged with the line blocking and running of his backs in the 14-14 tie with Maine West but stressed once again the need for "a more consistent effort."

"We made some big mistakes and they were costly," he emphasized.

ON OFFENSE Arlington relied primarily on its rushing game with seniors Steve Conley and Mick Wadzita ripping for 241 yards against Maine.

Conley moved into second place in the league with 140 yards in 26 cracks, his best effort since he dashed for 139 in only 12 tries as a junior against Riverside-Brookfield.

The effectiveness of the running game and a stiff wind kept Arlington from using the forward pass much against Maine, but the big threat is still there with Steve Allen throwing to such receivers as Jim Donchess, Dave Lockwood, Brad Somers, and Conley.

DONCHESS GRABBED two passes last Friday to move into sole possession of the pass receiving lead in the MSL. He has 12 receptions for 142 yards.

Allen completed three for 41 yards to hike his season totals to 47-for-97 for 837 yards and five touchdowns. The only school mark Steve doesn't have, most touchdown passes in a single season, is still within reach with three games left. George Bork has the record of seven in 1959.

Defensively, two boys earned plaudits from the coaching staff for their work against Maine West. Ron Horcher and Bruce Weber were both prominent on defense with Weber, the 6-1, 205-pound linebacker, covering a Warrior fumble at the Arlington five yard line to help save the tie.

It'll be Dad's Night Friday at Arlington for this important Mid-Suburban engagement.

Illini Top Rugby Club

The Arlington Heights Rugby Club played host to the University of Illinois Rugby team Sunday and came out second best.

The Illini brought a big, strong, quick team that proved to be too much for the smaller Arlington team and they scored a 14-0 victory.

The University of Illinois scored on three tries, a goal kick and a goal kick after try to run up their 14 points. The Arlington club was never able to put any sound offense together as they were overpowered each time they got the ball.

It was a well played game but size and strength were the difference.

Buffalo Grove's Jaycees to Host State Golf Meet

The Buffalo Grove Jaycees will host the 1967 Illinois State Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament, July 17-19, 1967 at the Indian Lakes Country Club in Bloomingdale.

Mike Spinello, Buffalo Grove Jaycee project chairman, made this announcement following the State Jaycee Board Meeting in Rock Island last Saturday. The Buffalo Grove Chapter competed with Freeport, Ill., for the site of the tournament.

The Buffalo Grove bid team made up of Spinello, Bob Dinschel, Don Fletcher, Ben McQueen, Ed Groth, Jim Burt, Al Thorud, Jim Pfister, Chuck Mandala and Buffalo Grove Jaycee President Chuck Giebelhausen won the support of 218 of the 271 voting delegates.

The Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament is statewide competition for boys under the age of 18. Winners of the State event compete in the National Jaycee Tournament which has produced such champions as Jack Nicklaus.

THE BUFFALO GROVE bid was based upon the pledge to provide a professional competition on championship calibre courses. The Indian Lakes Country Club features two 18-hole courses of highly challenging golf. The club is located near the intersection of Lake Street and Roselle Road in Bloomingdale.

Contestants in the state competition will be sponsored by their local Jaycee chapter. They will represent the finest young golfers in Illinois. Buffalo Grove, the host chapter, will be responsible for all arrangements including lodging, meals, prizes and special events. Lodging will be provided at the Holiday Inn on Algonquin Road in Rolling Meadows.

Special competitions will be held to select the longest drive and closest to the pin contestants and special golf clinics will be conducted by the club professional Keith Marks.

The Buffalo Grove bid was the first attempt by the young chapter to sponsor a statewide event and the first time in several years that the tournament will be held in the Chicago Metropolitan area.

Knights In Soph Tie

Conant and Prospect slugged it out in a defensive-style sophomore football game Saturday, battling to a scoreless deadlock on a cold and wet Cougar field.

Conant put up the greatest scoring threat in the second quarter when the Cougars recovered a fumble on the Knight 13. But the drive for the score was stopped on the four. Time helped Prospect on the other serious Conant threat, when Jim Button hit Larry Fuller with a 45-yard pass to Prospect's 27, and then tossed a 15-yarder to Farinosi. But the game ended before another play could be run.

Host St. Mel Sunday

Lions in Homecoming

by BOB FRISK

This one is for the grads.

It's homecoming week at St. Viator High School.

Coach Joe Gliwa's varsity Lions, anxious to rebound after a three-touchdown setback, will entertain St. Mel Sunday afternoon at the Prospect High Stadium.

With the graduates returning to get a look at this 1966 St. Viator eleven, the Lions are intent on delivering a sharp effort.

Coming to town will be a St. Mel eleven that has been through a steam-roller for the first two weekends of the Chicagoland Prep League season.

THE KNIGHTS, not a bad club but certainly not in the same class with St. Patrick and DeLaSalle, had the misfortune of drawing the Shamrocks and Meteors as their first two league adversaries.

St. Patrick rolled to a 39-0 victory, scoring three touchdowns in the second quarter, and DeLaSalle waltzed to a 39-13 advantage last Sunday, exploding for 33 first half points.

Coach Bob McAlpin's club may still be in a state of shock after that pair of disasters, but the Knights want to give their fans something to shout about—however little that may be—over the concluding weeks of the season.

They hope to start on the road back to respectability Sunday against the Lions.

ST. VIATOR, a 1-1 club in league action and 3-2 over-all, has been working this week to sharpen up the offensive and defensive games that had their problems last Saturday in an 18-0 loss to Marian Catholic.

"Marian was a good club," admitted Lion coach Gliwa. "They were as good if not better than Argo (16-0 winner over St. Viator), but we were a victim of circumstances last weekend.

"We had injuries at key positions and had to do too much juggling of personnel. Injuries took two dependable blockers off the line and that hurt our offensive game."

THE PROBLEMS started early in the week with the loss of veteran halfback Larry Snyder, and last Thursday regular Jim Dahl, a stickout both ways up front, showed up with a broken collar bone.

Early in the game Saturday evening regular end Frank Bianca suffered a broken ankle that will keep him on the sidelines for the remainder of the campaign.

"The boys' morale was down after all this," said Gliwa, "and we just couldn't get started."

BUT THERE'S hope for better days ahead, starting this Sunday on homecoming.

Snyder should return at halfback, and he will welcome another crack at St. Mel. The Lion speedster collected over 100 yards rushing and scored three touchdowns last fall in St. Viator's 27-12 conquest of the Knights.

Bob Stevens, the southpaw quarterback, showed some pass receiving ability against Marian and may get the opening nod at left end Sunday. With Stevens at a flank junior Denny Palubicki will get the first call at quarterback.

JOHN LITTWIN, a 5-7, 150-pound senior, will open as the offensive center as 200-pound Paul Rocca, who played both center and end last Saturday, goes back to his tackle slot.

Rocca, who has played everywhere up front for St. Viator, caught one pass for nine yards in his work as an end.

The Lions are hoping for a dry track Sunday to spring swift backs Snyder, Johnny Cook, and Kevin Coulter on some long dashes.

A wet, muddy field last Saturday evening helped hold Cook down to only 11 yards rushing. John made his debut in the Chicagoland the previous week with 91 yards against St. George.

ST. VIATOR has two victories in three games with St. Mel since assuming varsity status.

The Lions of 1963 dropped a 20-19 decision to the Knights, but the 1964 club prospered, 15-7. Snyder paced the show last fall as St. Viator pulled away from a 6-2 halftime advantage to post a 27-12 victory.

The action Sunday will begin at 2 p.m. with no preliminary competition scheduled.

Conant Rules Double Dual

Those addicted to the use of school nicknames might have called it a cat-fight.

Conant's Cougars thrashed with the Wildcats from Wheeling and Libertyville in double dual cross country action Tuesday afternoon, and everyone had at least a little of the action.

The Cougars — hosting the competition on the Pure Oil Co. grounds course — had the best of the benefits. Jack Ary's charges handled both teams in the varsity action, whipping Wheeling 17-44 and Libertyville 22-37, while Libertyville had the best of the scoring against Wheeling, 20-40.

On the frosh-soph level, Wheeling took Conant 20-35 and Libertyville 18-45, while the Cougars made it 19-44 over Libertyville.

The Conant-Wheeling scores counted into the Mid-Suburban league dual standings, completed with the running around the loop Tuesday. The Cougar varsity ended at 3-3 in the MSL, and in a tie for third, while Ken Carter's 'Cats landed last at 0-6.

In the frosh-soph ranking, both locals ended at 2-4 in the league, and in a three-way tie for fourth place.

CONANT'S DICK Ledford led everyone in the varsity competition, coming in at 10:34.9 on the 1.9 mile course, easily ahead of the number two man, Libertyville's Mike Nutting.

Against Libertyville, the closer of the two matches, Conant had Ledford's first, Glenn Lee's second, Sam Burns' fifth, Dave Troy's sixth and Bob Lesher's seventh, while Libertyville's best was Nutting in second and John Worthen in fourth.

Against Wheeling, the places for Conant read first, second, third, fifth and sixth, with Phil Smith getting fourth, Len Eaton seventh, Andy Black 10th, Jim Weber 11th and John Cammarata 12th for Wheeling.

THE WHEELING placing was little better against Libertyville's recently-crowned Lake County champions, though there Smith had a third and Eaton a fifth.

The frosh-soph race featured a spirited race between Conant's Ron Schweigert and Wheeling's Frank Savage, with Schweigert's 11:48.4 taking the race by six-tenths of a second. But Wheeling had it as a team, Savage running second, Keith Gresens third, Greg Gawlik fourth, Austin Trice fifth and Tom Yockey sixth for the Wildcats. Savage's second was good for first against Libertyville.

Conant's top five also had their best placings against Libertyville. There, Schweigert had the first, Roy Vombrack third, Mike Beck fourth, Dick Culton fifth and Dale Bond sixth.

Dieters No. 1

Card Harriers Whip Falcons

by BOB FRISK

Arlington junior sensation Dave Dieters, who couldn't catch Maine West's Lee LaBadie, did catch Forest View's Ted Lambert Tuesday afternoon as he paced the Cardinal cross country team to a surprisingly easy 19-36 victory at Pioneer Park.

Dieters, who ran second to LaBadie on Friday afternoon in the Cards' impressive 27-28 win, staged one of his patented blazing finishes in kicking past Lambert for a sizzling 9:53 clocking, only one second shy of his own course mark.

The victory was Arlington's sixth straight in Mid-Suburban Conference action with the Cards carrying the favorite's label into the league run this Friday at Mount Prospect Country Club.

The loss was the third for the Falcons in six league outings.

ONCE THE RACE got under way Tuesday, it became apparent that the big battle was not for the team victory but for the individual crown.

Arlington's exceptional balance showed itself early and the Cards appeared to have an easy team win, but the individual dual between Lambert and Dieters was a different story.

Lambert, a varsity veteran of three years who had finished two spots ahead of Dieters in the Janesville Invitational, took the lead early and held that advantage for a good portion of the race.

THEN DIETERS made his move, and the classy Card junior hit the chute in a swift 9:53, one second off the mark he set against Conant earlier this year and 50 seconds better than his finest effort as a sophomore.

Lambert followed with a fine 10:01, and Arlington pushed through runners in the three to six slots to cement the decision.

Rory Cassidy (10:08) claimed third place honors, four seconds ahead of sophomore teammate Tom Swanson. With his 10:12 Swanson reached his career best and placed himself on the all-time best list for the Pioneer layout.

CAPT. GREG BUSCH, the hero of Arlington's win over Maine West, was fifth in 10:22, and junior Rich Saxton was sixth in 10:23.

Forest View landed the next four spots with Oscar Pequeno in seventh (10:34), Cliff Kuhnlohe in eighth (10:39), Dick Appleton in ninth (10:41), and Joe Branka in tenth (10:44).

Arlington also won the frosh-soph meet, 19-42, to finish 4-2 in conference duals. Forest View was 2-4.

Al McKay of the Cardinals flashed across the line in first place, and he was followed by Bob Bell of Forest View.

Also scoring for Arlington were Dave Marszalek in third, Bill Price in fourth, Ken Malcolmson in fifth, and Jim Kolari in sixth.

Other Falcons counting were Mike McCormack in seventh and John Hanely, Attila Matayas, and Brad Davis.

But Varsity Falls

Prospect's Soph Runners Triumph

Despite the absence of their number one runner, Prospect's sophomore harriers finished out their dual slate with win number twelve at Deerfield Tuesday while the varsity teammates succumbed for the ninth straight time.

The soph win, 20-38, was spearheaded by Doug Bach and Dick Paulson eight seconds apart in the number one and two slots respectively. Bach was clocked at 11:02.

They picked up the slack created when ace runner Dave Proudfoot was unable to compete. Backing up Bach and Paulson were Bill Treece in fourth, Bill Skibbe in sixth and Bob Matthews in ninth.

Warrior scorers were Rick Mittleman (3), Craig Fairbairn (5), Lief Backe (8), Jim Sherman (11) and Dave Lawrence (13).

The hosts were victorious in the varsity run, 20-36. Steve Holmes was Prospect's best in third position. Other Knights finishing high were Owen MacBride (5), Chuck Forbes (8), Joe Wilcox (10) and LeRoy Rateike (12).

Willy Clayton hit the chute at 10:26 to give Deerfield the nod for individual honors and mate Dave Winkelman followed in second.

Rounding out the top Warrior five were Jim Gesler in fourth, Terry Globerson in sixth and Steve Treiber in seventh.

Prospect's varsity harriers have been unable to win since they captured their opening four meets. In the meantime the soph crew has romped to a final 12-1 overall mark.

Falcons Triumph

The Forest View harriers took the top five places as they easily handled the Spartans of Glenbrook 15-48 in a cross country meet last week.

Ted Lambert, a young man who shows the results of hard work, again led his teammates and the field home as he covered the two mile plus course in a 10:37 clocking.

Lambert was aided most ably in the team effort by Dick Appleton, Cliff Kuhnlohe, Oscar Pequeno, and Joe Branka who finished in the second through the fifth places.

The Falcons also won the seventh, eighth, eleventh, and twelfth places to finish a fine effort.

On the sophomore level freshmen Bob Bell continued to impress with another first place fifth. It was not enough though as Glenbrook North took a 21 to 39 victory.

John Hanely took the sixth spot for the Falcons with Mike Kinneman coming in ninth.

LaBadie Immense

MW Harriers Whip Palatine

by KEN KNOX

If it was a tune-up for the conference meet tomorrow (Friday), then Maine West Tuesday put its cross country machine into passing gear.

The Warriors, running Palatine in the last Mid-Suburban League dual of the 1966 season, ripped the Pirates on both the sophomore and varsity levels. With the wins, both the Warrior upperclassmen and underclassmen improved to 5-1 in league duals, both marks equal to second in the standings.

Palatine's varsity leveled at 3-3 in the MSL with the loss, and the frosh-soph suffered its sixth straight setback in the loop.

The varsity running went to Maine 15-44, as Bill Barringer's runners took the first five places. Standing out with immensity was junior Lee LaBadie, who romped home on Palatine's 1.85 mile course in Rolling Meadows' Salk Park in 9:06. That was 31 seconds ahead of the meet's number two man, Warrior Ed Lusk, and more significantly, 22 seconds under the course record set by Arlington's Dave Dieters.

AFTER LaBADIE and Lusk, Maine recorded the sweep with Doug Chase, Scott Schlesser and Bill Deuser running third through fifth.

Dennis Denton, in a clocking of 9:54, came in first for the Pirates with a sixth place finish. Bill Bahnfleth was seventh, Mike Ferguson eighth, and Jerry Weyrich and Bruce Atkinson were given 11th and 12th to complete the Palatine scoring.

The Pirates started the frosh-soph race with a bit of a handicap when four of the team's leading runners missed the bus to the park, but the Warriors showed such power it probably didn't make much difference in the outcome.

The final was the perfect 15-50, with Maine gathering up the first 13 places. The best for the Pirates was freshman Steve Bahnfleth, while the Warriors put their first seven — Bob Glitz, Mike Wolski, Gary Wolf, John Plas, Al Schank, Marty Swanson and Darryl Jonasson — in the chute within seven seconds of each other.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Play is a necessary part of a dog's life and the right kind can be fun for both you and your dog. Many dogs become troublesome because they don't have a way of letting off steam. The dog then devises his own recreation such as barking, fence running, digging or chewing up draperies or shoes, and owners are usually to blame.

The form of play you give your dog should depend on his age, stage of development and health. Younger odgs have an abundance of energy which requires direction. They learn a lot from games which also serve to give them exercise. For example, the youngsters' game of "hide and seek" is an excellent way to encourage a puppy to use his sense of smell, and he has fun at the same time. Throwing a ball will develop his muscles, give him exercise and recreation. One thing, however, don't choose a game that will tax your dog too much. As pointed out by the Gaines Research Center, New York, older dogs, and obese ones, as well as puppies, should not be encouraged to play beyond their capabilities.

A puppy uses a lot of energy just in growing, as well as playing, and therefore needs plenty of rest. After a while you will fin that a scheduled period of real play should be followed with a rest period, and that means a real rest. He can be penned in wherever his bed is, and though he may complain at first, he will soon get the idea and sleep. Keep in mind that during the age a puppy is teething, around four or five months, he will begin to chew everything in sight. You can help him by providing a knuckle bone or biscuit to chew on. This will aid in loosening the teeth, which might be giving him some pain.

When a puppy is teething, make sure you have something around for him to chew on or amuse himself. If you don't, he may find it great fun to chew on the furniture or a pair of your best shoes.

One last thought on the subject of play. Recreation for your dog should always be safe and within the boundaries of your own home. He may get more exercise by letting him run loose, but you are exposing him to dangers of all kinds. About safe play, just a thought, don't let your pup play with a rubber or plastic ball that has a bell in it. If he chews through the ball and swallows the bell, you've got trouble.

About time—

Hope you hunters have your dog ready for the season. Some of the private game preserves and clubs are now open and that Nov. 11 date for pheasants is getting close.

Talked to a number of folks at the Golden Retriever National Specialty a few weeks ago, and the real confirmed field dog owner has all of his dogs ready now. Early practice helps bring in the game and when it comes to a bird that has been just nicked and crippled the dog is the best way to find him and the humane way to go about hunting.

Publicity Guide—

A booklet, "Your Dog Show and the Press," designed to aid dog organizations in obtaining maximum publicity for their shows has been published by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, in cooperation with the Dog Writers' Association of America. This booklet contains a wealth of information for dog club publicity chairmen, and a free copy can be had by writing to Gaines "Press Booklet," P.O. Box 1007, Kankakee, Ill. 60901.

For First Win Ever

Conant Stops Knights

by KEN KNOX

There is no force so powerful as an idea—or a football team—whose time has come.

With both, the result is inevitable, and the result is success.

And for Conant High School's football team—after disappointment and anguish in 12 successive attempts—the time obviously had come last Saturday afternoon.

The thought had been implanted in the young Cougars that if ever they were going to win, it would be that day against Prospect's similarly-winless Knights, and it would happen despite it being Homecoming day for Prospect.

It did happen. Conant won 14-13, an occurrence of delirium for the hardy partisans who braved the fierce wind and cold that mantled the Prospect turf. Its meaning might not have been fully comprehended by the Prospect loyalists, whose own hopefuls have been besieged with football misfortune the past two seasons.

FOR WHILE Prospect has known past grandeur on the gridiron, a Conant team — in all the school's short history — has never won a varsity football game. Not ever. Not until last Saturday.

The closest a Cougar team had ever come was in the eighth game of the 1965 season when Conant lost 20-19 to another Prospect eleven. That victory assured Prospect of a finish just ahead of Conant in the Mid-Suburban League's rankings, just as Conant's win Saturday boosted the Cougars a step ahead of Prospect into a tie for fifth, the first time Conant has escaped the MSL's cellar.

For new headman Ron Rio, the pleasure of triumph put the Conant MSL mark at 1-2 and the season standard at 1-4, while for Don Williams' Knights—again close, but not close enough — the marks dipped to 0-4 and 0-5.

THE GAME HAD a peculiar stamp to it, almost the connotation that it was one Conant could not lose. After stopping Prospect on the game's first series from scrimmage, the Cougars rushed to a first quarter touchdown. When the margin proved insufficient, and Prospect rebounded to take the lead in the third period, Conant responded immediately with another touchdown. And in the last quarter, when Prospect — behind the running heroics of Vince Curry and Gary Cobe — threatened mightily to take the game back, the Conant goal couldn't be breached.

Twice in the waning minutes, with the Knights thoroughly dominating the fourth quarter play, Prospect advanced to just inside the Conant 10, and both times the drives sputtered into futility and missed field goals.

And even at that, Prospect might have had a tie in the game, but another of those mischances of fate sabotaged the possibility.

IT WAS A penalty that cost Prospect a point, just as it was penalties that helped thwart the last desperate Knight drives. The penalty was a five-yard assessment for being offside, and it dissolved a Tom Lundstedt point-after-touchdown kick that had knotted the game at 7-7 in the second quarter. Lundstedt missed on his second attempt, and that — blended with the fact that Conant's Tom Price was perfect on both his point-after tries — made the difference.

The first half of the game was played on 7-6 terms, though Conant had much the better of the play. The Cougars, behind the charging of junior halfback Mike Berns and senior fullback Art Leitz, easily out-rushed the Knights. On defense, they forced the Knights to give up the ball every time but one, when on one shocking play Prospect halfback Al Wilcox kept Prospect in the game with a 50-yard touchdown bomb to end Bob Anderson.

The Cougars took their first lead with only six minutes gone in the game. After getting Prospect to punt out — into the troublesome wind — on its own 43, Conant advanced briskly. Berns started it by popping through the line for 13 yards, and Leitz finished it by bulling into the end zone from four yards out. Price's kick made it 7-0, and so it stayed until three minutes into the second quarter.

PROSPECT, which had done nothing against Conant until then, righted it all with one play. Taking the ball after a Price punt to the 50, quarterback Bob Youngquist gave to Wilcox, and Wilcox hit the streaking Anderson with a right sideline pass that the solid end carried all the way across the goal. There followed the misadventure with the missed extra point.

First Ever

Allowing that pass completion—Prospect's only of the game—was Conant's only real mistake of the first half. The second mistake came in the third quarter, and produced the second Prospect touchdown.

Conant had stopped Prospect after the second half kickoff, and the Knight's Steve Niebuhr punted to Conant's 23. But the ball touched the Cougars' Ernie Drummond, and Wilcox pounded on it to take possession for Prospect. It was virtually all Curry after that, the hard-running senior back picking up 22 of the yards on five carries, and slamming over for the score with a fourth down and inches situation at the one yard line. Lundstedt's kick made it 13-7, but Conant bounced back instantly.

SOPHOMORE LARRY Sicher started it by runninge Cobe's kickoff back 25 yards to the Conant 45, and a penalty against Prospect put it on the 50. Then Conant's junior quarterback Paul Witkowski, reluctant to pass until then, took advantage of a prevailing wind at his back.

He sparked the team by hitting on three of four tries, the biggest a 19-yard gainer that Leitz carried down to Prospect's nine. Leitz moved the ball to the one on three carries, and Witkowski sneaked across in the midst of a flood of Cougar flesh. Price calmly added the crucial PAT.

After that came desperation for Prospect. The Knights clung to the ground, authoring two long marches, running 25 plays to nine for Conant in the last quarter. But it was to no avail.

IN THE FIRST foray, Curry and a 15-yard personal foul on Conant provided the impetus to the Conant 10. But there, an offside penalty put Prospect back to the 15, and Conant's defense stiffened. Lundstedt, with 5:25 to go, tried a field goal from near the 20, but it dropped harmlessly to the left of the goal posts.

Conant could use up only a minute trying to move after the miss, and Prospect took over again with a Price punt to the Knight 48. Then it was almost all Cobe, as the 165-pound junior crashed on dashes of 13, nine, eight and 12 yards to inside Conant's 10. But at that point, Conant—aided by a backfield-in-motion penalty on Prospect—held again. And again Lundstedt tried a field goal, And again it missed, though wide to the other side.

There were 38 seconds left then, and the Cougars could scarcely control their jubilation as Witkowski—on three successive dives—used up all 38.

SHORT FINGERS seem to be the problem for Conant's lanky end Greg Klopf, here straining unsuccessfully for an aerial in Saturday's Cougar-Prospect game. More likely it was that the pass was too high, and Klopf's fingers were not short, but cold. He did catch one nine-yard pass in the game, and Conant won 14-13. (Staff photo)

Cougar, Knight Frosh Divide

Prospect and Conant divided a pair of freshman football decisions over the weekend.

In Saturday morning action on Conant's field, the Cougar Frosh "A" squad whipped the Knights 21-0, but in the "B" game, it was Prospect on top by a 7-0 score.

No details were available on the team scoring.

On Pass Theft

Fremd's Jayvees Top Falcons, 7-0

It was a see-saw Jayvee battle in the mud and cold and only the Fremd Vikings were able to tally a score Saturday as they edged the host Falcons before a Forest View homecoming crowd 7-0.

It was a pass interception that gave the Vikings their scoring opportunity early in the second period. This one play was the difference between a scoreless tie and the one touchdown score.

With a strong wind blowing in their faces, the Falcons tried to pass. The wind held the ball up and Viking Kevin Fruend alertly picked off the Falcon aerial and scampered the 23 yards distance for the score. Quarterback Dick Strauss carried the ball around his own right end for the point after touchdown and the game was as good as over as far as scoring was concerned.

Late in the first half the Vikings again had a scoring chance. After another pass interception, the Fremd eleven had moved the ball to the Forest View two yard line but the time ran out and spoiled an easy scoring opportunity.

With the conclusion of this week's ball game the two clubs share identical over-all 2-3 records.

This weekend the Falcons will travel to Arlington to square off with the Cardinals who are 4-1 for the season. The Vikings will host Maine West in the preliminary action before the Palatine-Maine West battle.

Blanks Pirates, 19-0

Forest View Triumphs

by BOB NORDIN

It was cold, it was wet, and there was a wind out of the west that, according to assistant Forest View coach Hal Henson, was causing white caps on the water left standing on the track from the heavy rains the night before.

But the conditions seemed to have nothing but a good effect on the Falcons of Forest View Saturday as they defeated the visiting Palatine Pirates, 19-0, before a shivering homecoming crowd.

The Pirates and the Falcons always stage a good football battle and this year was no exception. In a well-played, hard-hitting game both clubs exhibited that they know the name of the game is contact. But the Falcons definitely had the edge as they rolled up a total of 283 yards.

Hammering Hank Tasche teamed with backs Bob Arnold, Frank Cavello, and Frank Waslewski to gain the bulk of the Falcon yardage as big Henry bruised his way for a total of 87 yards in 20 carries to lead the Forest View ground game.

THE FALCONS threw only two passes in the entire game and both of those fell incomplete, but it was a small matter as the ground game was excellent.

Palatine's Johnny Ekeberg did his best to lead the Pirate ground game but the tough little halfback was only able to gain 40 yards in 17 attempts for his efforts. Ekeberg has all the spunk and drive of any back in the league and considering that his blocking is often lacking, this young man does an outstanding job.

The Falcons opened the scoring late in the first quarter. It took just three plays for them to cover 47 yards after an exchange of punts with the final nine yard punch made by halfback Cavello on an off tackle slant. The big play of the series was a 34 yard scamper by converted halfback Bob Arnold that took the ball to the nine.

AGAIN LATE in the half the Falcons had possession and after a sustained march had their second touchdown. The Falcons had the ball for ten plays and moved 45 yards before Tasche bulled his way in to the end zone from the two yard line.

The third quarter was scoreless but the Falcons were on the Pirate five when they fumbled to stop a scoring drive. In the final period the Falcons made their last score of the afternoon. This time it took 13 plays for the Falcons to move the ball 63 yards. Waslewski did the honors for Forest View as he dived into the end zone from the five yard line.

After that the Pirates had the ball for only one more series of downs and when the Falcons gained possession they just ran out the clock.

FRANK WASLEWSKI
Scores From Five

ON A DAY WHEN they had very little passing and when good footing was at a premium, both clubs played good ball.

Forest View Sophs Trip Pirate Unit

The Forest View soph football unit gave the visiting Pirates from Palatine all they could handle and then some as they defeated the Bucs 19-7 last Saturday morning.

All the Falcon scoring came in the second and third quarters of play. Keith Bauer started things off for Forest View by blasting his way for the first score and then adding the extra point himself.

In the third period John Turner teamed with Don Winkelman on a pass play that gave the Falcons their second score. The extra point attempt failed. Later in the same period Turner teamed with John Caltigerone for the final Forest View tally but once again the try for point failed.

The Palatine scoring came in the final period of play when Phil Donahue belted his way eight yards for the Pirate score.

Forest View had the better of it in the line as each man did his job to make the holes necessary for a gain.

Two junior linemen were outstanding for the Falcons as Bob Savage and Spence Dreischarf both played heads-up football on defense. Savage accounted for eight tackles with four assists and Dreischarf got ten tackles and two assists. Dreischarf also did an outstanding job on offense.

Quarterback Rich Gillespie was the forgotten man this week as he only ran twice and passed twice but he also plays an outstanding defensive game and is probably one of the best all-around backs in the league.

Along with being a fine signal caller, a good passer and runner, defense is a strong point for Rich and this is an unusual situation for a quarterback.

Lion Eleven Suffers 18-0 Loss to Marian

By BOB FRISK

Marian Catholic has one problem as a new member of the Chicagoland Prep League.

It's a long way from Chicago Heights for those road games.

But the Spartans and their fans, those loyal few who braved the cold blasts that hit the suburban area last weekend, didn't mind the trip Saturday evening to Arlington Heights.

It never seems quite as long going home after a victory.

Marian's aroused Spartans, striking for a touchdown on their third play from scrimmage, had things pretty much their own way en route to an 18-0 victory over host St. Viator at the Arlington High field.

FEATURING an effective ground game sparked by 170-pound junior Bob O'Connor, the visitors from Marian struck in each of the first three periods as they wrapped up their first conference win in history.

For coach Joe Gliwa's Lions, plagued by problems of injuries and last minute juggling or personnel, it was an evening to forget. The offense never got untracked although they did show advances to the Marian nine and 12-yard-lines.

A wet field checked the effectiveness of the quick, pint-sized Lion backs who thrive on dry conditions.

However, the passing game did collect 79 yards on eight completions to push St. Viator above the 100 mark (101) in total yardage, 51 yards less than their previous low (152) posted in a 16-0 loss to Argo.

THE ISSUE was settled early — and swiftly. Marian scored in three plays after taking a punt back to the Lion 43 yard line.

O'Connor, a hard-hitting junior halfback, shot through the left side of his line behind some sharp blocking and sprinted to the Lion one yard line on the Spartans' first offensive maneuver of the evening.

In two plays quarterback Greg Lee carried across for the only touchdown needed by the visitors on this unusually cold October night.

ST. VIATOR had a chance to break out in front late in the opening period after co-captain Kevin Laird covered a Marian fumble on the Spartan 30 yard line.

An 18-yard pass from Bob Stevens to John Cook, a floater on which Cook had to come back a few yards to make a nifty grab, was the big play for the Lions in their penetration to the Marian nine yard line.

On a fourth and four play an incomplete pass cost the Lions the football and stymied their best threat of the game.

MARIAN SCORED its second touchdown in the second period on a march of 41 yards that was initiated by a dazzling 49-yard punt return by Tom Williams.

Williams returned to the Lion 41 yard line and in 12 plays, with Jim Olson the chief contributor, the Spartans scored again. O'Connor carried in from the three on a fourth and two play with five minutes remaining in the first half.

Marian Catholic moved out on top 18-0 in the third stanza with Olson hitting three yards around his left side for the six points. The march covered 44 yards and featured a 15-yard scamper by O'Connor.

The Lions advanced to the Spartan 12-yard line in the second half but once again failed to cash in for the tally.

THE DRIVE started on the Lion 30 and Cook banged for five yards to the 35. Stevens clicked with Paul Rocca, who played center and end for the injury-riddled Lions, on a nine-yard pass to the 44, and Denny Palubicki carried to the 46.

Palubicki and Stevens teamed up next to the Marian 41 yard line with Stevens, normally the Lion quarterback, hauling in his second pass of the evening and two plays later St. Viator was at the 19 thanks to a six-yard pass from Stevens to Dan Klingberg and 15-yard penalty.

But the push started to sputter here. Palubicki missed on a pass and Stevens picked up three to the Marian 16 and four more to the 12.

Faced with a fourth down situation, Palubicki started out to his right but slipped on the wet turf and was nailed for a one-yard loss. Marian took over, and the Lions never threatened again.

The loss was St. Viator's first in two conference outings and second of the season in five games. The Lions have been involved in four shutouts, winning two and losing two.

Cards, Warriors Tie

by BOB FRISK

At times superb but still needing a more consistent effort.

Those might be the remarks of any professor grading Arlington High School's big football exam last Friday evening.

Coach Al Allen's title-seeking Cardinals, striving to preserve an unbeaten standard, battled powerful Maine West to a 14-14 standoff in the Mid-Suburban Conference headliner under the Arlington lights.

There were flashes of brilliance in the Arlington effort, some tough, determined running on the attack and the finest offensive blocking of the season.

BUT THERE were some glaring deficiencies too in the overall performance, and although they were few, they were costly.

Maine's visiting Warriors, who remained only a half stride behind Arlington in the battle for the league crown, scored their first touchdown on a 35-yard reverse on the final play of the first half with 175-pounder Al Fritz carrying across.

"We had a big let up on the play," said Arlington's Allen. "We weren't fooled, we had our chances to stop him behind the line of scrimmage. The boy did make a fine run though."

THE WARRIORS scored their second and final touchdown with only 30 seconds left in the third quarter on a 53-yard pass from Bob Banger to Fritz, the only Maine pass completion of the night.

"A defensive lapse cost us here too," explained Allen.

While the Cardinals yielded two touchdowns in a single game for the first time this season and saw their shutout string snapped at 129 minutes over three outings, they did feature enough offense to gain a deadlock.

RARELY USING their most effective weapon, the forward pass, the Arlington eleven penetrated for 275 yards on the ground, pounding out 18 first downs, 15 via rushing.

"Our running game was working and we didn't have good field position when the wind (very prominent for the second straight week) was at our back," the Cardinal head man offered.

It was particularly discouraging in the final quarter, when Arlington had the wind advantage, that they could run off only five running plays, all deep in their own territory. Two time-consuming Warrior marches took care of the clock.

THE CARDINALS showed their ground game early, penetrating 88 yards the first time they handled the football Friday before yielding on downs at the Maine six-inch line. Mick Wadzita and Steve Conley were the chief carriers in the drive—and for the game—but the Warriors stiffened on a fourth and inches situation.

"And then it hurt when we let them out of the hole," said Allen.

Maine's Bob Banger exploded off his right side for 53 yards to the Arlington 46 yard line to take the pressure off the Warrior offense.

BOTH CLUBS demonstrated they could move the football in that opening half, but neither could find the end zone until Fritz dashed in from the Cardinal 35 on a triple reverse as time ran out. It was third and five with nine seconds left when the play originated.

Arlington didn't waste any time knotting the count in the second half, tallying in seven plays after Tom Chandler fell on the Cardinal kickoff at the Maine 28 while the Warriors stood by watching.

Conley, who finished with 140 yards for his night's work, and Wadzita, who had 101, alternated in carrying the ball to the three where Conley drove in for the touchdown. Steve Allen converted.

ARLINGTON went on top 14-7 later in the third quarter with a solid 70-yard march that once again featured the hard-running of Conley and Wadzita and a key nine-yard pickup to the Warrior five by Allen.

After Allen drove to the five on an end sweep, Conley hit for three more to the two. Allen then carried in for the touchdown with only 1:38 left in the quarter. Steve added the extra point.

It was tied one minute later as Banger found Fritz on a 53-yard payoff pass and Andy Sanchez kicked the 14th and final point.

MAINE WEST threatened midway in the final stanza but Banger fumbled at the Arlington five yard line and Card linebacker Bruce Weber covered the football.

The Cards never had another legitimate threat, but Maine was at the Arlington 30 at the gun thanks to some explosive running by 179-pound senior Ken Mandelky, the game's top ground-gainer with 143 yards in 21 cracks.

Cardinal Jayvees Rock Maine, 27-0

Arlington's jayvee Cardinals rebounded effectively from their first loss of the season to roll past visiting Maine West last Friday evening, 27-0.

The Cards of coaches Brendan Flynn and Bill Myers took a slim 6-0 lead into the dressing room at the intermission but erupted with three insurance scores in the concluding half.

Arlington counted first at 4:51 of the first quarter on a six-yard dash around left end by Denny Meacham that climaxed a 68-yard march. Dean Schmelzer started the drive with a 22-yard dash on the first play from scrimmage.

The Cards were at the Maine West 21 with one minute remaining in the first half, but the drive stalled.

The second half was all Arlington.

MEACHAM SCORED late in the third quarter on a nine-yard scamper, and Arlington made it 19-0 on a 20-yard pass from Bob Graham to Corky Croarkin. A short Warrior punt set up the third Cardinal tally.

The fourth touchdown belonged to the defensive unit. A blocked punt was covered in the end zone for the score by guard Brian Marinello, a 180-pound junior.

The extra points were added by Keith Culbertson on two kicks and by quarterback Graham on a crowd-pleasing run that took him from the eastern to the western sidelines in the closing seconds.

Frosh Lions Roll Past Marian, 34-0

Still unbeaten and still unscored-on.

St. Viator's frosh football team added Marian Catholic of Chicago Heights to its growing list of victims last Saturday morning.

Coach John Zid's Lions scored 22 points in the first half and coasted to a 34-0 victory over the host Spartans.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Lions, and the locals have outscored their opponents 144-0.

St. Viator will host St. Mel this Saturday morning at 10:00.

Tom Abinanti scored two touchdowns on runs of three and 25 yards in pacing the Lion victory over Marian.

Also scoring were George Halas on a quarterback sneak, Mike Osterman on a four-yard run, and Bill Madden on a fumble recovery in the end zone.

Steve Osterman, Steve Aylward, and Mark Browning teamed up to nail a Marian ball-carrier in the end zone for a safety.

Larry Quinnett kicked two extra points.

Spartans Coast, 50-0

Glenbrook No. Romps Past Elk Grove Unit

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

It was a nightmare in the daytime!

When the alarm went off signifying the end to this 48 minute period of frightful happenings, coach Dick Mudge and his army of Elk Grove varsity gridders blinked their eyes once again at the 50-0 final tally flashing on the Glenbrook North scoreboard and wearily trudged off the field of battle.

It was homecoming week on the Glenbrook North campus, and this unexpected margin of victory Saturday inflated the ego of the hearty Spartan fans who stuck it out to witness this romp.

THE HOME team was given a slight edge in pre-game prognostications, but this type of lopsided victory margin was never envisioned by even the most loyal of Spartan fans.

True, Glenbrook North had shown signs of being more than just a mediocre ball club in chalking up its 2-2 season record prior to this contest, but Elk Grove's youthful eleven had just come off its finest performance to date.

If there is a legitimate reason for the outcome, one would have to blame it on the weather elements, and the difference in the ability of the two squads to cope with these conditions.

THE PLAYING field was chewed up and muddy from a combination of rainy weather the day before and the aftermath of two other grid contests held on that field the same day. Also adding to the general uncomfortableness of the afternoon was a strong, cold, north wind that blew throughout the afternoon and affected not only the field combatants but also the halftime homecoming festivities.

Glenbrook North completely dominated the game, both offensively and defensively. Coach Harold Samorian generously substituted his charges after building up a comfortable first half margin, but this changed very little the offensive effectiveness of the Spartan machine.

The Glenbrook eleven piled up 331 yards from scrimmage, all by rushing, and the defensive unit held Elk Grove to a total yards gained of plus two. If it weren't for a 16 yard Larry Pahl to Ray Bauer final period, the Grenadiers would have shown a net loss in the yards gained from scrimmage column.

THE SPARTAN touchdown parade was evenly spaced with two scores in each period. Halfback Rob Menary scored twice on short runs, and the 145 pound junior was the only Glenbrook North gridder to tally more than once.

All were tallied on short yardage plays except for a 28 yard dash by Terry Santucci and a 26 yard scoot by Chester Kuro, after intercepting a Pahl aerial.

Malinsky burst through the Grenadier defense on a 45 zone in the fourth quarter, but a clipping penalty nullified this longest run of the game.

THE CLOSEST that Elk Grove was able to come to the Glenbrook goal line was to the Spartans' 45 late in the final quarter.

It may have been a happy homecoming for Glenbrook North returnees, but getting back to the home environs after this fiasco must also have brought a sense of relief to the Elk Grove contingent.

The Grenadiers will bury this 50-0 nightmare in their record book and prepare to make amends to their backers by pointing for a comeback win against their next challenge, Maine South's Jayvees this Saturday.

Giants Fall, Viking Unit Climbs to Tie

The Giants suffered their first defeat of the season Saturday and with that loss permitted the Vikings to climb into a first place tie for the lead in the Varsity division of the Arlington Boys Football League.

The Giants, who are now three and one for the season, fell to the Steelers in a hard fought battle, 6 to 0. The turning point came in the third period when Eric Tollefson intercepted a Giant pass and returned it 50 yards to the 8-yard line. Mark Leonard then raced around left end for the touchdown.

The Giants mounted a drive in the fourth period but this was stopped when Mike Musich intercepted a pass and returned it 20 yards. The Steelers then ran out the clock.

Outstanding on defense for the Giants, who held the Steelers to a net 15 yards rushing, were Ken Peters, Richie Crowell and Scott Mislan.

THE STEELER defense was anchored by linemen David Zare, Jim Enright, Brian Nelson, Doug Coobs and Musich and backs Mike Moser, Jim Anderson and Tollefson. Sparking the offense were Brad Smith, Steve Kuebler and Leonard.

The Vikings, with the division's most potent offense, crushed the Eagles 26-0. They have now won three while losing only to the Giants, 5 to 0, in the third game of the season. They have rolled up 64 points while allowing the opposition only 18.

Bill Millner opened the scoring for the Vikings in the first quarter with a five yard touchdown run. In the second quarter, Scott Swanezey smashed over from the 3-yard line.

THE VIKINGS WERE held scoreless in the third period but in the final frame Jim Stull took a five-yard pass from quarterback Steve Bach for a touchdown.

In the waning minutes of the game, Millner broke loose on a spectacular 40-yard touchdown run in which he successfully eluded four different tacklers who had their hands on him. This touchdown gave Millner 18 points for the season and second place among the division's leading scorers.

On Saturday the Giants will play the Steelers while the Vikings face the Eagles.

SENIOR DIVISION

With a decisive 33 to 0 victory over the Lions Saturday, the Rams assured themselves of at least a tie for the 1966 championship of the Senior division.

The Rams have now won four and lost none. Equally impressive is the fact they have rolled up 113 points while holding their opponents scoreless in four games.

Once again Saturday it was the touchdown twins, Gene Elsberg and Tom Cannon, who sparked the offense with five touchdown runs and three extra points. Elsberg is now the division's leading scorer with 62 points. He has scored a minimum of two touchdowns in each game played. Cannon is in second place with 28 points and he, too, has scored in every game.

THE LIONS DID a tremendous job against their stronger opponents, holding them to a 7-0 lead at halftime. The first touchdown in the opening period was produced on a 60 yard run by Cannon with Elsberg adding the extra point.

After a scoreless second quarter, Elsberg ran 80 yards for his first touchdown in the third period. Shortly thereafter Elsberg got loose on another 80-yard touchdown.

Cannon smashed over for another touchdown, his second of the day, in the fourth quarter.

The Lions started a drive that was stopped when Elsberg intercepted a pass and raced 70 yards for his third touchdown.

IN ADDITION TO Elsberg and Cannon, Grant Peterson and Danny Grant were outstanding on offense for the Rams. Greg Ziomek, Gary Falke, Mike Locasio and Dave Greiner sparked the defense. Helping the cause was the recovery of three fumbles by Elsberg, Cannon and Grant.

For the Lions, Dennis Foreman, Chick Donchess, Scott Douglas, Marty Epperly, and Mike Cleveland were outstanding on offense. Performing well on defense were Joe Cook, Jeff Frantz, Gordon Heise, Roy Genevich and Tom Rougeux.

The Redskins moved into second place in the Senior division with a 13 to 0 victory over the 49ers that evened their season record at two wins and two defeats.

The Redskins jumped off to a 6 to 0 lead in the first quarter when Tim Trummer, one of the division's leading pass receivers and third highest scorer, took a pass from Bruce Frase and raced 45 yards to score.

IN THE FINAL period, Frase broke through the line and rushed 41 yards to score. Frase carried the ball nine times and amassed 102 yards rushing. In addition he completed two passes to Trummer.

While the entire Redskin team was charged-up for the game, it was Fraze and Trummer who were most outstanding on both offense and defense. In addition to their scoring efforts, they played equally well when the 49ers had the ball, Frase at middle linebacker and Trummer at end.

For the defeated but not outfought 49ers, Jeff Sellbeck, Bob McDonald, Ed Emmerich and Craig Smith played well on offense while the defense was paced by Peter Harth, Randy Roling, Tom Harris and Butch Lanzon.

Next Saturday the 49ers will try and stop the Rams' march toward the title while the Lions play the Redskins.

JUNIOR DIVISION

The Packers maintained a firm grip on first place in the Junior division of the Arlington Boys Football League with a 21 to 6 victory over the Cardinals. The Packers have now won four and lost none.

The Cardinals quickly put an end to the Packers' record of never having been scored upon this season. Halfback Barry Brown took the opening kickoff, cut to his left and went 65 yards for what appeared to be a touchdown. However, he had stepped out of bounds on the three yard line. Larry Lins then took the ball over on a quarterback sneak.

The Packers got into the scoring column later in the first period when Jeff Braurer took a 37-yard pass from Greg Fink and went over for the touchdown.

In the second quarter, Fink scored for the Packers on a quarterback sneak.

THE FINAL touchdown was registered in the third period when Jim Merkle scored on a 20-yard end sweep.

For the season to date, the Packers now have a record of 72 points scored to only six for the opposition.

Playing outstanding football in the line for the Packers on both offense and defense were center Keith Johnston and Brent Clark at guard.

Offensive standouts for the Cardinals were guards Scott Bittner and Chuck Rudolph and ends Jeff Cleveland and Barry Brown. Playing well on defense were corner linebacker John Burkhart, linebacker Ricky Zelm, end Jim Beiser and tackle Jimmy Stevens.

THE BEARS STAYED right on the heels of the division leading Packers with a 14 to 6 victory over the Colts in a thrilling game that was not decided until the fourth quarter.

The Bears took the opening kickoff and marched down field until they had a first down and goal to go on the 8-yard line. The Colts held and took over on downs on the 2-yard line, and then punted out of danger.

The Colts again stopped the Bears and after taking possession started a drive downfield that was climaxed by Mark Weber's touchdown run around left end from the 13-yard line.

THE BEARS, held scoreless through the first three quarters, broke loose for two touchdowns in the final period. Fullback Tim Higgens scored on an 8-yard end sweep.

Quarterback Jeff Hammond accounted for the second and last touchdown when he went over from the 10-yard line.

Outstanding on defense for the Bears were the game's co-captains, Mike Phipps and John Brown.

In next Saturday's games, the Packers will play the Colts while the Cardinals meet the Bears.

Prospect JV Falls To Maine

Prospect's junior varsity football team couldn't get across the goal line Saturday, and it meant a 22-0 loss for the young Knights.

They fell to Maine South in the preliminary game to the Prospect homecoming tilt with Conant, the Hawks supplanting the Cougars in the competition because Conant has dropped JV ball for the 1966 season.

The loss evened the season mark for Dave Ziemek's eleven at two wins, two losses and a tie.

The Knights had difficulty moving most of the game on the cold and wet turf, though they threatened late in the game on a short drive keyed by a Steve Bang dash. That drive, however, ended with a fumble. Prospect's last gasp came with the time almost gone when Steve Shawhan picked off a Maine pass at midfield, but there wasn't enough left on the clock to launch a drive.

The Knight JV returns to action this Saturday, when both junior varsity and varsity will be at Deerfield for non-league action.

Brass Rail Records Big Win in Classic

The deadlock is broken and The Brass Rail now holds complete control of the first place spot in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

However, only three points separate the top three teams.

The Brass Rail now sports a 28 point total but Bill Cook Buick is in second, only two points back with a 26. Sports Chalet remains in close competition with 25 points and they are followed by Morton Pontiac with 22.

Karlsen Pharmacy is the holder of the fifth place spot and is followed by City Welding, Jeffery Lanes and Elk Grove Bowl.

Two new highs were added this week to that list of high honors winners. The Brass Rail now holds the number two spot for high team series as they rolled to a 2984 count. Al Jordan moved into the elite group who have bowled big games with an impressive 256 effort.

The Brass Rail gained seven points at the expense of Morton Pontiac Saturday. John Giovannelli led his teammates with a three game total of 631. His 220 was also individual high game for the winners.

Mike Wagner rolled a 588 to head the Morton team, but Glenn Westman had the high game with a 222.

Bill Cook Buick got four points to Jeffery Lanes' three with Jordan being the leading man for Cook and company. His 256 game was far and away the best for the evening and his 649 total count was the best series of the night.

Hec Healey led the Jeffery Lanes' group with a total pin count of 619. His two games of 225 and 223 were also high for his side.

Elk Grove Bowl and Sports Chalet battled it out, and Grove got four points to the Chalet's three, to get the better of that match. Ron Klotz rolled an even 600 game as he was high man for the total count for the winners.

Joe Simonis and Tom Kouros rolled the high games for the Chalet with 543 and 553 series. Joe Simonis' 210 was the high individual game.

Larry Dunn rolled a 604 final pin count to lead City Welding to a 4-3 win over Karlsen Pharmacy and his 244 single game count was also high for the Welders.

Neal Domin bowled a 621 for the Karlsen Pharmacy team but Ed Duff's 228 was the high game. Bill Smith had a 226 for the second high game for the Pharmacy.

In the Oct. 22 competition Elk Grove Bowl will square off with Jeffery Lanes on Jeffery home lanes, Karlsen Pharmacy will meet The Brass Rail, Bill Cook Buick will battle the Morton Pontiac men, and Sports Chalet will meet City Welding.

On Sunday, Oct. 30, the position round will be held at Thunderbird Bowl at 2 p.m.

Lattof Takes 2-Point Lead

The gals from Lattof Chevrolet now have sole possession of first place in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League by way of a two point edge over second place Striking Lanes.

Wheel Inn continues to hold third place and a two point bulge over Sylvia's Flowers who remain in fourth place. Morton Pontiac and River Rand Bowl are still in the fifth and sixth spots at the end of this week's competition.

The Lattof gals squared off with the group from Morton Pontiac and took the best of that match with three games to Morton's one. Juanita Davis had the high series for Morton and the entire aggregation as she rolled a 562. She also had the high game of an even 200 for her evening's efforts.

PEGGY HARRIS led the Lattof girls with a series count of 540. Her 191 game was also high for her team.

In the Striking Lanes vs Wheel Inn encounter the Wheel Inn gals got the better of it by winning three games to the Laners' one. Delores Harris rolled a 186, and two 189 games on her way to a high 564 series. Bonnie Kuhn's 208 was the high game for the Wheelers but it was far behind the 220 effort bowled by Eunice Whitmore of the Striking Lanes team.

Eunice also had the high series for the Laners with a 560 count but Judy Anderson added her support with a 553 total.

SYLVIA'S FLOWERS did little for River Rand's chances of escaping the cellar as they dumped them three out of four.

Marlene Smith and Jean Ladd were the only two gals to go over 500 for either team as they recorded a 507 and a 502 respectively for Sylvia's. Marlene's 187 was the high game for the flower girls and Gloria Lucchesi's 179 was the high game for River Rand.

Next week's schedule will pit River Rand Bowl against Morton Pontiac, Lattof Chevrolet against Striking Lanes, and Wheel Inn against Sylvia's Flowers with all the competition to be held at the River Rand Bowl Oct. 22.

Forest View Runs 25-30 Past Pirates

Three was better than five last Saturday, as Forest View stunned Palatine 25-30 in a wind-whipped, cold-abused cross country dual.

The two teams, both bent on winning a share of the higher honors in the Mid-Suburban League, ran their numbers in bunches, and in that was Forest View's success.

For the principal bunch for John Heenan's Falcons was 1-2-3, while Dick Storm's Pirates claimed the next five spots. With FV also adding ninth and 10th, the margin was assured.

The Falcon triumph stopped at seven a dual meet winning streak for Palatine, and in the MSL, it put the Falcons and the Pirates even in third place with 3-2 marks.

FIRST FACE across the line on the Forest View course was familiar: senior Ted Lambert. The Falcon veteran loped home in 9:25. But as critical to the victory were the come-from-behind efforts of Dick Appleton and Cliff Kuhnlohe.

They came on in the latter half of the race to take the second and third spots, and hold them, thereby sabotaging the pack strategy important in most of Palatine's successes. Appleton and Kuhnlohe were both timed at the chute in 9:33, two seconds ahead of the first man in Palatine's group, Mike Ferguson.

After Ferguson, Bill Bahnfleth, Mark Visk, Dennis Denton and Bruce Atkinson came in for Palatine.

The scoring was completed with Joe Branka running ninth and Oscar Pequeno 10th for the Falcons, they in the respective times of 9:56 and 9:58 to put all first 10 competitors under the 10-minute mark for FV's course.

Forest View made it a sweep for the day, ruling the frosh-soph running 22-34. That decision boosted the Falcons to 2-3 in MSL ranks, while Palatine dipped to 0-5.

Bob Bell and John Hanely ran 1-2 to lead the Falcon success, with Palatine's Jim Weyhenmeyer taking third. Also placing for FV were Brad Davis in fourth, Attila Matyas in sixth and Mike McCormick in ninth. Filling out Palatine's score were Scott Smith, fifth; Steve Bahnfleth, seventh; Alan Eggebraaten, eighth; and Howard Weld, 11th.

HOLD IT!! Conant defender Greg Ament puts the stop on Prospect's Jim Gumz, thus ending a short gain during the Cougar-Knight clash Saturday. Gumz rushed for 20 yards in all in the game, but he and his mates went down 14-13. (Staff photo)

Two Wins to Wheeling

Niles North Runs Past 'Cat Varsity

Visiting Niles North cross country men copped firsts in three races against Wheeling but settled for one team victory, in the varsity runoff, during non-conference action at the Arlington Country Club Friday.

Brothers Bill and Bob Kuhnle set the pace in the feature event for the Vikings, coming home one-two a second apart. Bill is a senior and Bob a junior.

Phil Smith finished third for the Wildcats, 18 seconds behind the winner. He was followed to the tape by Bill Martin (6), Steve Mykytiuk (9), Andy Black (14) and Jim Weber (16) of the host team.

Final tally in the varsity match was 20-37.

FRANK SAVAGE and Keith Gresens of Wheeling were edged out of blue ribbon honors in the sophomore chase by two and four seconds respectively, but steered the Wildcats to a 26-33 nod over-all. Winning time was 11:02.

Other point gatherers for Wheeling were Austin Trice (6), Larry Ault (7) and Mike Sonnenschein (8).

In the frosh match, Ernie Leach, John Rodgers, Dennis Born and Bill Hopkins finished in order behind a pair of Viking runners to help earn a 26-33 decision. Top time was 12 minutes flat with Leach five seconds off the pace.

Dan Fergus rounded out the Wildcat top five in eighth.

With the regular harrier season nearing its finish, coaches Ken Carter and Gary Tjarks have announced that Smith and Eaton were named squad co-captains for the current year and will continue in this capacity in 1967.

The varsity squad is comprised entirely of juniors and will remain intact for the coming season.

Forest View Frosh Roll Past Pirates

The Forest View freshmen football teams had the better of the Pirates from Palatine as they won both halves of the level card.

The Falcon "A" team set the Pirates back with a score of 41 to 13 and the Frosh "B" squad shut out the Palatine crew 23-0.

In the first quarter John Ingo opened the scoring for the Falcons "A" team as he scampered in for a tally. Mark Ennis added the extra point. Again in the same period the Falcons scored, this time as Barry O'Donnel took the leather home and then added the extra point himself.

In the second period Ingo again scored and this time added his own point after. O'Donnel scored his second touchdown of the game later in the quarter but failed on the extra point attempt.

Pirate Don Giancasporo scored one of two touchdowns he was to count for the afternoon in the second period when he dashed for 40 yards.

In the third quarter Ingo again carried the ball in for his third TD of the afternoon and again made the point after. The fourth period scoring for the Falcons was done by Dave Long as he countered for the TD and the extra point.

Giancasparo made his second touchdown for the Pirates on a ten yard dash and then added the extra point.

In the Frosh"B" game it was all Forest View. In the first stanza Dick Pazdro tackled the Palatine back in the endzone for a safety and Tom Moore tallied a four yard touchdown and then added the point after. Terry Shakon scored the remainder of the Falcon points in the game as he dashed for scores on 20 and 65 yard scampers. In both cases he also added the extra point.

Meyer Scores TD

Wheeling's JVs Shade Warriors

Wheeling's junior varsity unit acquired the spoiler role for the second straight week by knocking off the Deerfield Warriors 6-0 Saturday at the Wildcat field.

The defeat was the first issued to the Deerfield eleven this season. A week earlier the Wildcats had dumped Arlington from the undefeated ranks 13-6.

Coe Meyer registered the lone score, going 18 yards off left tackle in the first quarter. He went on to gain 91 yards in the first half enroute to top game rushing honors.

The hosts had three more opportunities to score in the first half but were thwarted on each occasion by untimely penalties.

The Warriors penetrated as far as Wheeling's one yard line but a leathery forward wall, anchored by tackle Mike Stoik and guard Matt Porzel rebuffed the scoring attempt.

In addition to Porzel and Stoik, defensive end John Whittington, defensive halfback Karl Kruetzfeld and linebackers Bill Schaeffer and Ed Pecora were influential in carving the shutout.

The JV crew of coaches Frank Miller and Dave Casey have now captured three of five outings overall. They will be idle this weekend.

Passing Game Keys 13-0 Wheeling Win

BY KEITH REINHARD

It definitely wasn't a day for passing. Strong icy winds brought out the best in blankets and cold weather gear. Cheerleaders huddled together under winter wraps. Players shivered on the sidelines in parkas and warmup jackets.

Yet pass both clubs did, with frigid-fingered receivers able to pick off 13 of the stinging shots, and through this method and the flashy catchwork of Tom Bastable, Wheeling roared to a fourth-quarter win over Niles North Saturday, 13-0.

Evidently unaware of the raw, biting weather that chased all but a hundred staunch fans to warmer climes, Bastable climaxed a torrid afternoon of grid play by hauling in two fourth-quarter heaves and racing into scoring territory.

THE TD PASSES, capping a 38-shot aerial bombardment mounted by both sides despite the cold and wind, earned the Wildcats their second exhibition victory of the season and jacked their over-all record to 4-1. For the visiting Vikings, their slate remains winless after absorbing their fifth defeat.

Not even Wheeling's renowned band was around to see Bastable open the fourth quarter by snaring a Robin Melzer pass to put the Wildcats on the scoreboard. The play, only seven seconds into the period, spanned 47 yards and halted a seven-quarter pointage drought for the hosts.

At the opposite end of the fourth stanza—with less than ten seconds remaining—the elusive receiver duplicated his showing on a hurl from Dan Devito. The second scoring play, which netted 24 yards, marked Devito's first attempt at passing this year.

DESPITE THE lack of scoring through most of the game, both squads put on lively offensive showings from the start. In addition to the air barrage, over 250 yards of ground were eaten away by the combined running attacks and 29 first downs were unearthed.

Niles blew its two first opportunities with fumbles. The first bobble came after the Vikings had blocked a Jon Hittman punt and taken command at the Cat 33 midway through the first period. Before the visitors could penetrate beyond the 30, their quarterback Scott Schirmer lost the ball and Mike Henry retrieved it for Wheeling.

In period two the Knights worked their way as far as Wheeling's seven-yard stripe but then miscued and Devito came up with the ball.

SHORTLY BEFORE halftime another Viking drive faded at the Wildcat 15 on four incomplete passes.

In the meantime Wheeling could penetrate no further than the Niles 29. One effort, after recovering the fumble at their own seven, saw the hosts march 63 yards downfield. But this drive was snuffed out when Melzer couldn't find a receiver on a fourth down situation and was nipped for a ten-yard loss.

At halftime, the band put on another first-rate performance, then left en masse for less windy environs. In the third period, when neither side seemed able to stage a prolonged attack, most of the fans took the band's hint and also skurried for the exits.

TOM BASTABLE
Runner, Receiver

DAN DEVITO
One Pass, One TD

THEY MISSED the best part of the show. Immediately after the chain crew had swapped sides to commence the fourth period, Bastable started his exhibition.

After the first tally and a good extra point boot by Jerry Lemke, the kickoff yielded a bonus surprise for Wheeling. Pulled down by the wind short of the Viking safety men, the ball didn't get much attention from the offensive team and Tim Sroka jumped on it for Wheeling.

This gave the Wildcats the opportunity to maintain control of the ball through most of the quarter. They moved within field goal range but a 21-yard attempt by Lemke fell short of the mark.

Eight plays later Wheeling took over on downs and traveled 31 yards downfield to set the stage for Devito's inaugural pitch. Niles had time for only one play after the subsequent kickoff.

Bastable, in addition to hauling in five passes, outdistanced everyone for individual ground gaining honors. Hitting off tackle and pivoting very effectively, he managed 90 yards on 17 tries.

In five games now, Bastable has chalked up an impressive 319 yards on ten catches and scored five touchdowns enroute.

Cardinal Frosh Divide at Maine

Arlington's frosh 'B' squad scored another victory but the 'As' were blanked Saturday morning in football action at Maine West.

Preserving their unscored-on record, the Cardinal 'Bs' posted a 21-0 victory.

Mark Jacoby tallied on an intercepted pass, and Mike Weber went across twice on runs of 13 and eight yards.

Jim Stipp came up with a defensive gem on a long kickoff return to save the Arlington shutout.

The 'Bs' are now 4-0 for the campaign.

In the frosh 'A' encounter Maine West scored single touchdowns in each of the four periods for a 28-0 victory.

The Warriors took the opening kickoff back 80 yards and were never headed. They also scored on a 40-yard pass, 35-yard run, and short plunge after recovering a fumble.

Arlington's two frosh teams will travel to Forest View this Saturday morning.

Busch Stretch Run Keys Cardinal Win

By BOB FRISK

The big one went as advertised — to the wire. And Arlington won it.

Coach Bruce Samoore's Cardinal cross country team snatched victory away from Maine West in a hectic finish Friday afternoon as darkness settled over Pioneer Park.

With Capt. Greg Busch supplying the heroics that turned apparent defeat into triumph the Cardinals nipped the touted Warriors, 27-28, in the most important dual meet of the Mid-Suburban Conference season.

BOTH SQUADS entered the race with unbeaten marks. Looking ahead to the conference run, both squads knew just how important a victory would be in this confrontation.

All week long Arlington's Samoore juggled names and places in his mind and on paper. He examined all possibilities. He knew that one point very likely would decide the outcome.

A heavy rain Friday didn't help the course at Pioneer Park, but it wasn't a wet layout that affected the outcome. It was a superb stretch run by Arlington's Busch.

WE'VE WON IT. At this moment last Friday afternoon at Pioneer Park Arlington cross country coach Bruce Samoore knew that his varsity Cardinals had the positions needed to edge Maine West in the battle of touted Mid-Suburban teams. And Maine coach Bill Barringer (right) knew that his Warriors, holding a slim advantage for a good part of the race, had faltered in their bid to topple the unbeaten hosts. Arlington won the feature, 27-28. (Staff photo)

GREG BUSCH
That Extra Effort

AS APPROXIMATELY 300 people, including coaches and runners from other Mid-Suburban entries, looked on, Busch moved from fifth place to fourth over the final 300 yards, catching and passing Maine's Doug Chase in the dash to the chute.

Until Busch made his move, Maine was in command, however slim that advantage was.

Talented Warrior junior Lee LaBadie, leading from the start with an explosive charge, was in at 10:03, eight seconds ahead of Arlington junior Dave Dieters who had an interesting tussle going with Maine's Ed Lusk near the chute before grabbing runnerup honors. Lusk was clocked in 10:13.

AS THE COACHES and fans followed the race near its dramatic conclusion, it became obvious that Maine had the lead with LaBadie in first, Lusk in third, Chase in fourth, and Scott Schlesser and Bill Deuser running ninth and tenth.

Arlington needed a switch in position for the win, and Busch was the answer, coming home with a tremendous kick that sent him across at 10:16, two seconds ahead of Chase.

"That was without a doubt one of the finest displays of courage I've ever seen," praised Arlington's Samoore. "Greg knew he had a job to do and he did it. It was just a tremendous effort."

The rest of the field arrived with little fanfare but the boys were certainly important to the outcome.

JUNIOR RORY Cassidy of Arlington finished sixth at 10:24, sophomore Tom Swanson seventh with an identical clocking, and junior Rich Saxton eighth at 10:33.

Arlington's balance, five in the top eight, paid big dividends once again, and it didn't matter that Maine West took the ninth and tenth positions.

WITH FROSH standout Scott Butler running on a varsity level the Cardinal frosh-sophs bowed before the Maine West entry, 23-36.

Al McKay was the first Arlington runner into the chute, coming in at 11:26, eight seconds behind Robert Colitz of Maine West.

Also scoring for John Gardner's Cardinals were Ken Malcolmson in fourth, Bill Price in seventh, Jim Kolari in 11th, and John Faus in 12th.

Maine West won a special freshman meet, 20-40. Arlington's top runners were Bob Loughman in third, Tom Klingner in fifth, Ron Doubek in ninth, Vince Weidner in 11th, and Bob Baer in 12th.

Two victories in three meets is nothing to dismiss lightly, but Maine West wasn't happy when it was all over Friday.

Arlington won the big one.

Colts, Bears Win to Set Up Big Rematch

Impressive wins by the undefeated Colts and the once beaten Bears set the stage for their next Sunday's showdown rematch for the Senior division championship in the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association's season finale.

The Redskins and Steelers moved into first place in their respective junior division leagues while the Hawkeyes and Wildcats clinched the American and National bantam league titles.

SENIOR DIVISION

The scrappy but small Packers gave the league-leading Colts some trying moments before bowing 32-13. Don Koehler started off the scoring parade for the victors with a first quarter 30 yard dash. Scott Szala reeled off two long touchdown runs plus an extra point. Ralph Gebert also put across a pair of scores on a one yard plunge and a three yard pass reception.

Halfbacks Kenny Walsh and Bob Atkinson both made fine long sprints for the Packers pair of six pointers. Rick Solley and Mark Braakman contributed good blocking while Mark Rossi and Tony Mancini were the toughest and surest tacklers.

The big Bears whitewashed the defending champion Cardinals 22-0 as Casey Rush gathered in two touchdown passes of 35 and 55 yards. John Griffin went 50 yards on a reverse for the other counter. Tackle Don Anderson, guard Joe Parsons and end Steve Blake were the best blockers in the offensive wall. Joe Puzzo, Gary Petelle and Mike McMahon excelled on pass defense. (The Cardinals did not submit any game information).

JUNIOR DIVISION

The Redskins' 18-0 uprising against the Eagles enabled Bob Carroll's eleven to take over the National League lead. The undefeated winners struck early on a two yard dive by Barry McEneeley' and a 70 yard move by Denny O'Keefe. Greg Casciaro recovered a punt blocked by Gary Chupick for the final tally.

Scott Cowan was the Eagles' top offensive performer. He along with Don Divito and Scott Tueber were the defensive mainstays.

First stanza tallies by Tom Freyman and Jim Packard were enough for the Rams to edge the determined Browns 12-7 despite their stubborn second half stand. Jim Teichert intercepted a pass and Terry Sramek added some hard tackling as did Glen Czekaj. Bob MacAskill tackled a Brown to prevent a score in the final quarter. (The Browns did not submit any game information)

Billy Eilbracht's quarterbacking, John Glascow's 18 yard touchdown jaunt plus his 12 yard toss to flanker end Tom Trandel sparked the 49ers' to a 14-0 triumph over the Chiefs. Jim Sauter scored both extra points on off tackle slants. Tom Lear, Rick Hall, Mike Petran, and Mike Sliwa were the top linemen. (The Chiefs did not submit any game information)

Jay Creekmore scooted 11 yards and Mike Weik smashed in from three yards for six pointers as the Steelers registered a 13-6 win over the defending champion Cowboys. Gary Helfenbein, Joe Trausch, Brian Frebe, Doug Hamley, Joe O'Brien and Tom Parker made the most tackles.

Mike Martin dashed 65 yards in the 3rd quarter for the loser's only tally. Tim O'Connell was the best blocker and tackler for the Radtkemen.

The Vikings downed the Jets 21-0 as they scored in each of the first three periods. Jerry Smith ran for 20 and 40 yard touchdowns and Bob Lowe counted on a 20 yard pitch. It was the Viking's best team effort of the season. Jim Hamann did some good, hard tackling and Terry Cherwin was tough on pursuit.

BANTAM DIVISION

Phil Wilkinson tallied four long touchdown runs - one on a 50 yard kickoff return - to spark the Badgers to a 35-12 win over the improving Gophers who finally got into the scoring column. Randy Cherwin scored on a 10 yard try and slammed across for five extras. Ends Mike Starky and Pat Dooley played well on defense as did Mark Pauluzzi.

The Hawkeyes won their thirteenth straight as they shut out the Wolverines 14-0. Quarterback Todd Buikema called a fine selection of plays. Rodney Kiolbassa hastened across for both touchdowns and Marc Lenzen contributed the point-afters. George Bicego and Tim Johnson were tough on defense.

The Wildcats, tops in the National division, defeated the Boilermakers 21-0 as Steve Spielman scampered for two touchdowns, and an extra point. Tom Hermanson scored the final while Jay Loos made two extra points. Darrell Smith caught several nice passes. Kevin Kranz and Tim Halas led the defensive unit.

The Lions outroared the Panthers 14 to 0 as halfback Dave Ennes and quarterback Al Black hit pay dirt on short gainers behind very good blocking by the entire line. Clyde Mundt also ran well. Jack Mills and Greg Buettner stopped numerous plays and Rick Johnson intercepted an enemy pass.

The Buckeyes ran up the highest score of the day as they swamped the Spartans 40-14. Ricky Chuipek and Mike Disant each registered two touchdowns.

Religious Symbol on City's Vehicle Sticker Challenged

I am writing this letter in regard to the story on page four of the Rolling Meadows Herald on Oct. 13.

Mrs. Margaret Chapm a n showed monumental ignorance by referring to the woman in the east as being an agnostic. The woman she referred to was Madelyn Murray who is an avowed atheist and not an agnostic like myself. Mrs. Chapman stated that I was a member of a minority group. How can one man comprise a group? I am a member of the American Civil Liberties Union and can bring a test suit against the city any time I choose contrary to advice given to the city council by the city attorney on Sept. 27.

IF THE PEOPLE of this city could only see that this is the first step toward fascism by allowing a city or government to establish or support a religion.

By refusing to buy the sticker because the Christian cross is taken off, Mrs. Chapman would be violating the law. In my case, it is different as the City of Rolling Meadows is violating my civil liberties by forcing me to display a religious symbol on my car.

If you people are as Christian as you profess to be you had better start praying that this monument to ignorance called the city seal in front of the city hall doesn't turn out to be a monument to fascism!

Disputes North Letter About Cause for Referendum Defeat

Two of the points raised by Mr. North in last week's Fence Post would be difficult to disagree with, even though his supporting arguments appear uninformed. Certainly taxes and the cost of living have increased to an unbearable level, especially for those on or approaching a fixed income. His tax schedule for 1967 is rather overstated, however, and highly unlikely in one instance.

A state income tax of "over three per cent" is by no means probable. If the proposed revenue article should pass (no sure thing) an income tax could not be levied without the action of the 1967 state Legislature. Even then it could not exceed 3 per cent unless it passed a statewide referendum. This seems unlikely.

MR. NORTH suggests that costs have not increased all that much, arguing that as fixed costs are spread over a larger enrollment the total cost per student must decline. This argument is specious. The costs we are concerned with are those classed as variable costs — ones which can only rise with enrollment and with inflation. One of these is the salary cost. It amounts to 75 per cent of the total educational and building budget.

Salaries certainly rise with inflation. The district either meets these increases or does not compete for teachers. Salary costs also rise with increased enrollment — obviously more teachers are necessary to handle greater numbers of pupils. These costs could not possibly decrease unless we hire considerable numbers of inexperienced teachers (as we do) or substantially increase the numbers of students per classroom. Mr. North's fixed costs perhaps do decline, but they are such a small part of the total cost that the benefit is lost in the face of rising expenses.

MR. NORTH scores the board and the administration for failure to believe in "the average citizen's right and ability to make intelligent judgments concerning his best interests and those of his community." This is a most important point. Neither group has shown much inclination to be candid with the public, either on budget problems or on difficulties in districting, busing or over-all planning. Were the school district so inclined, people like Mr. North would be aware that District 25 is in serious financial straits. It is true that the school board has not asked for increased taxes for several years.

They should have. Each year they have had to borrow increasing amounts from the next year's income.

This year, in order to meet current expenses, they authorized the borrowing of almost 20 per cent of the income for 1967—nearly one million dollars! Had it passed, the referendum would only have provided $400,000, less than half the current debt. The fact that the district was this far in the hole was never hidden, but neither was it brought out as the essential feature in the referendum campaign.

The issue was not oversold by the board through unfair and "gross propaganda" as charged. It was undersold through lack of confidence in the public's ability to understand and face the problems squarely.

Says Police Support Group, Birch Society Address Same

Although the charge is often made that "Support Your Local Police" is a slogan of the John Birch Society, I suppose many people remain skeptical and consign this charge to the realm of "name-calling."

I would like to call your attention to an article in your Oct. 6 edition of the Elk Grove Herald entitled, "Support Police Group Organized." In the article, it mentions that interested people may write P.O. Box 30, Mount Prospect.

I FURTHER call your attention to the enclosure which was passed out by a John Birch Society leader in front of Grove Junior High School in the winter of 1965-66. The address of the John Birch Society imprinted on this brochure is the same P. O. Box 30.

I thought that with this evidence, you might wish to inform your readers that this activity, at least in your local community, is without a doubt, another "front" activity of the Birchers, no doubt directed against any civil rights activity and/or open occupancy.

I HAVE JUST renewed my subscription to your fine publication. The area in which I now reside completely lacks the vitality, the vigorous discussion of public questions, and the political "give and take" of the northwest suburbs. The difference I attribute, at least in part, to your publication and its willingness to open up to public scrutiny controversial questions.

Bill Redmond Helpful About Road Problem

Since the completion of the Eisenhower expressway up to and just beyond York Street including an exit to York Road for taking either York Road to Bensenville or to Elmhurst, but strangers to either of our cities using the Eisenhower from Chicago become confused in Hillside, Ill. east of and prior to the separation point of the Eisenhower expressway and the East-West tollway due to the lack of a Elmhurst-Bensenville traffic directional sign often they would take the tollway which leads away from Elmhurst and Bensenville.

After nearly two years of writing to various civic groups the A.A.A. motor club appealing for their aid to have the State of Illinois install this urgently needed directional traffic sign in order to properly direct traffic as to what lanes to use to reach either of our cities but these appeals were in vain, their one and only excuse was that more signs would add to confusion, in my letters it was pointed out that as both Elmhurst and Bensenville were both rapidly increasing in population and as well the industries expansion in our area they are entitled to traffic directional signs at proper locations, too I pointed out that every city, village and towns along the Eisenhower route where properly identified by traffic directional signs including the name of the street exit to these communities who are within Cook County, but traffic directional signs for communities within DuPage County are far and few between.

AS BOTH the East-West tollway and the Eisenhower expressway were built with federal and state funds, I decided to write to all our public officials in both the Illinois Senate and the House of Representatives who represent the people and industries of Bensenville and Elmhurst, one of these letters was quite fruitful, and that letter was to the Hon. William A. Redmond of Bensenville, his reply to my letter stated that while travelling from Chicago to Bensenville he agreed that a traffic directional sign at the separation point of the Eisenhower and the East-West tollway was definitely needed and that he had arranged a meeting with the director of public works and buildings on this matter.

On Sept. 1 I received a letter from Mr. Redmond which read that he has received official notification that an Elmhurst-Bensenville traffic directional sign will be included in the renovation and re-location of new signs contracts soon to be let for bids.

AT THIS time I would like to thank the people of Bensenville for having and electing the Hon. William A. Redmond as their member in the Illinois House of Representatives and one of the very few public office holders who still takes enough of his valuable time to study the needs that are brought to his attention not only by his constituents but as well for others outside of the district he represents.

To Mr. Redmond for taking the time and effort to successfully obtain this urgently needed traffic sign that will put an end to the confusion to strangers as to what route or lanes to use to either Bensenville and Elmhurst, not only stop the confusing but also will put a stop to the hazardous practice of crossing lanes at this separation point to take the proper route to our cities, I wish to thank you sir for a job well done that certainly will be more than appreciated by the residents and business and industries of our two neighboring cities.

Limited Fighting Concept of War Disturbs Reader

As I bake cookies to be sent to our men in Viet Nam I am reminded of how deeply disturbed I am, by our conduct of this war. At our present rate, both of my young son's futures fighting in muddy rice paddy is inescapable.

I can not understand how we can send Senator Magnuson to Moscow offering prospects of increased trade and long-term credits to the entire Soviet bloc and with the conclusion of the Viet Nam fighting we further offered to divert the huge outlays for the war to aid southeast Asia and other countries, regardless of their ideologies. To reward the communists for their continuing acts of aggression in the hope of appeasement only strengthens them and leaves us weakened and flies in the face of the sacrifice our fighting men have made.

MOST CERTAINLY our policy of building bridges to communist countries while we have fought and left behind over 50,000 dead and nearly 400 still imprisoned from the Korean "police action" against—communism; while American men were killed in the Bay of Pigs invasion fighting—communism; while we rushed our troops to the Dominican Republic to secure that country from—communist rule; while our men stand guard at our many bases around the world against—communist agression; but in Viet Nam we do not pursue the policy of victory but tie the hands of our soldiers in an effort to only hurt our foe enough to bring him to the conference table. Surely the enslavement of one-third of the world's population by the international criminal conspiracy, communism, and the slaughter of innocent millions tragically illustrates the error in sitting at the conference table with representatives of this evil force.

Since it is impossible to pull out of Viet Nam, we must stop all our aid and trade with communist countries and any of our "allies" that continue dealing with them and give our men all the support needed to win of a determined and powerful America.

Query Regarding Outcome of Park District Voting

As a lifelong resident of Arlington Heights, I depend on the award-winning Herald to keep me informed about my community.

Who won the park district referendum?

I looked all through your paper to find the answer to this and could not find a story on the election results.

I CALLED THE park district to ask about the results and some nut hung up on me. I thought the corect figures on your "instant" news program would be ample reprimand for the trash I read in other papers.

Please print this—and the election results.

Sorry you missed the referendum results, which were printed in the Arlington Heights Herald last Thursday. The referendum was defeated 2,405 to 896.—Ed.)

UNICEF Drive October 31

Thanks in great part to the support of America's newspapers, last year we were able to turn over $5.5 million to UNICEF for 1965, as against the previous high of $3.7 million for 1964.

This was the more gratifying as in 1966, its 20th anniversary year, the Nobel Peace Prize-winning United Nations Children's Fund still operates with an annual budget equivalent to what is spent on world armament in two hours of one day.

ON OCT. 31, some 3.5 million American boys and girls in over 13,000 communities—many of them the sons and daughters of your own readers—will share their Halloween "treats" with the sick and hungry children of Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East.

Knox Deserves Pat on Back For Coverage

For several years our family read with interest the Paddock newspaper and particularly have followed your sports writers covering Palatine sports. As our family grew and entered high school, your sports reporting has been followed with even greater interest.

IT IS FOR this reason I should like for you to give the "slap on the back" award to Ken Knox.

In our opinion, he is accurate, interesting, and most fair to both individuals and teams. To quote our sons and their friends who avidly read the sports section, "Isn't it too bad many reporters on the AP or UPI don't have the ability or the integrity to report as factually on important world affairs as does Mr. Knox on his coverage of Palatine sports."

E. H. Gill

A number of people have asked "What is the real season you resigned from the board of High School District 214." In answer to this I wish to state that the "real reason" for my termination is as outlined in my letter of resignation to the president of the board in which I explained that the growth of my business makes it impossible for me to devote the necessary time to do a decent job. To be specific we enjoyed a 20 per cent growth in 1965 which was twice our previous average growth and at the end of September 1966 we are 15 per cent ahead of 1965.

I WILL miss the give and take of the meetings as I have always enjoyed the discussions and debates. I firmly believe that all sides of all questions should be explored and that periodic disagreement is healthy and is good.

To have served on the high school board has been an educational experience in which I learned much about the education business. I feel that 90 per cent of the citizens do not comprehend the magnitude of this business and think of education in terms of the "little red schoolhouse."

Education is the largest business in the country, and locally High School District 214 with almost 1,000 employees and approaching an annual budget of $10,000,000 is one of the largest local businesses. The stockholders—taxpayers—owe it to themselves to insist that their business be run as tightly as possible at all times.

NO DOUBT federal aid to education will continue to grow. With most of the educational community and boards totally committed this has to be.

I hope the boards of education of all districts will scrutinize programs financed with federal taxes as thoroughly as they do programs financed with local tax monies. Also, I hope methods will be devised to objectively review each program at least once a year and make necessary corrections. Perhaps the newspapers could take some initiative here as an outside source.

As High School District 214 continues to grow, the demands on the time and energies of its board of education members will continue to grow. They need the support, suggestions and constructive criticism of an interested citizenry.

William F. Griffith

Pleased By Loomis Award

I was indeed pleased to read that you had received nine state press awards in the Illinois Press Association contest. I have continually been astounded at the amount of news coverage you are providing in a local newspaper and without taking any measurement I would guess that your papers are considerably larger than are most of the metropolitan dailies.

Certainly I am not an expert in the field but I personally have always liked the readability of your paper as well as the wide news coverage which you provide. May I add my congratulations to you on winning these awards.

'Industry Could Get Help If It Provided Transportation'

I am a man of 60 years, single and do not use liquors or have any bad habits and I look at the Herald want ads for male employment and see all the concerns wanting help. But they won't hire older people. The older folks, when they have to work, pay attention to their jobs and in my way of looking at it they don't stand around on the job and act nutty like the younger people do. The older folks pay attention to their work and don't make damn fools of themselves.

I worked at an electronics company until last April, and I was laid off because I was 60 years old. They can't keep any help long because they are not fair to their help. They pay very little compared to other concerns.

I WORKED THERE a year and I have an A-1 reference from them. There are a lot of people here in Rolling Meadows who want to work but like me haven't any transportation to get to a job. If these concerns would go out and look for people who want to work and make transportation means for them, then they wouldn't keep putting their ads in the papers all the time and complaining that they can't get help. I know of more than 50 people here who want work but haven't any means to get to the job.

In my case, I have years of experience in the stock work-order filling parcel post packing, as I worked at the main Chicago Post Office part time. I also worked six years in the machinist mill supply line. Here, in my spare time, I do radio repairing for people here in town and for several dealers who bring me the radios, record players, etc. and then pick them up each weekend. I have over 30 years radio experience and had a ham radio station for 25 years before I came here. So get the manufacturers to do something about transportation and they can get workers.

We Stand Smacked on School Buses, Bused and Busing

Your Oct. 6 issue carried a letter from Mrs. Marion C. Sawicki of Elk Grove Village complaining about bus service for her youngsters.

WHAT BOTHERS us is your headline "Elk Grove Schools' Service on Bussing Called Inadequate."

As the voice of the School Bus industry, we have had to eliminate the double "s" when referring to school buses in a plural sense. Also, we have dropped an "s" when using the word "busing."

Basically, "buss" means "to kiss with a smack, or rudely."

If we were to write your headline correctly, it would read "Elk Grove Schools' Service on KISSING Called Inadequate."

IT TAKES A while to get accustomed to seeing bus as buses and as busing, but it has taken hold in the industry. Even our advertisers are now following this spelling in their copy and press releases.

The Way We See It

Our Endorsements For Legislature

If state government is to function, let alone survive, it must demonstrate it can be a responsible, effective servant of the people.

The federal government is assuming more of a role and influence in our daily lives because state government has failed to provide for, or even recognize, the need for essential services. The worst result of this failure has been a critical neglect of urban and suburban problems.

Increasingly, a majority of Illinois problems concern the majority of citizens who live in metropolitan areas. Nowhere is this more evident than in northwest suburbs.

With each new population wave that cascades down upon the northwest area, our suburbs are confronted with fresh challenges in meeting new and critical needs in government and in community services.

Growth . . . progress . . . change have created a multitude of problems. Our municipalities work hard to plan and prepare for the changes and challenges of growth, but are necessarily handicapped in many cases because of limited scope and authority.

Priorities in the use of tax money, additional financing for education, air and water pollution, transportation and highway planning, traffic congestion, water supply, flood control—these are but a few matters affecting the entire metropolitan area which are beyond capability or control of any single municipality.

State government is best prepared to deal farsightedly and effectively with such regional problems.

That it has failed to do so has been due to the legislative domination of rural interests unsympathetic—even hostile—to the legitimate needs of urban and suburban citizens. As a result, the state has been slow to create the machinery to deal not only with broad-scale metropolitan issues but to foresee future problems and take preventive measures.

Reapportionment and the 1964 at-large House-cleaning finally cracked the Old Guard's legislative deadlock. Now the time is ripe for a rebirth in Illinois government.

If our federal system of a confederation of individual states is to be strengthened and preserved, we will require a new breed of state legislator —men and women with the energy, the ideas, the will and imagination to exert leadership in utilizing the state's powers and resources to solve Illinois problems.

Much of this leadership must come from suburbs.

It is particularly crucial that suburbs be represented in Springfield by legislators who know and understand the suburbs and their needs, who are responsive to the interests and concerns of suburban constituents, and who are alert to the opportunities for state action.

Especially do we need strong, capable, aggressive attention to the problems of this district.

We believe the voters of this district have an opportunity to ensure such representation by casting their votes Nov. 8 for three exceptionally qualified candidates for State Representative. They have the knowledge, experience, and capacity for service to provide the Third District with an effective representative "team" in Springfield.

We recommend for state representative:

Eugene Schlickman

During his first term in the General Assembly, State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, Republican of Arlington Heights, compiled an excellent record and was cited as an "outstanding" freshman legislator.

As a member of the Illinois Legislative Council, he is working on a special study of state recreational needs and is an effective spokesman in behalf of state park development.

Rep. Schlickman is alert to the interests of this district, particularly in the areas of increased state support for local schools and strengthening of municipal control over area zoning and development.

Northwest suburbs cannot afford to be without his strong representative voice in Springfield.

David J. Regner

Seeking his first term in the legislature is David J. Regner, Republican of Mount Prospect, whose civic activities have won him state and national recognition, including a listing in the 1965 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

His successful business career and work in Republican politics testify to his potential for public service.

If elected, he has pledged to work for legislation in behalf of consumer credit reform as well as reforms to encourage home rule through broadening of municipal taxing powers and elimination of archaic state statutes guiding local government.

His pet legislative concern is streamlining procedures for adopting the state budget and reforms for state financing.

Eugenia Chapman

One of the three state representatives to be elected in the Third District will be a Democrat.

We believe this district will be best served by the re-election of State Rep. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights.

As the only woman nominated for the House on the Democratic ticket, she would, if elected, be the only woman in the House on the Democratic side.

During her first term in Springfield, her legislative record earned praise from the Independent Voters of Illinois as well as other non-partisan civic groups.

Her special interest is education, and she has been aggressive in working for extension of state support for local schools as well as higher education. She was chief sponsor of the 1965 Junior College Act. Her candidacy is receiving enthusiastic support from state and local educational organizations.

As a former school board member and long-time civic leader, Mrs. Chapman is conversant with local problems. She has been a strong representative in terms of searching out and working on the problems of this district. We urge her re-election Nov. 8.

Risking Life For Charity

by RUSSELL BATH
Staff Writer

Several weeks ago, as I drove home during the evening rush hour, I approached with due caution one of DuPage County's acknowledged busier intersections.

As I neared the crossing, my eyes bugged. Standing there, squarely on the double-yellow dividing line, was a man wearing a luminous orange vest around his midriff—gaily waving bags of peanuts at onrushing vehicles.

And I thought door-to-door salesmen had it tough.

That intersection is tricky enough, but if you're in your car and have an accident you at least have a fighting chance to get out alive.

So here was this fellow standing there, waiting for red lights and a chance to sell his wares — 25 cent bags of Kiwanis peanuts.

THAT, TO ME, is dedication.

Such dedication deserved reward, I said to myself. When I got to the intersection, the light was red. He came toward my car.

"Isn't this pretty dangerous?" I asked, as I dug hurriedly into my pocket for a quarter.

"Yeah, but you know, it's for a good cause and all," he said, undaunted by cars whizzing by from the opposite direction.

The light had turned green. I was holding up traffic. To make matters worse, I didn't have a quarter.

"YOU BETTER go," he said with a quick smile. All I could do was drive on. The Kiwanian's bravery had gone unrewarded.

Next morning, on my way to work, the same fellow was there. This time I had a quarter in my pocket but the light was green. Sorry, can't stop now.

The annual Kiwanis' Kids Day peanut sale is, indeed, a good cause. It was unfortunate that my poor timing at stoplights prevented a contribution.

MAYBE NEXT year I'll deposit my quarter into a can held by a less-daring solicitor —one who's standing on a nice, safe sidewalk.

I called the local police and asked how long this had gone on.

"Oh, yes, they've done it this way for several years," came the reply. "We just ask them to wear a bright-colored jacket that can be seen by motorists from a distance."

But it just isn't sound salesmanship and it's a hazard to solicitors and motorists alike. People can only buy when the light is red, and the rest of the time the guy stands there and literally risks his life.

Should the Kiwanians ask such bravery of their numbers — even in the name of charity?

Behind the Headlines

New Working Class

by JOHN B. PARRISH
Professor of Economics
University of Illinois

The nation's labor market is undergoing many extraordinary changes. These changes are taking place at a rate which is ever accelerating. There is opportunity here to touch briefly on just one of them.

The role of our traditional classes is being turned upsidedown. The traditional working class, that is, the blue collar, manual working class, is becoming the new leisure class. And the traditional leisure class, the professionals, is becoming the new working class. This is a silent social revolution.

Prof. Parrish

To understand what is happening to the blue collar manual worker it is necessary to look backward in time to around 1750. The rise of the factory system in northern England created an urban manual working class for the first time. It was in a literal sense a working class. The entire family, including children, had to work all day. It was a very long day, from before sun up to after sundown. They worked all week, always six days and some times seven. They worked all year. And they worked all life which was short. Very few lived beyond age 40.

WHY DID THE manual workers work so hard? They had to or starve to death. Gains in technology permitted real wages to rise and hours to slowly decline. This process has been going on over the 216 years since 1750. As a result, the manual working class is working less and less. The work day has declined from 16 to around 6½ to 8. The work week has fallen from above 70 to around 35 or 40. The work year has declined from 364 (Christmas was a holiday in England in 1750) to around 210.

The work life now doesn't begin until age 18 and ends by age 65 with options for retirement at age 60. In the latter case the worker can anticipate not less than 10 years of leisure at the upper age levels. Organized labor has set 55 as the next target for retirement. Based on historical trends this should be reached within another 15 years, perhaps sooner. Thus the manualist is now enjoying a one third leisure life and is heading toward a one half leisure life.

Why does the manualist want leisure? Because he doesn't like to work. He has never really liked work. He has worked only to get a comfortable standard of living. He wants his union to get him off the job as often and as long as possible - that is, in comfort. Thus America's traditional working class is rapidly becoming the new leisure class.

WHAT ABOUT the professionals? In 1750 there were only a few professionals and they, along with the small landed aristocracy, enjoyed the only leisure society could then afford.

But today's professional is confronted with the knowledge explosion. It takes longer and longer to achieve minimum professional competence. To the professional, study is work and work is study.

So today's professional starts to work at age five. This is being lowered now to around age three. Then he works, that is, studies, to age 22 to 30, depending upon the professional speciality. Then he practices his profession. But he must continue to study-work in order to maintain professional competence. He works a long work day. He works a long work week. Studies show many professionals work 60, 70 or more hours per week which often includes work (i.e., reading materials) taken home. He works a long work year.

AND THE WORK life of American professionals is the longest in the world's history. The average U. S. doctor doesn't retire until age 72. It's about the same for dentists. It's age 70 for lawyers, about 72 for architects. College professors must retire at 68 but a majority are now retiring from one institution only to transfer their work to other institutions and work into their early 70's.

If expected medical breakthroughs in gerontology come along the work life of these professionals will be extended into the 80's.

Why do the professionals work so hard? There are two reasons. First because they have to. To acquire and maintain professional competence demands long years of study. Second, they want to. Professionals are work oriented. They become absorbed and excited about their work. Most professionals have more fun out of work than they do out of leisure. They don't work long lifetimes because of economic necessity. They put in long work lives because it is satisfying. Thus the class which 200 years ago was the long leisure class, is now becoming the "new" working class.

THE UNIVERSITIES find themselves right in the middle of this silent, social revolution. As creators, organizers, disseminators of knowledge they now face unprecedented problems. The big leading research universities will become automated information centers for the new working class.

The professionals of the future will marry and have their families well along before they even leave the campus. Already two thirds of students earning the M.D. degree are married and of those over half have children. Nurseries will be more prevalent than fraternities and sororities.

Middle age students, that is, professionals coming back frequently to keep up and catch up with the knowledge explosion, will be more numerous than teenagers. Learning will be self-acquired. The faculty will direct this self-learning. There will be no "teaching" as such. With the sum total of knowledge rising on an exponential curve the idea of holding classes in which a professor orally tries to "teach" students is obviously impossible.

PROFESSORS WILL direct self-study. They will establish standards for exams which will be graded by a computer. Students will acquire professional competence as fast as they individually can absorb and utilize knowledge. The faculty will continually raise the examination standards as knowledge accumulates and will spend its time on research. The teacher who spends time actually "teaching" and consulting with students will quickly become so obsolete what he has to say won't be worth listening to.

These are only a few of the changes that are coming. There will be many more that will make today's labor market seem a pretty dull affair.

Television Tediadramas

by DAN BAUMANN
Managing Editor

Fall is a mixed time of year.

—It's a time when the leaves turn our towns and countryside from pretty to unbelievably beautiful. And it's also a time when the leaves fall and barren trees scratch the sky.

—It's a time when the beautiful new cars come into the showroom. And also the near beauties. (One model this year like the 1966 version except with metal fatigue. Another looks like the safest car on the road—the accident happened before it left the drawing board.)

BAUMANN

—And it's also the time when the new television programs are unveiled.

THE THREE networks, with their one-born-every-minute philosophy toward entertainment, fanfared a new set of tediadramas even duller than last year's sad batch.

"Copycat" should have been written into the credit lines for many of the new shows, for their attempt to capitalize on formulas that have proved moderately successful was transparent. Telemimicry seemed to be the mainstream of every channel.

Tired of the Fugitive and Run for Your Life? Try Run Buddy Run.

War games need a different setting? Chew your way through the Rat Patrol.

GET LOST IN SPACE? This year's original idea winner must be Star Treck.

Batman your special cup of tea? Buzz over to Green Hornet.

Beverly Hillbillies stimulate you intellectually for more of same? Shoot for Pistols and Petticoats.

Imagination has been applied in naming one branch of this year's mimicry: "proliferation." The Man from UNCLE, for example, now has a relative in the Girl from UNCLE. If the gambit works, there may be cousins, a THE Cat from UNCLE, a Rat Patrol from UNCLE, sons and fathers from UNCLE, perhaps even an Aunt from UNCLE.

Another bright spot, a genuine one, in this year's network screen is the movie schedule. It's outstanding. Soon it may be unnecessary to visit the showhouses to see recent releases They may be on television before they reach the neighborhood theater, unless the present trend is stopped.

THE FILM offerings almost make you forget the bulk of the 1966-67 shows. Almost. There are still nagging reminders like Tammy Grimes which was yanked after three shows.

At that rate, Channel 9 had better start extending its excellent news, sports and film programming. There won't be enough for Chicago's independent station to buy next year.

Newcomers Clubs

Where to Find Friends

By BILLIE BACHHUBER

If you want to "go where the action is," look to the Newcomers Clubs in the northwest suburbs. Open-hearted friendliness and unbounded enthusiasm for a large variety of activities, philanthropic, social and civic, are the essence of these community groups.

The primary purpose of the newcomers clubs is to bring together those who are strangers and who have the earnest desire to make friends and to become active participants in their communities.

There are many similarities in the aims and functions of the various newcomers organizations, but their greatest common bond is their enthusiasm.

MRS. RICHARD Strahs, 403 N. Pine, Mount Prospect, president of Mount Prospect Newcomers, stated with verve, "All I can say is that I think this is the grandest bunch of gals I've ever met. I've never lived in such a friendly town. There are no cliques in our club and all ages blend beautifully. To sum it up: we have a ball!"

The Mount Prospect Newcomers Club was organized in June, 1961, by two Welcome Wagon hostesses and eight newcomers with the total membership reaching 40. In October, 1962, the club became federated with National Welcome Wagon and adopted its present name, Mount Prospect Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club. It now has a membership of 248, 40 of whom are alumnae and five, charter members.

MEMBERSHIP in newcomers clubs is easily attained as the main function of the clubs is to welcome and to extend the opportunities within the club to the newly arrived residents of a community. In Mount Prospect, the Newcomers Club follows up a visit by a Welcome Wagon hostess with an invitation to a "coffee" and to two meetings. Newcomers are urged to attend these affairs and are eligible for membership for the period of one year.

Mrs. William Sinclair, 217 N. William, a brand new member, expressed her delight in the organization, "A lovely group of friendly, exciting women with whom I'll love to be associated."

Mrs. Ralph Valle, 407 S. We-Go Trail agreed. "I love it! I've made many new friends through Newcomers Club."

"THE NEWCOMERS Club is the best possible way for new people to get acquainted because everyone is just as anxious as you are to be friendly. There are so many varied interests within the club," commented Mrs. Hermann Verwohlt, 907 S. Lancaster.

There are eleven groups participating in eight different activities in the Mount Prospect club.

"We have bridge groups, bowling, pinochle, sewing, arts and crafts, drama, and golf, plus luncheons, regular meetings with interesting and instructive speakers. We also have many parties throughout the year," said Mrs. Strahs. "We have something for everybody!"

AS ARE MOST of the clubs in the area, the Mount Prospect group is dedicated to undertaking and completing one or more charitable projects annually. For the past two years the Mount Prospect Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club donated proceeds from its fund raising project to Community-Counseling Services of Des Plaines, an affiliate of the Salvation Army.

"We feel that our organization is more than a social club," explained Mrs. James O'Brian, 187 Basswood Court, president of the Elk Grove Village Newcomers Club. "We try to take an active interest in social and civic affairs. I think Elk Grove Village Newcomers Club is a really good organization. The opportunities are there if you are willing to take advantage of them."

Elk Grove Village Newcomers Club was organized in 1962 and has built up a membership of 70. Originally the membership was limited to two years, but recently this limitation was dropped, and a member now is permitted to belong as long as she wishes.

MRS. RICHARD Czopek, 694 Brantwood Court, a member almost four years, expressed her appreciation of the group, "Newcomers has helped me make a lot of new friendships. I've had a good time in the years I've belonged."

Newcomers groups offer women opportunities they might be unable to find elsewhere. Mrs. Donald Hudson, 127 Springinsguth Road, Roselle, said, "Elk Grove Newcomers Club gave me my opportunity to become active in community affairs. We have no organization in my community, so I joined the Elk Grove group. It gives me something worthwhile to do."

Although the Elk Grove club takes an active interest in community affairs and undertakes charitable projects, the main function remains as good neighborliness.

"I JOINED Elk Grove Village Newcomers for companionship," declared Mrs. Laurence Smith, 291 Laurel. "It affords me a chance to meet people with whom I'll beworking later in other community groups."

Mrs. Thomas Payne, 546 William Lane agreed, "Newcomers is a wonderful way to meet Elk Grove Village residents other than my immediate neighbors."

The Elk Grove Village club has a regular monthly meeting held at Salt Creek Country Club, "where we have had many speakers on a wide range of subjects from child psychology to interior decorating," Mrs. O'Brian said.

ONE INTERESTING aspect of the Arlington Heights Newcomers Club is a commitment to its sister city of Comas, Peru. The Arlington club has a representative in Comas, an organization which has donated clothing, a sewing machine, medicines and other needed items to Arlington Heights' sister city.

The oldest and largest newcomers club in the area, Arlington Heights Newcomers Club celebrated its tenth recorded anniversary last year. The original charter dates from 1949 with 26 members and has grown to the present membership of 500. Although the Arlington club is dedicated to charitable and civic responsibility, Mrs. Emil Ernst, 4 N. Rammer, president, stressed that the main purpose of the club is to acquaint the newcomers of the community with the community and its people.

"THIS IS A club for the people," Mrs. Ernst said. "Although our club is mostly social, we are definitely community-minded. We have a representative to Mental Health, the local school board, the Community Council and to Comas."

She explained that the club holds one big benefit yearly and the proceeds are donated to a different local charity each year.

"In past years we have given proceeds to Little City and Clearbrook school."

Mrs. Ernst added that because of the friendliness and cooperation within the group, she has found it "very enjoyable."

IN AGREEMENT was Mrs. Robert Prior, 354 S. Dryden, "The best part of Newcomers is the willingness of everyone to meet you more-than-halfway in becoming your friend."

Mrs. Hal Maertz, 502 N. Hickory, was impressed by friendliness also.

"We've lived in cities where we barely knew our next-door neighbors, and here we have made more friends than I thought was possible."

One of Arlington Heights' newest Newcomers was impressed by the enthusiasm displayed by the members for their club and by the excellent organization of all functions.

"Plus friendliness toward us new Newcomers," added Mrs. Patrick Collins, 1410 Jayne, Arlington Heights.

THE ARLINGTON Heights Newcomers Club has a three-year limit to its membership, but there is available to the women an opportunity to join the Associate Newcomers Club of Arlington Heights. This alumnae group, organized in September, 1965, is strictly a social club. Mrs. Fred Plessner, 332 N. Highland, president, estimated that approximately 80 per cent of the original Newcomers join the associate organization.

"We'd like to urge all our girls to join within a month after their Newcomers membership expires," said Mrs. Plessner. "Membership is ineligible after a month elapses, so we hope they won't miss out on the opportunity to keep up old friendships and to belong to a fun-group."

THE ASSOCIATE club is comprised of 160 members and holds a monthly luncheon at Old Orchard Country Club. Following the luncheon, the women play cards. Besides continuing social activities in which they participated as original club members, the Associate Newcomers members sponsor an annual Christmas dance, a bowling night and a card party for members and guests.

Mrs. John R. Dempster, 742 N. Williams, Palatine, organized the Palatine Newcomers Club in October, 1964, by inviting prospective members into her own home. In the beginning there were three members, which grew to 50 by the end of the year, and the club boasts 100 at the present time.

The organization's meetings have progressed from Mrs. Dempster's home to the First State Bank to regular monthly meetings at the Carousel Restaurant in Arlington Heights.

"THIS IS THE best way in the world for newcomers to meet all kinds of people and to engage in a choice of a wide variety of activities as there are many sub-clubs within the club," stated Mrs. Dempster.

Mrs. Charles Van Metier, 250 S. Oak, past president and one of the three original members, was equally enthusiastic about the Palatine club.

"Helping to establish Newcomers of Palatine was one of the best parts of our move to the Midwest. Couples who discovered mutual interests in our club have built real friendships. Because of Newcomers, we feel very much a part of Palatine and not new at all," she emphasized.

AS PALATINE Newcomers is a young club, most of its activities have been strictly social and recreational. Mrs. Robert Byrne, 651 N. Williams, acting president, stated that the present aims of the Palatine Newcomers Club are directed at new residents so that they can meet neighbors and get to know the town and the people in it.

Mrs. Byrne added that the Palatine group offers a diversity of recreational and social opportunities and has engaged "instructive and enlightening" speakers for many of the monthly meetings.

"We have future plans to do something in a charitable or civic way when we can figure out how to raise the money," she commented.

MRS. BYRNE summed up her personal feeling for the Newcomers Club of Palatine, "Moving from one part of the country to the next can leave you with many quiet and boring evenings. Meeting so many interesting people in Newcomers has changed that!"

NEWEST OF THE Newcomers Clubs in the northwest suburban area is the one in Palatine. Giving its president, Mrs. Robert Byrne, 651 N. Williams, some advice on knitting is the club's founder, Mrs. John R. Dempster, 742 N. Williams. She and three other women started the club a couple of years ago. It now has 100 members. (Staff Photo)

VISIONS OF HALLOWEEN with its jack o'lanterns, witches and tricks or treats fun are uppermost in the mind of Kathryn Strahs, pre-school daughter of Mrs. Richard Strahs, 403 N. Pine, Mount Prospect. For Kathryn's mother, Newcomers Club is the avenue to fun and friends. "We have a ball," says Mrs. Strahs, currently the president.

Fill 'er Up, Pussycat!

Pussycats will be pumping gas this weekend at the Pure Oil station located on Lake Street, Hanover Park. But motorists need not be alarmed, for they will be members of Hanover Park Junior Women's Club in disguise.

Chuck Marella has offered the use of his gas station to the club to help raise funds for its philanthropies.

The members have been practicing for their role in order to give good service and will don pussycat costumes for their Saturday and Sunday turns at the station.

THE CLUB is also sponsoring a bridge tournament with the Hanover Park Board, the 2-session event taking place tomorrow (Friday, Oct. 21), and Friday, Oct. 28, at Apple Orchard Country Club at 8 p.m.

Those entering the tourney must play both evenings to be eligible for the cash prizes. Mrs. Phil Pellegrino, 289-1073, may be called for registration.

Costume Magic With Pillowcases

What do you do when your own little goblins demand quick transformation into a witch or fairy princess, a space man or a demon?

Here's a quick trick from the National Cotton Council: use a bright-colored cotton pillowcase for a basic costume. Snip out armholes and a neckline with pinking shears. Then proceed to decorate as the children's imagination dictates. Little or no sewing is required.

To make a witch's costume, for example, form a neckline by cutting a 12-inch slit in the center top of the pillowcase.

Mark the pillowcase five inches down from the top on each side. Then use shears to cut an eight-inch opening down from each mark for armholes. Pull the top corners of the pillowcase through cafe curtain rings to fit at the shoulders. Use curtain rings that are three-fourths of an inch in diameter to assure a snug fit.

TO DECORATE the costume, cut out facial features of a witch from fabric scraps and glue in place. Outline features with a laundry marker. Make the witch's hair by cutting a skein of cotton yarn into 30-inch lengths and arranging it across the top of the pillowcase. Stitch across, catching each strand of yarn, and then trim as desired.

A bunny-face costume can be made in the same manner. For longer ears, start armhole cut-outs nine inches down from the top. Form rabbit whiskers from pipe cleaners.

Another variation is the "astro-spook," — a rocket-shaped costume for the space-minded. Use a striped pillowcase to form the body of the rocket. Give it a rounded shape by inserting loops of wire into the top and bottom of the pillowcase.

USE THE pillowcase hem for one loop, and make a one-inch casing at the bottom for the other. Shoulder straps can be made from bias tape. Add a cone-shaped hat cut from cardboard.

Another easy-to-make costume is the sandwich board. It's made from two pillowcases. Cut two 20 by 30-inch rectangles from cardboard and insert in each pillowcase. Join them at the top with shoulder straps made from fabric scraps. Decorate the pillowcase boards with big clown faces cut from scraps or iron-on cotton tape.

Make the costumes from old pillowcases you have on hand; then replenish your supply with some of the new fashion-oriented cotton percales.

Christmas Bazaars Offer Variety of Holiday Gifts

Attention, Shoppers!..

With only 57 shopping days—plus Sundays—until Christmas, sponsors of holiday bazaars are hoping that area women will do their shopping early—at the bazaars.

Strictly fund-raisers. Members of the sponsoring groups of these have been meeting all during the summer and early fall, making and gathering gifts and holiday decorations to sell at the bazaars.

First of the area bazaars will be "Boutique Noel," sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Northwest Community Hospital. Gifts for all ages and occasions, from stocking stuffers to prestige gifts, will be for sale Friday, Oct. 21, in the foyer of the hospital from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Floral arrangements by "Ande" will be one of the highlights of "Boutique Noel" according to Mrs. James E. Mason, chairman. Mrs. Edna Campbell of Mount Prospect, who designs the flower arrangements, states that no two are alike and will complement any decor.

Added features of "Boutique Noel" will be the Auxiliary's cook book, Christmas cards, handcraft articles and a bake sale.

A BOOTH OF Santa's rejects (white elephants) will be included among the shopping opportunities Saturday, Nov. 12, at the annual St. Zachary Christmas bazaar to be held in the parish auditorium at 567 Algonquin, Des Plaines.

This parish serves Elk Grove Village, and the all-day affair will consist of 20 booths offering home-baked bread and pastries, games for youngsters, Christmas decorations and handmade clothing for infants and children in addition to the white elephants. General chairman is Mrs. Fred Hohmeier of the Elk Grove Village area, who announces that chicken dinners will be a highlight of the bazaar.

A "Five and Dime" booth especially for the children will be one of the features of the "Holiday Bazaar" planned by the Catholic Woman's Club of St. Joseph the Worker Church in Wheeling. The women have planned their bazaar for Friday, Nov. 11 and Sunday, Nov. 13, in the parish hall.

Mrs. John Cole, ways and means chairman, says that there will be something for everyone in the family. Sale items will include home decorations, aprons, needlework, Christmas cards, games, home-baked goods and refreshments.

ON FRIDAY, Nov. 11, from 1 to 4 p.m., the bazaar will be geared to the women shoppers, but that evening from 7 to 9 and Sunday from 6:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., the bazaar will feature fun and fare for Dad and the kiddies.

Proceeds from "Holiday Bazaar" will be used to help meet parish needs.

An old-fashioned "Country Fair Bazaar" will be coming to Holy Ghost Parish in Wood Dale from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 12, in the church recreation hall.

Sponsored by the Council of Catholic Women, this event will have all the nostalgia of a long ago country fair, but the booths will be selling only the newest and most up-to-date items. A country kitchen filled with "goodies" and a game room to keep youngsters occupied while Mom shops, will be featured.

BOUTIQUE BOOTHS with toys, games, stuffed animals, handicrafts, holiday decorations, jewelry, dolls and doll clothing, and religious articles will also be featured.

Co-chairmen are Mrs. Ralph Madonna and Mrs. John Knaff.

Also planning a Christmas bazaar, along with a luncheon, are members of the Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palatine. This affair is planned for Wednesday, Nov. 2, beginning at 11:30 a.m. with lunch served at noon.

The church is located at N. Plum Grove at Lincoln Streets, Palatine.

Hello Hostess

Six of the most chilling words a mother ever hears are: "I need a costume by tomorrow." So here's a checklist of 50 costume ideas: easy, inexpensive, and just in time for Halloween trick or treating—or any future costume crisis.

CHECK THEIR ROOMS FIRST. Depending on your children's ages and interests, you may find all you need to outfit a cowhand, soldier, Indian, football hero, nurse or ballerina.

And nightwear can inspire frightwear. A striped bathrobe? Add a towel turban for a wiseman, a burnoose for a shiek. A granny gown suggests a pioneer woman; kimona, a Geisha girl; romper pajamas, little girl with giant lollipop and bow. And a striped sleepshirt can become a Gay 90's bathing costume or prison suit, with cardboard ball and chain.

SLEEPERS TURN CREEPERS or toddlers into almost any animal, flower, fruit or storybook character when you provide a suitable mask (thrifty to buy or easy to make from paper bag or paper plate).

Consider a rose: pink sleepers and paper plate mask with pink paper petals. Or Winnie the Pooh: brown sleepers, jar of honey and bear mask made by gluing ears and drawing features on a paper bag. Or how about a little devil? Buy or make the mask and pitchfork, then sew a yarn tail to red sleepers.

For a mock turtle, paint that old snow saucer green with black and yellow markings. Slip it over green sleepers; make a hood of similar material. Paint your saucer black, substitute a wig for hood, and there's a Beatle—yeah, yeah, yeah!

AN OLD SHEET IS NEAT for ghost or angel. Or Father Time, with flowing beard and cardobard scythe. (Especially if a small friend will wear the diaper and chest ribbon of little Happy New Year.)

The versatile shirt off dad's back outfits a tramp with patched pants, old hat and bandanna on a stick; a scarecrow wearing a paperbag head topped with old hat and wisps of straw or a leftbank artist when you daub it with paint and add beret and cardboard palette.

For a headless horseman button the shirt or an old coat over the child's head. Make peek holes; then give him a jack-o-lantern or stuffed paper sack head to carry. Or tatter the shirt and fierce up you pirate with eyepatch, cutlass and hoop earrings.

TIGHTS ARE RIGHT for many a costume, worn with matching top. Older boys prefer slacks or jeans and sweatshirts. All you add is headgear and/or mask plus a few simple props for any number of interesting costumes.

A space helmet and ray gun make a spaceman; a gruesome mask and horror hand or stuffed glove, a monster. Try a fringed crepe-paper skirt and leis for a hula girl, red-hooded cape for Little Red Riding Hood or lace curtain veil and train plus bouquet for a bride.

Big paper bags, pillowslips or scrap fabric make a simple tunic-type top for further variations. Use a simple white toga and tassel belt for a Roman senator, a short shift plus yards of fringe and beads for a swinging flapper. Or make a leopard print top and give your caveman a baseball bat to slay the dinosaurs.

Boxes, too can be worn over basic tights and top. Paint, paper or foil "slipcovers" plus a little artwork transform them into almost anything. Try a cigarette package, soap box, ballot box, gift-wrapped present, TV set, dice, any book title, robot with spool controls or tin woodman, complete with painted funnel.

ROUND BOXES or a cylinder of tag board make an easy rocket, drum, clock, candle, stack of poker chips or decorated birthday cake (use flashlights for the candles).

A little imagination can save you lots of work. At a recent parade, for instance, one winner just pushed three youngsters in a buggy. His prize came from his title: The Bratmobile. And another imaginative winner marched in the conservative suit and tie he wears to Sunday School. Who was he? Why, Bruce Wayne, of course—Batman, incognito. (SSD

Serve This Salad with Many Meats

by LOIS SEILER

A delicious German Potato Salad that has a tangy sweet-sour flavor is a favorite of Mrs. Ralph E. Walberg of Mount Prospect.

"The potato salad is a nice accompaniment for many different meats," Barbara Walberg explained. She has served it with Polish sausage, ham, hamburgers and chicken, and always with success.

She uses 10 pounds of cooked, sliced potatoes in this salad, and mixes them with a cooked sauce consisting of bacon grease, flour, vinegar, sugar, onion and an egg. Crisply-fried bacon bits are added.

"This salad is best served at room temperature," Mrs. Walberg commented, "and will easily feed 10."

A dessert that is easy to prepare and never fails is Barbara Walberg's Spice Cookie Cake.

"I'M NOT SURE why this is called a 'cookie cake'," Mrs. Walberg said. "It may be because the texture is heavier than most cakes, or because the cake has the flavor of a spice cookie."

In addition to the usual ingredients, this cake batter contains a cup of cold coffee and is spiced with cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

Baked in a large oblong pan, the cake is frosted with a butter cream icing. Moist and flavorful, this cake will keep well for several days. It can be served for afternoon or evening refreshments or as a dinner dessert.

ANOTHER of this good cook's specialties is a cookie recipe which she received from her mother-in-law and has been making ever since she was married.

"In fact, I make these for any occasion I can because they are so good," Mrs. Walberg commented. The cookies contain only five ingredients: butter, sugar, flour, oatmeal and vanilla.

Formed into balls and flattened slightly, the cookies are baked until lightly-browned. They are crisp and buttery and of the "melt-in-your-mouth" variety that everyone enjoys.

THE COOKIES make a big hit with the Walbergs' three children; Brian, 9, a fourth grader; Nancy, 7, a second grader, and Susan, 5, a kindergartner.

The Walberg family lives at 320 N. Main in Mount Prospect. In addition to her culinary interests, Mrs. Walberg is active in several organizations. She is publicity chairman for the Women's Auxiliary at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, hospitality chairman for the PTA at Gregory School and substitute teaches at River Trails School.

NANCY, BRIAN and Susan Walberg watch with interest as their mother spoons a flavorful sweet-sour sauce over cooked sliced potatoes to make her delicious German Potato Salad. Mrs. Ralph E. Walberg of Mount Prospect likes to serve these tasty potatoes as an accompaniment for ham, chicken or Polish sausage.

New Casserole Idea: Easy-Do Chicken Dinner

"Chicken Complete" is a new idea in casseroles—it has separateness and togetherness! Chicken pieces, first crisply fried, bake atop a creamed vegetable duo to make a casserole with identity. Convenience foods—canned vegetables, evaporated milk, a bouillon cube—fashion with ease the flavorful base of this delicious chicken dinner.

CHICKEN COMPLETE

1 can (1 lb.) green beans
1 can (1 lb.) small whole potatoes
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
2½ to 3 lb. frying chicken, cut up
¼ cup salad oil
2 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, chopped
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup boiling water
1 tall can evaporated milk (1-2/3 cups)
Paprika

Drain beans and potatoes. Mix flour and salt. Roll chicken in flour mixture to coat well. Reserve remaining flour. Heat oil in a large skillet and fry chicken until tender and lightly browned. Remove from skillet; set aside.

Add butter to pan drippings. Add onion; cook and stir over low heat until tender. Remove skillet from heat; blend in reserved flour.

Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water. Blend into flour mixture in skillet; then stir in evaporated milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened.

Add drained vegetables. Turn into a lightly buttered 2-quart casserole. Arrange chicken on top. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover and bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 minutes, or until vegetables and chicken are hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (SH

Beans and Ribs: Oven Favorite

An oven favorite, completely different from grilled spareribs, includes dried lima beans and apple cider.

Prepare the beans first. Add 1 teaspoon salt to 1 cup dried lima beans. Cover with 3 cups water. Boil two minutes. Remove from heat and cover tightly. Let stand 1 hour.

Place in a greased baking dish with 2 large onions, sliced, with 1 cup apple cider or juice. Top with 3 pounds spareribs cut in serving-sized pieces and browned, if desired. Cook, covered, 1½ to 2 hours or until ribs are done. (SH

Ens. Dennis O'Reilley Takes Bride in Annapolis Ceremony

Newlyweds Kathleen Anne O'Boyle and Ensign Dennis Patrick O'Reilley emerged from the United States Naval Academy Chapel under crossed swords following their Sept. 10 wedding ceremony. The 11 a.m. rites took place in a formal military setting, with the groom and his attendants appearing in their service dress white uniforms.

Ensign O'Reilley is the son of the Dermott O'Reilleys of 693 N. Wayne Place, Wheeling, and his bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert O'Boyle of Silver Spring, Md.

COMMANDER Mark Sullivan, chaplain at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, united the couple in double ring rites, and then the bridal pair greeted 300 guests at a reception in the academy officers' mess.

The groom attended Prospect High School before going to the academy and since graduation is stationed at Pensacola, Fla.

FOR HER wedding the bride chose a white peau de soie and Alencon lace gown with a chapel train attached at the waist. The bodice of lace featured a scalloped neckline, short sleeves and an empire waistline. The skirt was bell-shaped.

Her headpiece was fashioned of petals of lace and held her short veil in place. She carried white daisy mums centered with a white double orchid.

Toni Clarke of Silver Spring was maid of honor, attired in an olive green organza dress with a lace bodice. She carried a basket of hot pink daisy mums with streamers to match her dress.

Four bridesmaids were also in the party, their hot pink organza dresses styled identically to the maid of honor's and their daisy mums in an olive green shade.

BRIDESMAIDS were Barbara O'Reilley, the groom's sister; Ellen O'Boyle, sister of the bride; Ann Dodds of Dallas and Anne Nicholoss of Cambridge, Md.

A flower girl, 5-year-old Victoria Sexton of Silver Spring, came down the aisle wearing a white peau de soie dress with a lace bodice and carrying a basket of mixed daisy mums to match the adult attendants' flowers.

ENSIGN Thomas Doyle of Newark, N.J., was best man, while five other ensigns and the bride's brother, Hugh O'Boyle, seated the guests. The five were John Beakes of Delta, Pa., Alan Roodhouse of Palo Alto, Calif., Duncan Ingraham of Poland, Ohio, Bruce Bickel of Fairmont, W. Va., and Roger Carter of Raleigh, N. C.

A light pink ribbon knit on organza dress was chosen by the bride's mother for the wedding festivities, and Mrs. O'Reilley wore a light green 3-piece ensemble. Both had white orchid corsages.

The newlyweds had a 3-week honeymoon in Williamsburg and New Orleans before going on to Pensacola to make their first home.

Monique Drake and Groom Honeymoon in Las Vegas

The good luck penny worn in her shoe on her wedding day just may have had something to do with breaking even in Las Vegas where newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. John Streitenberger Jr. spent their honeymoon. Mrs. Streitenberger is the former Monique Drake, daughter of the J. Maurice Drakes, 443 S. Elmhurst Ave., Mount Prospect, and the bridegroom is the son of former Palatine residents, the senior John Streitenbergers, now of Des Plaines.

For her wedding Sept. 10 in St. Raymond de Penaford Catholic Church, Mount Prospect, the bride carried her first holy communion prayer book for her "something old." For "something borrowed" she carried a handkerchief that had belonged to the great-grandmother of one of her bridesmaids, Mrs. George Cook.

HER GOWN was of white organza over ivory taffeta, fashioned in an A-line empire style with ivory re-embroidered Alencon lace trimming the bodice and the scalloped neckline. The scalloped train was frosted with appliques of the same lace and was attached at the waist. A mantilla of the same lace and a bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids on her prayer book completed her ensemble.

Miss Suzanne Drake served as her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids, in addition to Mrs. Cook, a Park Forest resident, were the groom's sister, Mrs. C. Thomas Clark of Oak Park and Mrs. Roger Glass of Golf Mill area. All wore identical floor-length gowns of green and candlelight crepe fashioned with empire bodices, scooped necklines, capped sleeves and slim skirts. They wore pillbox headpieces of matching green crepe and carried pompon chrysanthemums.

The groom's attendants were his brother-in-law, Thomas Clark as best man, and Roger Glass, George Cook and Carl Sommers of Palatine as ushers.

THE SERVICE took place in a setting of white chrysanthemums and was followed by a reception in Old Orchard Country Club. Mrs. Drake received the guests in a celery green ribbon knit dress with a brown orchid purse corsage and feather hat. The groom's mother chose a 2-piece jade crepe dress with lace bodice, matching pillbox and a white orchid purse corsage.

The bride met her bridegroom when the family moved to Mount Prospect a few years ago from Park Forest. She is now employed by Air-Canada, Chicago and the groom is employed by Middle States Telephone Co. in Des Plaines. The newlyweds are residing in a Mount Prospect apartment. (S

Hosek-DeWire Rites Follow Pair's College Graduation

Graduating from Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., in June was the first major event of the summer for Susan DeWire of Ithaca and James R. Hosek of Arlington Heights, but the following three months were filled with preparations for an even bigger event, the couple's wedding on Sept. 10 in Anabel Taylor Chapel on the Cornell campus.

The bride, daughter of the John W. DeWires of Ithaca, was an economics major and the groom an English major. He is the son of Mrs. Walter Hosek of 804 W. Elm St., Arlington Heights, and the late Mr. Hosek.

THE NEWLYWEDS are living on the south side of Chicago while the groom does graduate work in economics at the University of Chicago. He is a '62 graduate of Arlington High School.

William W. Rogers, Presbyterian Chaplain at Cornell University, officiated at the couple's double ring rites which took place at 3 o'clock.

THE BRIDE ENTERED the chapel in an empire gown of white pique appliqued with daisies of cotton Swiss lace. The simple sheath lines were accented with cap sleeves of the daisies and daisy inserts on the floor-length hem and on the corners of the square cut train. The lace daisies also enhanced the cap which held the bride's chapel-length veil of silk illusion.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white anemone mums.

THREE FRIENDS of the bride, Anne Hiscock, Elizabeth Watson and Carolyn Schwer, and the groom's sister, Linda Hosek, were bridal attendants, all gowned alike in canary yellow rayon and cotton gowns with floor-length bell skirts. They wore matching Dior bow headpieces and carried yellow and white anemone mums.

Miss Hiscock was maid of honor, while the others were bridesmaids.

They were escorted by Ronald Hosek, brother of the groom, who served as best man and the bride's brother, William DeWire, and Rodney Umlas and Patrick Gross as ushers.

Wheeling Juniors Seek Your Canceled Stamps

In 1929 a postmaster in rural Norway started collecting cancelled stamps to raise funds to fight against tuberculosis among children in Norway.

Since then this practice has spread to other countries and TUBFIRM, an organization that collects and processes stamps in the International Market was formed.

Anyone interested in helping those less fortunate than themselves can help Wheeling Junior Woman's Club in making this project successful by saving cancelled stamps.

ALL KINDS OF canceled stamps can be used but commemorative or oblong stamps are the most desirable. Four hundred U.S. commemorative stamps will buy 300 pounds of food for tubercular children or 7,500 cups of milk.

Wheeling Junior Woman's Club Stamp Chairman is Mrs. Edward Joas, 537-4032. (S

THIS DEN THAT COMBINES different styles of furniture is one of two room settings by The Designer's Shop of Arlington Heights that is on display at the Home Furnishings Fair in the National Design Center at Marina City. The other setting features a more formal dining room. These and 34 other room settings may be viewed by the public through Nov. 12. The Chicago Retail Furniture Association is holding the exhibit at Marina City.

Arlington Heights Shop Has Displays at Furnishings Fair

Two room settings by The Designer's Shop of Petersen Interiors in Arlington Heights are on display at the fourth Home Furnishings Fair at the National Design Center in Marina City.

They are part of the 36 room settings and vignettes being exhibited to the public through Nov. 12 by the Chicago Retail Furniture Association.

ONE OF THE settings is a contemporary den or lounge that mixes a little bit of everything. Purpose of the interior, created by Arthur E. Petersen Jr. of The Designer's Shop, is to demonstrate that different styles and origins can be tastefully combined to reflect the personality of the occupants.

Focal point of the room is the Mexican handmade and hand-carved 17th century-style Spanish secretary in pine, complete with pigeon holes. In contrast to this piece and to one another are a swivel lounge chair upholstered in suede and an open arm teak framed Swedish lounge chair in suede leather.

The room is done in shades of brown, ranging from a grayed tone to honey shades. The shaggy rug, a Greek import, is woven of Astrakahn sheep wool in natural. Other accents include wormy chestnut shelving, a plexiglas chess set and table and a basket of native Chicago area weeds.

THE SECOND setting, more formal in mood, is a dining room that again mixes elements, primarily Scandinavian and Oriental. The dining table and chairs are Swedish imports of polished rosewood. The table has a refectory extension on each end, two self-storing leaves and extends to 100 inches. Chair seats are covered in a rich otter brown cotton velvet.

Setting off the grouping is an Oriental rug in red tones. The setting also includes a three-drawer Danish rosewood chest, a handpainted wood plaque from Spain and a light fixture of aluminum strips that adds an op art accent. (SSD

Area Women, Busy With Fund-Raisers

In this season of fund-raising activity, busy women throughout the area suburbs are actively participating in a variety of benefits. Most of these women are working on area benefits, but a few are extending their efforts to help organizations outside the immediate confines.

General chairman of a fashion show and luncheon to be presented by Carthage College Women alumnae of the Chicago area is Mrs. Raymond Ennes, 805 S. School St., Mount Prospect. This show will be staged Saturday, Nov. 5, in Itasca Country Club and proceeds will help defray expenses of the Carthage College Choir's European tour.

Ticket chairman for this benefit luncheon-show is another Mount Prospect worker, Mrs. Donald Petelle, 805 S. Elm.

A PALATINE woman, Mrs. Herbert Grassly, is serving as a committee member of a benefit for St. Leonard's House in Chicago, which aids men just out of prison in making adjustments. The benefit will be a dual affair, a luncheon-fashion show and a dinner-fashion show on Wednesday, Nov. 9, in the Lake Shore Club, Chicago. Mrs. Grassly will also serve as a model for the fashions from Quintero of Oak Park.

The St. Leonard benefit will also feature boutique booths with original Christmas decorations and gift items and the St. Leonard Christmas cards.

Serving as a committee member for the Navy Day Ball sponsored by the Chicago Council of the Navy League, is Mrs. Warren B. Pursell, 120 We-Go Trail, Mount Prospect. The ball will be held Friday, Oct. 28, in the Ambassador West Hotel and will be preceded by a reception in the Sarah Siddons Walk and dinner in the Guild Hall. The affair will honor the Golden Jubilee Anniversary of the Naval Air Reserve Training.

Color Film, Decorating On Programs

Two programs are being offered next week by the Mount Prospect Woman's Club at the Mount Prospect Community Center.

Wednesday, Oct. 25, the Garden Department of the club will present the color film, "Wilderness Alps of Stehekin." This is a film about a remote area of Washington's Cascade Range comparable to the European Alps and an area many times proposed as a National Park but at present in danger of being exploited by man.

The film will be preceded by a dessert luncheon in the Chestnut Room at 1 p.m. Guests are invited.

THURSDAY, OCT. 26, the American Home Department will present Mrs. Hummel of the Hummel House in Evanston, who will present some of her original decorating ideas for the holidays. She will feature decorations for Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

A dessert luncheon will be held in the Chestnut Room at 12:45 to be followed by the program at 1:30 p.m. Members of the club and guests are invited, to this program for which an admission fee is being charged for guests only. (S

COWBOY HATS MADE BY Mrs. Donald Heine and Mrs. Raymond Becker were used as invitations for "Western Swingaround" to be held Friday, Oct. 28 at the VFW Hall in Arlington Heights. Open to members and their husbands, the party is sponsored by Arlington Heights Juniors Woman's Club. (S

B and BW Offers Seniors Inside Look at Business

An "inside look" at some of the commercial and industrial firms in this area will be given to high school senior girls selected to accept an invitation by the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club to spend a few hours with members on their jobs.

These visits will take place during National Business Women's Week, Oct. 17 through 22, and will be limited to firms located in northwest suburban communities accessible to the students.

Mrs. Alice Platt of the Mount Prospect B and PW Club is chairman of the project which is being undertaken with the cooperation of the Northwest Suburban Vocational Guidance Committee serving 18 area high schools. On-the-job exposure to various vocations is a part of the program being offered to students this year, according to Val Erickson, vocational guidance counselor at Wheeling High School and a member of the committee.

MRS. PLATT will furnish Mr. Erickson with the names of local financial institutions, publishing companies and other businesses willing to let one or more students come in for a tour of the company and a chance to observe a part of the day's routine. Although the choice of students who participate will rest with teachers and vocational guidance counselors of the schools, any senior girl who would like to visit a particular type of business or industry may take the initiative in inquiring about available trips.

Members of the Mount Prospect B and PW Club consider the proposed student visits an excellent means of observing National Business Women's week, Mrs. Platt points out. A certified professional secretary on the downtown staff of Stivers Office Service, she is being assisted in this B and PW Club activity by Miss Kathaleen Walters, assistant vice president, Mount Prospect State Bank, and Mrs. Agnes Burhans, personnel director, Dean Witter & Co. (S

Area Juniors to Participate In United Fund Night Oct. 24

Participating in U-Night Oct. 24 in Arlington Heights will be more than one-third of the members from Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club. Mrs. Lowell Oleson, who made arrangements for the club to participate in the United Fund canvassing, has stated that still other club members will be working for other groups on that evening.

U-Night is only one of the service projects carried out by club committees.

American Home and Garden Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Byrne, is planning to make dolls for the Northwest Community Hospital children's section.

MRS. ALBERT KATZ, Social Service Committee chairman has begun working with volunteers who type lessons and tape books for children in the partially sighted classes in Arlington Heights.

Youth Committee Chairman Mrs. Robert Nilson and her committee members are reading to pre-schoolers at the public library each Wednesday morning at 10. This committee has also begun planning the third annual Youth Week which is sponsored by the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club in cooperation with local merchants.

Mrs. John Whitehead, who chairs the Senior Citizens committee, has planned a Halloween party for Thursday, Oct. 27, when members of this committee serve the Over 50 Club at its monthly meeting. Future plans include trips and a spring luncheon for the Senior Citizens.

EXPLAINING THE UNITED Fund Campaign to Mrs. Frank Regula and daughter, Amy, is Mrs. Sam Polanzi, a neighbor and fellow member of Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club. Both women in addition to 25 other members of the club, will be collecting in one section of the village on Monday evening, Oct. 24.

"A GREAT DEAL of interest has been expressed among our club members in a baby sitting clinic," said Mrs. John Floria, chairman of this new committee. "Many plans are now being formulated for a thorough training program for young people who are in 7th grade or higher."

The committee will present a series of lectures by a local doctor, a member of the fire and police departments, a teacher, a telephone representative and a nurse.

On their own social calendars, members of the club have circled the evening of Friday, Oct. 28 for "Western Swingaround." Open to members of the club and their husbands, the party will be held at the Arlington Heights VFW Hall.

Lay Out Picture Arrangement First

The decorating emphasis of a picture grouping can highlight an individual piece of furniture or accent an entire room.

Framed reproductions of favorite paintings, original art, framed photographs, even framed needlework samples or hobby collections can be combined for an attractive grouping. Any wall space, suitable in size for the pictures, may be used for a grouping.

The key to arranging a picture grouping is a "key" picture—the largest or most colorful one in the grouping.

TO ASSURE A pleasing wall arrangement, the Picture and Frame Institute recommends grouping the pictures on the floor before hanging them. These are the steps suggested by the Institute for planning a wall grouping:

Place the key picture on the floor first.

Arrange and rearrange the other pictures around it until deciding on a grouping which is pleasing to the eye and suitable to the wall space. The key picture need not be in the center of the arrangement, but should be the focal point of the grouping.

Cut a piece of paper large enough to cover the grouping.

Draw around the pictures and remove them. Mark the paper where hooks should go.

Tape paper to the wall lightly and drive hooks through the paper at marked spots. Remove the paper and hang the pictures. (S

Mrs. F. A. Weber, art department chairman, said, "The Arlington Heights Woman's Club looks forward to the opportunity of awarding to the winning boy or girl a scholarship of one week of intensive training from University of Illinois professors at the Allerton Art School with the co-sponsorship of the University of Illinois." ## These Signs Warn Eyes Need Testing

Can you tell if you need an eye examination?

You bet you can, according to the Guild of Prescription Opticians of America, Inc., which says that any one of 11 danger signals can warn you that a complete eye examination is needed.

HERE ARE the signals:

1. Continuing pain or discomfort.
2. Loss of side vision.
3. Persistent redness of the eye.
4. Rainbow halos around lights or foggy vision.
5. Sudden appearance of floating spots.
6. Growths on eyelids or eye.
7. Persistent discharge or crusting.
8. Crossing of eyes, especially in children.
9. Nearsightedness or farsightedness.
10. Distorted shape or pupils of unequal isze.
11. Constant double vision.

THE GUILD cautioned that if in doubt, visit your eye physician anyway because statistics prove that the blind population in America is increasing at a faster pace than the general population.

A survey in October 1965, by the American Institute of Public Opinion showed that next to cancer, Americans fear blindness more than any other disease. (S

'World's Best' in Fashions, Gathered for Saturday Show

"When I visit Polli Carpenter's, I often wonder which is more exciting, the magnificent view from her Marina City Studio or her beautiful collection of clothes," commented Mrs. Arnold Shaw, ways and means chairman of Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club.

"Polli's really can't be called a studio or a shop. Boutique, perhaps, is a better word," added Mrs. Shaw who explained that Polli has gathered the best in fashions from all over the world to present Saturday, Oct. 22, when Elk Grove Juniors stages its ninth annual fashion show and luncheon, "Get Smart."

THIS EVENT will be held at Ray Foley's Hyatt House in Lincolnwood beginning with a social hour at noon with luncheon following at 1 p.m. Commentator will be Miss Rita O'Grady, and furs and fashions will be coordinated by Vic Caron.

IS STARTING SALARY YOUR ONLY GOAL?

If so, you need not pursue this ad any further. The sort of man we are presently seeking is, to be sure, concerned about his compensation — but not to the exclusion of other meaningful considerations. The opportunity for growth and promotion, the challenge of being part of a dynamic and progressive organization, the security and stability that a successful corporate undertaking can provide, the stimulation of day to day contact with competent professionals . . . all of these factors are also important to the type of man we currently need.

Make no mistake about it, however — we have a competitive compensation program which both recognizes and rewards proven performance. In addition, we have a coordinated employee benefit program which has established itself as truly responsive to the needs of our people. If you are a recently degreed accountant searching for a sound company with a potential - filled future, we invite you to contact Mr. LeRoy Krizka, 296-6611.

Don't Forget The Plumbing

Fall is traditionally the time to make needed home repairs. When you're taking stock of your doors, windows, wall plaster and so on, don't forget the plumbing. Here are some things to consider:

Do you have any leaky faucets? Are some of your drains sluggish? Is your water closet noisy? Does the water in your shower suddenly turn from scalding to icy cold? Do you often run out of hot water? Is there a hammering or whistling sound when you turn on a faucet? Is your kitchen sink too small and hard to keep clean? Is your basement flooded every time there's a heavy rainfall?

If you have any of these problems, there's no better time to correct them than right now. A leaky faucet, for example, is easily repaired. Better still, it may pay you to replace it with a single-handle model that responds to the slightest touch.

MODERN showerheads come with varied settings that control water flow, and there are controls that assure even temperatures. Noises in the plumbing usually can be corrected. The modern siphon jet water closet is quiet and easy to keep clean. If you often run out of hot water, you probably need a larger water heater of the fast recovery type. A sump pump in your basement will prevent future flooding.

Any or all of these renovations to your plumbing will add to your family's enjoyment of your home this winter and save you money too.

Once you've gotten your plumbing into tiptop shape, it's important to keep it that way. A booklet that tells you how to practice preventive maintenance, how to make repairs yourself and what jobs should be left strictly to experienced plumbing contractors is available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60601. (O

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

by MARY B. GOOD

There are almost as many fad fertilizers that have their moment of glory and then sink slowly into oblivion as there are fad diets. Let's spend this week discussing fertilizers.

October 20

The latest thing in fertilizers is banana peels. What are the merits? There's been some talk that the slippery skin of the banana is high in potash among other things and of benefit to roses.

October 21

Just as in the use of banana peels, raw fish encourages foraging by animals and insects, to my way of thinking it has to be decompose before it can be of use.

October 22

The controversy never ceases concerning the benefits of commercial bonemeal. One school of thought says the use of bonemeal is an outmoded 18th Century gardening practice of little value as a fertilizer. The group with 100 per cent more bonemeal in their garages say bonemeal is very beneficial. As for me, I prefer super phosphate.

October 23

If you would save yourself some time next spring, fertilize and turn over the soil in your vegetable patch now. But don't break up the clods, as winter action will do this for you.

October 24

The Garden Forum of the Arlington Heights Garden Club has the answers to your fertilizing problems as well as your other gardening inquiries. Tonight (Monday) Pioneer Park 8 p.m.

October 25

We had real good luck this year using fish emulsion as a side dressing on vegetables, preferring the organic fertilizer on food crops.

October 26

Note to new gardeners: Never use fresh cow manure prior to planting. When cow manure is recommended, we refer to dehydrated cow manure, a commercial product sold in 5 and 10-pound packages for home use.

Avoiding Traffic Jams in Bathroom

Now that the children are back at school and, therefore, getting up at a regular time each morning, chances are that they're competing with dad and other grownups for the bathroom.

If you have daily traffic jams at your house, one or more of these suggestions may help you. They come from the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Compartmentize the bathroom if it's big enough, putting the water closet on one side, the tub and lavatory on the other.

Replace the lavatory with a twin-bowl countertop type. This will enable two people to groom side by side.

HAVE A vanity lavatory installed in one or more of the bedrooms. They're definitely the "coming thing" and are being found in more and more new homes. What's more, they come in all the popular decor styles, so that they fit right in with the rest of the bedroom furniture.

Have a shower stall installed in the basement. This is usually a relatively simple matter since access to pipe is readily available in a convenient spot.

Add a bathroom or shower in an old closet, pantry, stair well or other "waste" spot in the home.

Add a powder room off the family or living room, or a mudroom off the kitchen. The former will be a major convenience when you entertain. The mudroom will divert traffic—and dirt—from the rest of the house.

If you're adding a bathroom or powder room this year, you'll be interested in a booklet containing 34 bathroom designs, ranging from the compact to the elaborate. It's available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60601. (O

STOP RUSTY WATER

SAVE 25¢ ON MORTON PELLENS

If you own a water softener, and still find ugly red rust stains on your bathtub, sinks and other fixtures, you've got rusty water. Now, stop rusty water with Morton Salt Pellens.

Here's how: Morton Pellens are a totally new pellet type water softener salt for recharging water softeners where iron oxide or rust is in the water. Pellens contain an iron fluidizing agent. It dissolves the iron or rust accumulation and washes it down the drain when the water softener is recharged. Pellens are used like regular water softener salt.
